PRAISES PANAMA; TELLS OF CANAL.

Engineer John F. Wallace Returns to Chicago After Summer Spent on the Isthmus.

FINDS THE CLIMATE GOOD.

Says Surveys Will Take Till 1906 and Whole Work Will Cost $200,000,000.

John F. Wallace, chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission, returned to Chicago yesterday after spending the summer inspecting the work done and to be done before the two oceans are linked.

He says that at present there are 1,500 men in the field at Panama. Of this number 500 are in the sanitary department under Col. Gorgas, who is assisted by Maj. Ross, Col. Le Garde, and Maj. Carter, the last named being chief quarantine officer. There are six divisions of engineer corps at work, each corps in charge of a resident engineer, who reports to Mr. Wallace.

The engineering and clerical departments are almost entirely Americanized and nearly every arriving steamer brings fresh additions from the United States. The majority of the common laborers, as well as a few of the skilled men, are English speaking negroes from Jamaica.

Climate Fairly Healthful.

Mr. Wallace declares that the bad sanitary reputation Panama has had in the popular mind is due to the fact that until lately the heterogeneous population has paid little attention to the ordinary laws of health. Under such conditions it was but natural that those who drank hard, were not careful as to food, did not sterilize the water they drank, and otherwise disregarded hygienic precautions should find the isthmus not a healthful country.

He says that most of the men who now hold responsible positions in connection with the canal work are sober, industrious, and ambitious, and that many of them are college graduates. They find conditions in Panama excellent and cases of sickness among them are comparatively few.

Mean Temperature 84.

The mean temperature this summer was 84 degrees, and Mr. Wallace does not remember that he ever passed a summer in the United States when the weather was pleasanter than it was this summer in Panama.

The sanitary corps has paid special attention to stamping out malaria and yellow fever. Of all the men at work on the canal this summer Mr. Wallace says that only two died of yellow fever and only one of those two, a man 60 years of age, was an employé of the government.

It has been learned that one kind of mosquito, which bites only at night, carries the malarial fever infection, and that another kind, which bites only in the daytime, carries yellow fever infection. These mosquitoes deposit their eggs in stagnant pools. By the thorough system of drainage now being put into effect these places are being gradually cleared away.

Some French Work to Be Utilized.

Mr. Wallace says that of the work done by the French company in building the canal before the United States bought it perhaps 10—maybe 15—per cent can be used. It all depends on the plan finally decided on for the completion of the canal. Whether the canal is to be at sea level or thirty, sixty, or ninety feet above sea level will not be determined until the surveys of the engineers now in the field have been completed. The work of experiment done by the French company, Mr. Wallace says, will be of great value to the United States, as it will make unnecessary much preliminary work that would have been unavoidable otherwie.

Some of the machinery turned over to the United States by the French company is still useful, but much new machinery must be bought, as a great deal of that in use by the Frenchmen is now either worn out or antiquated as compared with modern methods.

Survey Will Take Till 1906.

The preliminary work of thoroughly surveying the canal route with a view of determining at what level the canal is to be cut and the exact line it is to follow will consume, Mr. Wallace says, the remainder of the year 1904 and all of 1905. By spring of 1906, he says, he expects to have the campaign entirely mapped out and the actual work of digging in systematic progress. Then it will take eight years to complete the work.

The line already marked out by the French company will be followed pretty closely, Mr. Wallace believes, except that wherever possible curves will be straightened. The line of the canal will be for about twenty-five miles along the Chagres river, then along one of the branches of the Chagres, passing through the cut among the hills known as the Culebra cut, ten miles from Panama, and thence on by the Rio Grande river to Panama bay.

Will Cost $200,000,000.

Mr. Wallace estimates that the completion of the canal will cost $150,000,000. This sum, added to the $40,000,000 paid to the French company for the canal property and the $10,000,000 paid to the Panama government for the grant of land, will make the total cost $200,000,000.

The people are friendly toward the United States, though some of the thrifty shopkeepers seem put out at finding that the Americans are not as free spenders as the French. The English language is rapidly becoming the predominant tongue in the canal zone, though German, French, and, of course, Spanish are to be heard also.

Denies Report of Friction.

Mr. Wallace took occasion also to deny the report of friction between himself and Gen. Davis, governor of the canal zone. Gen. Davis, he said, had done remarkable work.

Gen. Davis has a regularly appointed cabinet, consisting of secretary of state, attorney general, postmaster general, and other officials, including the head of an efficient police department.

During his stay in Panama Mr. Wallace completely covered the canal strip, ten miles wide and about forty-seven miles long, at least twenty times.

After a two weeks' rest at his home in Bloomore Mr. Wallace will go to Washington, where on Oct. 6 the bids will be opened for machinery and material to be used on canal construction. These bids were advertised for.

Mr. Wallace will deliver an address entitled "The Isthmian Canal" at a dinner to be given by the Illinois Manufacturers' association next Friday evening at the Auditorium.

ALTON B. PARKER TO GO ON STUMP.

Advisers of Democratic Candidate Say They Have Pursuaded Him to Make Speaking Tour.

MAY TALK IN CHICAGO.

Decision Said to Have Been Arrived at When He Was Induced to Put Ginger Into Campaign.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Urged to the course by his friends, who told him it held out the one remaining hope for his election, Alton B. Parker agreed to throw to the winds the judicial "dignity" and "reserve" that he had chosen as shibboleths of his campaign, and will take the stump like any ordinary politician.

He will make speeches in at least a dozen of the principal cities east of the Mississippi river, including Chicago. He will begin with one in New York, where the democratic leaders plan to hold a big demonstration in Madison Square garden.

Cities He May Speak In.

The cities in which it is now planned to have Mr. Parker speak are:

NEW YORK,	MILWAUKEE,
CHICAGO,	MINNEAPOLIS,
BOSTON,	ST. LOUIS,
BALTIMORE,	DENVER,
LOUISVILLE,	KANSAS CITY,
INDIANAPOLIS,	PARKERSBURG.

Finds Something Must Be Done.

The candidate's decision to go on a campaign tour was arrived at today after a conference of party leaders which, beginning early in the morning, lasted the entire day. Mr. Parker found the leaders in a panic, and as their fears were only an echo of his own he was disposed to listen to them when they said it was absolutely necessary that he should do something to put a "little ginger" into the campaign.

As things were, they told him, the situation grew worse daily, and unless a change for the better was effected soon the national committeemen might as well shut up shop and return to their homes.

Gorman Helps Persuade Him.

Talk of this kind was general with all the leaders who called at the Hoffman house to see the presidential candidate. Senator Gorman, on whose judgment Mr. Parker places the greatest reliance, took an extremely gloomy view of the party's prospects. Gorman is in communication with his confidential agents in the pivotal states, and the news they send to him is that there is no life in the democratic campaign.

Col. James M. Guffey of Pittsburg is one of those who saw Mr. Parker. He has been around the country a good deal recently, and his personal observations corroborated the information imparted by Senator Gorman.

Daniel J. Campau of Michigan added his contribution to the chorus of despair that assailed the ears of the candidate all day.

Nothing for It but Talk.

When Mr. Parker turned to men nearer home for encouragement they shook their heads sadly and told him they would not be true friends if they concealed the fact that the situation hardly could be painted in colors blacker than the original.

Neither Daniel Lamont nor Senator McCarren nor August Belmont saw a single rainbow in the democratic sky. Those leaders backed up what William F. Sheehan had been saying to Mr. Parker for days—namely: he must show himself to the people by injecting a personal element into the campaign and try to take it out of the slough of despond into which it fell after the first brief spurt of enthusiasm that followed his nomination.

Yields to His Advisers.

This is not the first time Mr. Parker had been counseled to take the stump, but the advice was given with such great insistence today that he felt he could not ignore it.

"Let us have a little ginger in the campaign," is the burden of the cry that went up from the conferences at the Hoffman house.

Mr. Parker is still in town conferring busily as a beaver. He was absent from the Hoffman house only twice today. Mr. Parker was invisible to all except those whose presence he desired. He will remain in town until some time after noon tomorrow.

Hogg a Texas Visitor.

Ex-Gov. Hogg of Texas called on Mr. Parker. Hogg, who has been one of the fiercest Bryanites, has had little use for Parker hitherto, and the Parker men were saying tonight it was a diplomatic triumph to get the Texan up to the second floor of the Hoffman house. He was accompanied by two other bold Bryan men, Senator Charles A. Culberson of Texas and James K. Jones of Arkansas.

Herman Ridder and his German cohorts swept down on Parker this evning. Now that the plans are laid Ridder expects the campaign in the so-called doubtful states will go forward with such force that the German vote will be gathered in.

Among the callers today were Arthur P. Gorman of Maryland, Col. Daniel S. Lamont of Mill Brook, N. Y.; Col. James M. Guffey of Pennsylvania, former Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, Daniel J. Campau of Michigan, and Thomas F. Ryan of Virginia.

The report that it is planned to invite former President Grover Cleveland to take part in the campaign could not be confirmed.

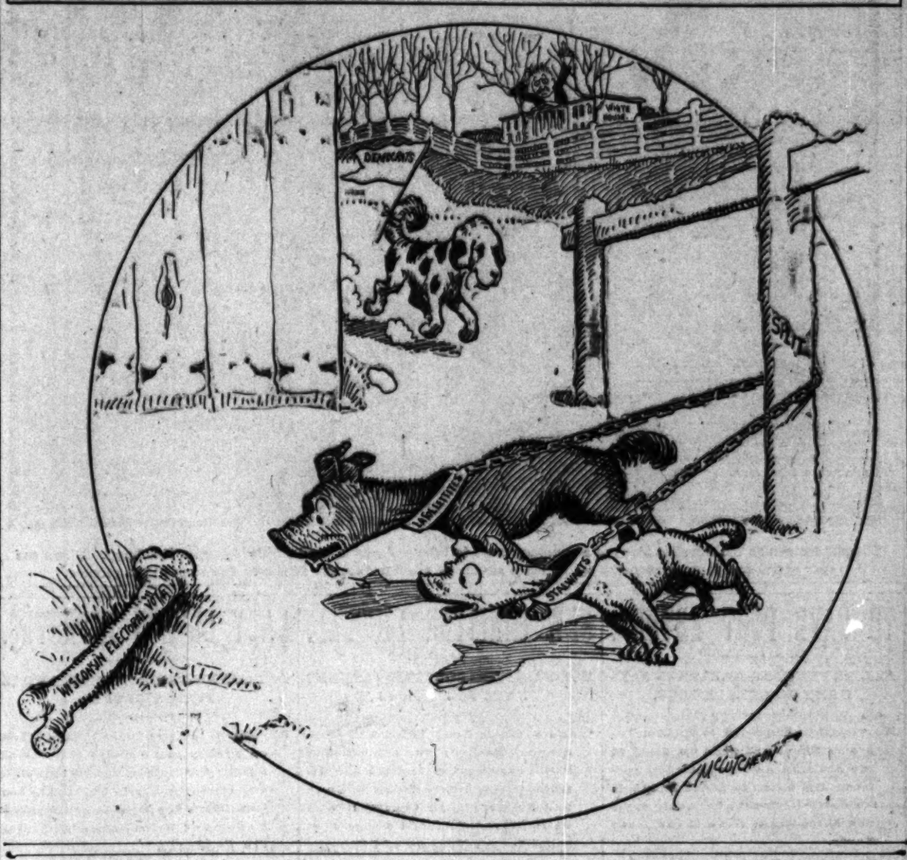

Gov. Odell Baits Democrats.

Following the meeting of the republican executive committee at the Fifth Avenue hotel this afternoon, at which plans were perfected for the most energetic campaign in a generation, Gov. Odell, chairman of the state committee, once more drove a gaff into the democratic platform and gave it a vicious twist.

"The democratic state platform has made charges of corruption and gross extravagance against the state department under the republican administration during the last two years," said the governor. "I wish to call to mind the fact that the attorney general of the state during that entire period was a democrat, Cuneen, who has been renominated for that office by the democrats, and who stands upon the platform to which I refer.

"If he has ever known of such corruption why is it he has never said anything about it or taken steps against those who are guilty? If he knows of any such conditions he ought to disclose them at once. He ought to tell what he knows. He has been a member during two years of many boards that have been assailed by democrats. He never made any such allegations in that time."

THE WISCONSIN SITUATION.

HAS GHOSTS TO SELL.

Dr. I. K. Funk Discovers a Materialization Factory.

CHICAGOAN MAKES SPIRITS.

Various Desirable Manifestations Listed Like Merchandise.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—In an article appearing in the October number of the Homiletic Review, entitled "The Fraudulent Side of Spiritualism," Dr. Isaac K. Funk gives the details of an investigation made by his brother into the business of a man in Chicago, who at prices ranging from $50 to $1,000, supplies so-called "mediums" with all the necessary paraphernalia for bringing about "spirit materializations."

Dr. Funk for some time has been a student of spiritualism, and it was he who investigated and told about finding the lost "widow's mite" and the "materialization" of Henry Ward Beecher.

A short time ago a business card reading, "Radium mediums' paraphernalia," fell into the doctor's hands. The card stated that "crowns, belts, hands, heads, veils, and full sized figures, all illuminated with the new radium light, would appear gradually, float about a room, and disappear."

Dr. Funk sent the card to his brother and asked him to investigate.

Spirits Supplied for Cash.

In the article the report of B. F. Funk is given in his own words:

"The card was received as an open sesame. I found the proprietor a youngish, gentlemanly sort of fellow, apparently refined and educated. In reply to my question whether he sold outfits for mediums he said: 'Everything, to those well known. Sometimes I sell things that interest mediums—and other people.' After a moment's silence he continued: 'What do you wish? What are you after?'"

Mr. Funk then said he was acting for a friend in the east who wanted to take up the medium business as a means of support. "I wish her to do no wrong," he concluded.

The young man replied: "Certainly not; certainly not. I understand. I have many such among my clientele. It is my business to help mediums make a good show. They do not do wrong—on the contrary, they are doing a great deal of good in getting people to believe that their friends who have died really are alive.

"I have seen mothers made happy at the sight of their dead children, husbands at the sight of their departed wives. It often has brought tears to my eyes to see the simple faith of these people.

Does Good by Fooling Credulous.

"If a man is a philanthropist who can multiply blades of grass, surely I or a medium should be entitled to praise if we cause rejoicing where there were tears. Why, my dear fellow, spiritualists are the happiest people in the world. Why undeceive them when they are in heaven?"

The interviewer, according to his report, kept on insisting that his friend did not want to do anything wrong. He then said she wished to materialize human forms, hands, sparks of stars, rays of light, musical instruments, do trumpet talks, slate writing, etc. The report continues:

"He smiled at the modesty of my wish and then said: 'All this is merest child's play, provided your lady friend is apt, quick witted, and has nerve. I am furnishing help after this sort to mediums of Chicago—they all come to me. I have known them all.'

"Is there no difficulty in manipulating this machinery or paraphernalia?"

So Simple It Is Amazing.

"'It is so simple you will wonder why people do not at once detect it. When you understand it you will be much amused.'

"'How about slate writing?'

"'Perfectly simple.'

"'With tied slates, glued and sealed?'

"'Yes, O, yes. I have laughed until my sides ached after a seance at the remembrance of how easily and completely the dead ones were fooled. To see a doting father take the materialized form of his dead child on his knees and pet it and kiss it and then hear the little one say, "Now, papa, I must go; I feel I am getting weak," and then to see the child slip from his lap and disappear to the infinite surprise of all the faithful—it is more laughable than Artemas Ward's wax figure show.'

"But is there no danger of getting caught?'

"'No; there are 200 mediums in Chicago and how seldom you hear of exposure.'"

PAYS $1,782 FOR RIDE.

F. M. Pease Makes a Record Trip from Philadelphia.

ON A BIG BUSINESS DEAL.

Prompt Arrival Results in Closing $250,000 Transaction.

By a record breaking run from Philadelphia to Chicago, F. M. Pease, who "deals in cars and locomotives," yesterday saved a business transaction said to involve $250,000. What it was no one knows except the man and his attorney and the three other Chicago persons principally interested in it—John W. Gates, Charles W. Gates, and John M. Drake.

The Pensylvania railroad special, which carried Pease, his wife, and little daughter, also brought the quarter of a million dollars in cash needed to complete the transaction.

The train covered the 822 miles between the two cities in sixteen hours and fifty-seven minutes. The best previous record was eighteen hours and thirty minutes, made by the same railroad a year ago. The trip cost Pease $1,782.

Prompt Arrival Is "Imperative."

Pease had missed the Chicago limited on Thursday, and it was "imperative" that he should reach Chicago before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He started from Philadelphia at 4:08 in the afternoon and reached here at 9:05 yesterday morning. That gave him four hours to spare. The first thing he did was to give the railroad company a check for $1,782.

"I consider it a cheap trip," was his comment.

A cab took Mr. Pease to his office in the Railroad Exchange building. Then he called up Attorney Moritz Rosenthal by telephone.

Keeps Transaction a Secret.

Neither Pease nor Rosenthal would give the details of the deal which brought the former to Chicago in such haste, and no information was forthcoming from the Gateses or John A. Drake. It is understood that it had something to do with the organization of a corporation. The Pressed Steel Car company, with a capital of $25,000,000, was mentioned in connection with the record breaking trip. Mr. Pease and Mr. Rosenthal were busy with the transaction—whatever it was—all day.

Pease said that he and his family enjoyed the trip. There was no discomfort aside from a nervous desire at times to try to count telegraph poles and the clicks marking rail joints.

"I tried several times to time the train," said Pease, "but gave it up. The crew said we made more than a mile a minute at numerous points along the line."

Has Precedence on the Tracks.

The special train, which was made up in Philadelphia thirty-eight minutes after Mr. Pease gave the order, consisted of a sleeper, buffet car, and locomotive. Instructions were given to every division superintendent thirty minutes in advance to have the tracks cleared for the special, which had precedence over everything else on wheels. At each of the six division points engines and crews were changed.

THROWS CHILD FROM WINDOW.

Mother Becomes Frightened When Fire Starts, and Result Is Her Boy Is Injured.

Herbert McCune, 3 years old, 3154 Armour avenue, was slightly injured late last evening by being thrown from a window by his mother when a fire started in their dwelling. The child fell ten feet.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Blanch McCune, became frightened and threw the child out as soon as the alarm of fire was given.

The flames soon were extinguished by neighbors and the damage was slight.

MARRY FOR 10 YEARS.

English Novelist Proposes Novel Remedy for Domestic Infelicity.

FAVORS A BRIEF CONTRACT.

Declares Fund Should Be Provided for Care of the Children.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 24, 5 a. m.—Marriages for five years, or for ten years only, instead of "till death do you part," are suggested by George Meredith, the well known novelist, as a remedy for the failures of marriage under the present system.

"There will be a devil of an uproar before such a change can be made," admits Mr. Meredith. "It will be a great shock; but look back and see what shocks there have been and what changes have nevertheless occurred in the marriage business in the past."

State to Care for Children.

Meredith's suggestion is printed in the Daily Mail this morning. He asserts that some day the present conditions of marriage will be changed and that marriage will be allowed for a certain period, perhaps ten years. The state will see that sufficient money is saved in that period to provide for and educate the children. Perhaps the state will take charge of such a fund.

"The difficulty," says Meredith, "is to make the English people face such a problem. They want to live under discipline more than any nation in the world. They do not look ahead, especially the governing people.

English Too Conservative.

"You must have philosophy, though it is more than can be hoped for to get the English people to admit the bare name of philosophy into the discussion of such a question. Again and again English conservatism is notably revealed in criticism of America. The English people persist in regarding any new truth as a sign of disease, yet it is a sign of health. A discussion of marriage like the present one does nothing but good. The subject is kept too much in the darkness."

FIND FAMILY ON PRAIRIE WITHOUT FOOD OR SHELTER.

Father, Mother, and Two Children Are Discovered by the Police to Be Destitute and Suffering.

With no shelter and scarcely any food a family of four yesterday was found by the police to have been living during four weeks on an open prairie near Thirty-ninth street and Kedzie avenue. Father, mother, and two children were discovered huddled together in a ditch. They were taken to the Brighton Park police station.

Lieut. Gorman questioned the family, but could not learn the motive for living in the deserted spot. None could speak English, except a little girl. She said that her father's name is James Char. She told the police they were Italians and formerly resided at 204 Polk street.

The father, according to the girl's story, never has done any work, the family being supported by the mother, who was employed in a rag shop.

Char and his wife were taken to the Thirty-fifth street station, and the children are being cared for at the Harrison street station annex.

NAPLES, Sept. 23.—Mount Vesuvius again is in active eruption, the greatest that has occurred for ten years. The western crater collapsed today with a tremendous explosion. The principal cone is filled with huge fissures and it is thought its rupture will follow. Red hot rocks are being thrown to a height of a thousand feet. Torrents of lava threaten to destroy the funicular railway which runs up the mountain. Thousands of persons are watching the spectacle, which is one of unsurpassed magnificence.

TOKIO, Sept. 24, 10 a. m.—A dispatch from Hakodate reports that yesterday the British steamer Crusader, a vessel of 4,029 tons, bound from Portland, Ore., for Vladivostok, attempted to pass through Tsugaru strait. It was captured by a Japanese torpedo boat and taken to Hakodate.

BULLETIN.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—Two destroyers returned to Vladivostok today, having captured a Japanese transport and a sailing ship. The locality of the captures is unknown. The cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi, three torpedo boats, and three destroyers have sailed for Gensan, on the eastern coast of Corea.

BATTLE AT PORT ARTHUR.

PARIS, Sept. 24, 6 a. m.—The Matin's St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs as follows:

"Telegrams, of which the general staff has as yet no knowledge, reached the emperor at 4 o'clock this morning. I can affirm that they concern Port Arthur, regarding which place the greatest anxiety prevails at court.

Attack on Three Sides.

"The Japanese are now engaged in a general assault, which is more furious than its predecessors, attacking the town on three sides simultaneously and employing their whole forces, being determined to finish the business.

"Russian mines blew up whole battalions.

"Gen. Fock especially distinguished himself, directing the fire from the wall, which the Japanese reached after indescribable massacre.

Under Storm Shells.

"The whole of Admiral Togo's and Vice Admiral Kamimura's squadrons are aiding the struggle, which, it is feared here, will be final. The besieged forces are fighting as in a furnace. A perfect storm of shell is falling on the town, port, and fortress from the whole hill and roadstead.

"Gen. Stoessel is going from fort to fort encouraging the defenders in their desperate efforts.

May Mean Fortress' Fall.

"In St. Petersburg the facts concerning the tragic event, which perhaps will terminate by a glorious fall of Port Arthur, are wholly unknown. At court hope has not yet been entirely abandoned."

PEACE TALK INCREASING.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Col. Gaedke, the military editor of the Tageblatt, who is with the Russian army in Manchuria, says he meets with many who wish the war ended at any price. Even in the highest circles this view prevails. He adds it is not impossible that this feeling will result in a sudden and surprising cessation of hostilities.

FLEET ON NEW RAID.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 24, 3 a. m.—The Vladivostok fleet has started upon another raid along the east coast of Corea. Already a Japanese transport has been captured.

These few details are contained in a St. Petersburg dispatch. It is not stated where the transport was captured or whether the Japanese on board were made prisoners or whether any of them were killed.

All dispatches from St. Petersburg point to a speedy abandonment of Mukden by the Russian troops. It is officially announced that Kuroki's army is moving toward Fu pass, only a short distance east of Mukden and north of the Hun river.

If the Japanese capture Fu pass it is admitted at St. Petersburg that Kouropatkin's position at Mukden would be untenable.

The Russians are not expected to make a strong resistance at Mukden. In fact, there are reasons for believing that the bulk of Kouropatkin's army and all of his reserve artillery and supplies are already at Tieling, far to the north of Mukden.

The Tokio correspondent of the Daily Express says the Japanese have abandoned their attemp to tunnel under Port Arthur, owing to the difficulties encountered in the work. They have found they would have to drill through solid rock. An opportunity has occurred to dispose of the corpses outside the fortress. Wholesale cremation is necessary to prevent a pestilence. Bodies are piled in great heaps, oil poured over them, and then they are set on fire. The stench from the decomposing bodies is so great that it affected Dalny.

RUSSIANS REPULSE ATTACK.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—An official dispatch from Harbin states that on Wednesday two Japanese divisions with a strong force of artillery attacked the Russian left flank on the banks of the Hun river. Gen. Bildering repulsed the attack after three hours' fighting. The enemy's loss was over 700. The Russians lost 86 killed and 270 wounded. The Russian forces maintained their advanced positions on the chain of hills before the Hun river ten miles southeast of Mukden.

JAPS RESUME OFFENSIVE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—Gen. Kouropatkin telegraphs that the Japanese have assumed the offensive from Bentsiaputze, on Fu pass, which is on the road between Mukden and Fushun, about twelve miles from Mukden.

A brief telegram from Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff announces the advance of the Japanese from Bentsiaputze on the village near Fu pass, east of Mukden.

No mention is made of resistance to the advance, but it is not believed this indicates that the Russians do not intend to further oppose the march of the Japanese on Mukden.

It probably signifies that the Japanese force is using the small road to Fu pass, between the highways leading to Mukden and Fushun, with the intention of isolating the Russian columns guarding Fushun.

The Japanese are still trying to turn Gen. Kouropatkin's left flank, but there is no indication of their moving west of the Hun river.

May Give Up Mukden.

The absence of detailed reports from the seat of war, despite the important character of events that are believed to be developing around Mukden, leads to the supposition that Gen. Kouropatkin may after all not seriously contest the Japanese advance, and that the long expected battle at Mukden may turn out to be merely a rear guard action upon a large scale.

Gen. Sakharoff reports that the Japanese army is moving from Bentsiaputze towards Fu pass, a village six miles northeast of Mukden, and near the right bank of the Hun river. The river at this point is shallow, and probably for this reason the locality has been selected by the Japanese for crossing.

If the Japanese succeed in gaining a foothold at Fu pass Gen. Kouropatkin's position at Mukden will be insecure, as the Japanese will from thence be able to threaten the Russian line of communications.

Fu pass is only twenty miles north of Bentsiaputze, but at the present rate of progress the Japanese will probably occupy four or five days in traversing it.

The Russian force south of Mukden is believed to consist of only one army corps, which is acting as a rear guard, and is not intended to offer a serious resistance to the Japanese advance.

Location of Jap Armies.

A dispatch from Mukden gives details of the Japanese positions as follows: Gen. Kuroki has concentrated one army with Bentsiaputze and Benshu as its radius and his advance is pushing forward along the road leading to Fushun and Fu pass.

The advance forces of two other armies occupy the Yentai mines, the village of Yentai, and Sandenu. The front of these three armies is protected by an outpost screen, which Chinese are not allowed to pass.

A small Japanese detachment is moving along the left bank of the Liao river in order to protect junks.

The same dispatch reports that Chinese bandits are openly siding with the Japanese.

LINES OF JAP ADVANCE.

MUKDEN, Sept. 23.—The Russians are using war balloons southeast of Mukden for the purpose of observing the movements of the Japanese in that direction. The line of outposts established by the Japanese is so effective that not even the Chinese have been able to penetrate it. It is impossible, therefore, to say definitely how Marquis Oyama has disposed his forces.

It is believed Gen. Kuroki's army stretches from Benshu to Bentsiaputze, and the armies of Gens. Oku and Nodzu from Yentai along the high road and railroad to Shahepu, sixteen miles south of Mukden, while a fourth army is moving from Dsiantchan across the Da mountains. All these roads converge at Mukden.

Of the four armies, those of Oku and Nodzu are nearest Mukden, and their progress will have to be slackened in order to permit Kuroki and the flanking columns time to come up. Meanwhile Oku and Nodzu have command of the railroad. Supplies of grain and ammunition are carried from Yentai over heavy roads, exposed to capture by enterprising Cossack raiders.

There has been an improvement in the weather at Mukden, which is of great help to the Japanese.

JAPS REPORT ATTACKS.

TOKIO, Sept. 23, 1 p. m.—An official telegram reports that fights have taken place at the towns of Tieling and Sanlungku, sixty miles northeast of Liaoyang, on Sept. 20. The dispatch says:

"Our detachment advanced through Heintuchuang on Sept. 20 and attacked the enemy, consisting of one company of infantry, some cavalry, and a machine gun, stationed at Tieling, and a battalion of infantry, 500 cavalry, six quick firing and one machine gun, stationed at Sanlungku, which lies eight miles north of Tieling.

"The Russians, who were driven off to the northward, left nineteen dead behind them. We captured some spoils. Our losses were slight."

RESERVES TRY TO EVADE WAR.

Many Men Called to the Colors in the Odessa District Refuse to Join Their Regiments.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—The disturbances which occurred at Odessa last week are now said not to have been anti-Jewish but anti-military, and to have been caused by reserve men who, it is alleged, refused to go to the far east. A detachment of regular troops sent to suppress the disturbances is said to have refused to obey orders.

On the other hand, officials declare that the mobilization at Odessa has been successful, except as regards the Jewish reserve men, 50 per cent of whom have eluded the call to the colors.

The total number of reserve men called out in the city district is 17,000, of which 4,000 Jews and only 800 Christians did not respond.

The mobilization led to slight rioting at Ekaterinoslav. About 125 drunken reserve men wrecked a few wineshops and two private residences. The rioters were arrested without effusion of blood.

FRANCE MAY INVADE LIBERIA.

Sir Harry Johnston Declares Negro Republic of West Africa May Lose Part of Its Territory.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Sir Harry Johnston, former consul general for the Uganda protectorate, who recently returned here from a visit to Liberia, says that France is endeavoring to secure a portion of the territory of the Liberian republic. "No justification whatever can be shown for such a procedure," he said, "other than the right of the strongest and the total inability of Liberia to resist by force any French aggression."

Japs Preparing to Seize a Railroad Bridge.

The picture shows the advance force of a company sent to take and guard a railroad bridge near Haicheng. When the rest of the company arrived the whole force advanced and took charge of the bridge seen in the picture.

TO SAVE PORT ARTHUR.

BALTIC FLEET TO ARRIVE IN JANUARY TO ATTACK TOGO.

Kouropatkin Expected to Make a Supreme Effort and Send an Army to the Assistance of the Besieged Fortress, and by a Combined Land and Sea Battle Defeat the Japanese Army and Ships—Rush Work in the Naval Yards.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—In spite of constant affirmations to the contrary, there are undoubted indications that a second Pacific squadron will leave the Baltic so that under economical coal consumption and moderate speed it will reach Port Arthur in January.

Then with greatly augmented forces Kouropatkin will tune himself for a simultaneous effort to reach the defenders of the stronghold, while Admiral Wiren will leave the harbor and attack the Japanese fleet.

Admiral Birileff, commander of the Cronstadt naval yard, has been ordered to work night and day unceasingly upon the battleship Orel and the cruisers Olep and Jemtchug, and the transport Kamchatk, so that they may join the main fleet, lying at Libau, with the utmost rapidity.

Ready to Sail on Sunday.

The orders were so imperative that the ships will leave Cronstadt on Sunday, while the Izumarun is being pushed forward and will leave on Thursday next.

As showing how urgent the departure of the fleet is considered every available mechanic at Cronstadt has been called upon for extra time and work. The Neva yard also has been heavily drawn upon for assistance, and every man is called upon to work at high pressure.

Of course, after the adoption of such plans, the greatest anxiety exists lest Port Arthur fall. It also is feared the stock of coal there may give out, as much is being used for condensing water since the regular supply was cut off.

Baikal Railroad Opened.

An accident on the railroad at Cheiyabinsk was the cause of the recent untimely breakdown in the forwarding of troops. Prince Khilkoff today formally opened the railroad around Lake Baikal, upon which 2,000 workmen have been employed. Some 70,000,000 rubles ($35,000,000), it is estimated, will be required for railroad construction alone the coming year, the largest portion of which will go for repairs on the transsiberian railroad.

The utmost preparations are being made for the winter campaign. A prominent furrier said today that the Japanese during the last three years have bought up vast quantities of fur "touloups" at the Novgorod fair in anticipation of present needs.

Jap View of Port Arthur Campaign.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

TOKIO, Sept. 23.—The Asahi interprets Russian persistency at Port Arthur to the determination of the czar and Admiral Alexieff to still make the fortress the center of Russian general strategy. Gen. Stoessel is making great efforts, it says, to strengthen the court's view. While firing upon ambulances for the purpose of enraging the Japanese troops he has made the garrison believe that they must defend the fortress until the last. He says the czar will hardly abandon the idea of saving them. Accordingly Gen. Kouropatkin lingers at Mukden in the face of great topographical disadvantages.

The paper remarks that the more persistent the defense of Port Arthur the easier the next campaign will be.

COAL MUST REMAIN CONTRABAND

Russia Refuses to Change Original View, but Will Apply Rule with Leniency.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—Russia has notified Great Britain that she has no intention of departing from her original view that coal is contraband, but will apply the rule with the greatest leniency.

Russia Offers High for Coal.

LONDON, Sept., 23.—Russian agents are displaying great activity in securing coal at Liverpool for Vladivostok. They offer $7.50 per ton, plus 3 per cent upon the ship's departure, and another $3.75 on arrival at Vladivostok. The firms generally are fighting shy, but a few ships have been dispatched, Hongkong being the ostensible destination.

RUSSIAN CRUISERS IN THE CANAL

Smolensk and St. Petersburg Arrive at Suez and Start at Once for Port Said.

SUEZ, Sept. 23.—The Russian auxiliary cruisers St. Petersburg and Smolensk arrived here today and subsequently entered the canal bound for Port Said after receiving a communication from the Russian consul.

Cruiser Leaves Las Palmas.

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, Sept. 23.—The Russian cruiser Terek, which began coaling here yesterday but was ordered to leave Las Palmas, following instructions received from Madrid, sailed at noon today. Its destination is not known. The British cruisers St. George and Brilliant have arrived here.

NEW MINISTER LIBERAL.

VON PLEHVE'S SUCCESSOR SPEAKS FAIR FOR RUSSIA.

Czar's Subjects Need Local Self-Government Rather than a Constitution and Participation in National Affairs—Deeply Interested in the Jews and Believes Their Condition Will Be Improved—Imperial Ukase Presages Larger Measure of Liberty.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VILNA, Russia, Sept. 23.—The unveiling of the monument to Catherine the Great today in the square facing the governor's palace was the occasion of the last public appearance here of Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky, the new minister of the interior, to succeed the murdered Von Plehve. He was received everywhere with the utmost enthusiasm by Jews and Christians alike.

It is confidently expected here that important concessions to the Jews will be announced shortly.

Submits to an Interview.

In his palace today, after the ceremony of dedicating the monument to Catherine the Great, Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky granted an interview to a newspaper correspondent. The prince said he had not underestimated the grave responsibilities and great difficulty that confronted him upon assuming the portfolio of the interior. The situation, he said, was a particularly trying one and worthy of the best endeavors of an abler man than he.

"It would be incorrect to announce," the prince said, "that I have a definite program as yet. I have some well defined ideas, all of which have the same objective—namely: the welfare of the people. I count myself fortunate to have served as governor of three provinces. This has given me an intimate acquaintance with the people and their needs and conditions, and I trust the experience may prove of great value in exchanging a post as executor for one as a formulator of policies.

Hard Problem to Solve.

"I realize fully how many and how complex are the problems of internal administration. These problems cannot be academically or instantaneously solved. Their magniture is hardly grasped abroad. Ultra-radicalism, as well as ultraconservatism, should be avoided.

"We must discharge our duty to the present and leave our work a heritage to posterity, which must look after the future. What the situation of the Russian empire a century hence will be who can tell? Abroad people speak of a new constitution for Russia. Such a thing is impossible under present conditions, but there is such a thing as local self-government.

Jewish Question.

"There are other internal problems of great importance, and, above all, the Jewish question, in which I am deeply interested. For Jews of the higher and better classes we have done much. The emperor's recent ukase extended the privileges of residence and occupation. But it is the condition of the poorer classes which is most pressing. They are restricted to residence in towns and cities, and within the pale, where they live as best they can. I desire earnestly to give them larger opportunities for life and work.

Extols Emperor's Ukase.

"Generally speaking, without going further into detail, I may say the emperor's manifesto of 1903 represents the platform upon which I enter upon the ministry of the interior. It is a lofty, noble conception of liberty. Conscience and decentralization are its basic principles. If interpreted in a liberal spirit we should have tranquillity, progress, and development in the interior of Russia."

NOTES FROM FOREIGN LANDS.

EDINBURG—Before the Institute of International Law, Sir Thomas Barclay referred at length to a treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and America. He said the peace of the world now depended upon the power of neutrals, and instanced the fact that the United States in the Venesuelan affair sent Great Britain, Germany, and Italy to The Hague in order to settle their claims.

MANILA—While a number of four inch shells and a quantity of small ammunition surrendered by the Spaniards in 1898 was being loaded in a lighter preparatory to being dumped into the bay, there was an explosion that killed two men and mangled seven. The victims were all Filipinos.

BRUSSELS—Princess Stephanie, after visiting her sister, Princess Louise of Coburg at Paris, telegraphed to Prince Philip of Coburg denying that Louise is mad and declaring her intention to do her utmost to rehabilitate the reputation of her sister.

CONSTANTINOPLE—Mrs. Leishman, wife of the American minister, and their son, accompanied by count and countess de Gontaut-Biron, left Constantinople by the Orient express.

LONDON—George A. Davis, the son of a wealthy ranch owner of Kansas City, committed suicide here. His father cabled directions for the shipment of the body to the United States.

BERLIN—Officers of the general staff will make new maps of German Southwest Africa and a military railway will be constructed to aid in the campaign against the Hereros.

TANGIER—Mr. Lee, the British merchant of Rabat who was reported to have been captured by tribesmen while fishing in the Rabat river, has returned safely to Rabat.

TORONTO, ONT.—E. J. Davis, member of the Ontario legislature, has been unseated. This leaves the government without a majority.

VENICE—The report that an attempt had been made to assassinate Don Carlos, the Spanish pretender, is without foundation.

ODESSA—The man who attempted to kill the chief of police was a factory employe and had no accomplices.

LADY CURZON IMPROVES.

LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND IS MORE HOPEFUL.

Physicians in Attendance Expect Crisis on Sunday and Declare if Gains of Friday Are Maintained Patient Will Get Well—Danger Is Not Past, but Conditions Are More Encouraging—Mother and Sister Hastening Across the Continent.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Sept. 24, 3 a. m.—Although Lady Curzon has not yet passed the danger point her friends are more hopeful early this morning. Her physicians believe the crisis will have passed by Sunday morning, and if Friday's improvement is maintained they hope to bring their patient through safely.

Lady Curzon requested yesterday that her children be brought to her bedside, and pathetic greetings were exchanged between them.

Lord Curzon, who has been in close attendance upon his wife since her illness, looks worn and haggard. It has been difficult to persuade him to take rest.

Lord Curzon's reappointment to the post of viceroy of India was gazetted yesterday.

Great Anxiety in Simla.

SIMLA, British India, Sept. 23.—The greatest concern is felt here because of Lady Curzon's illness and the latest bulletins regarding her ladyship's condition are anxiously awaited.

Mother Hastens to Join Her.

In a transcontinental and transoceanic race to the bedside of Lady Curzon, Mrs. L. Z. Leiter, her mother, and Miss Nannie Leiter passed through Chicago yesterday. They arrived at 9 a. m. and left at 12:30 for New York, which they will reach at 9:30 this morning. They have the margin of an hour to drive from the Grand Central station to the docks of the Red Star line, where they will board the Fatherland. If the train is late the Red Star officials will be urged to hold the boat.

Upon their arrival in Chicago yesterday morning on the Leiter private car attached to the Burlington express from Denver, Mrs. Leiter and her two daughters were at once driven to their residence, 101 Rush street. There they rested while arrangements to continue the journey were rushed.

Reports received by the family during their short stay in Chicago were optimistic.

The text of the message received from Lord Curzon by the family during the forenoon was given out by Mr. Leiter, as follows:

"Condition considerably improved. Danger line seems to be passed."

But Mrs. Leiter is none the less desirous of reaching her daughter's side. The Fatherland is due to arrive at Dover on Oct. 3.

FREE THINKERS DEFY VATICAN.

Delegates to Congress at Rome Make a Public Demonstration of Antagonism to the Pope.

ROME, Sept. 23.—The delegates to the free thinkers' congress today marched to the monument of Giordano Bruno, the Dominican monk, who was burned by the Inquisition in 1600, and deposited wreaths upon it in testimony of their feeling of antagonism to the vatican. Several violent speeches were delivered, a Belgian, ex-Deputy Fournemont, summing up as follows:

"The vatican is a corpse; we are life."

It is asserted that the pope is preparing a letter to the Catholic world protesting against the congress as an offense against his spiritual position as the head of 300,000,000 Catholics and ending with claiming the independence of the papacy.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 23.—The estates of nineteen stockholders of the American German bank of Sidney, O., and the affairs of the bank were placed in the hands of Receiver J. D. Barnes by Judge Thompson of the United States court here today.

During the hearing it developed that the bank carried over $500,000 of deposits and that the safe contained only $4,000, while all the assets of the bank, if taken at their face value, would not reach $500,000 and the liabilities will exceed $700,000.

Experts reported that discrepancies of $140,000 in the books have been discovered.

THIEVES NAIL MAN TO TABLE.

Victim Wanders Into Bellevue Hospital and Tells Story of Torture.

BEQUEATHES HIS BRAIN.

New York Physician Hoped Cornell Professor Might Trace Disease.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, New York, Sept. 23.

Nailed down to a table in a Bowery saloon, robbed, and left to his fate. This is the remarkable story told by a man who applied for admission at Bellevue hospital tonight. He is Patrick Monaghan, a stable helper. Whether the story he told is true the police do not venture an opinion, but his condition is such that it is evident he has suffered great torture.

Tells Horrible Tale of Torture and Theft.

According to Monaghan, he was walking in the Bowery Thursday night and found himself in the neighborhood of Chatham square. There, he says, he fell into conversation with some men. One proposed having a drink. They went to a saloon in the vicinity. A round of drinks was ordered and he took whiskey. He remembers having drunk, but declares that after that everything became a blank.

When he came to his senses he says he was stretched on his back on a table. He tried to rise, but to his horror found he was nailed fast to the table. He cried out with pain, but no one came to his rescue. The room was dark.

He put his hand under the table and found that a nail had been driven completely through his body and the point turned, so that it was almost impossible to release it. He cried aloud for aid time and again, but to no purpose. He strove to release himself. By hard work he finally managed to straighten the point of the nail and drew his body free.

Pain and loss of blood had made him so weak, he declares, that he fainted after freeing himself. When he recovered consciousness he made his way from the saloon to the street and wandered away. What he did between this and the time when he walked into Bellevue he says he does not know.

The man's injuries are of a frightful nature. In addition to driving a nail through his body the gang had mutilated him with a knife. He declares he was robbed of a silver watch and $20 in bills. He had been drinking for several days, he said.

Secret service detectives today arrested Sebastian Fasancello, a clerk in the First Municipal court, on a charge of selling bogus federal naturalization certificates. The secret service men said the arrest might lead to sensational developments.

Dr. George S. Conant, who died today at his home, 148 East Eighteenth street, made a will leaving his brain to Dr. Bert S. Wilder of Cornell medical school. Dr. Conant had been a sufferer from diabetes and made an exhaustive study of his own case. The medical profession has never had a cure for diabetes. Dr. Conant came to the conclusion that the trouble lay in the condition of the brain.

To Study Brain for Diabetes Cause.

It was his desire that his investigations might be carried on after his death. Dr. Wilder has been known for years as a brain expert. It was to him that Dr. Conant intrusted the fulfillment of his wishes in the hope that it might lead to a solution of the mystery which has puzzled medical men so long.

Dr. Wilder has a collection of the brains of men of different professions, having a theory that every action or mental trend can be traced to some certain condition of the brain.

Dr. Conant was 51 years old and was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1853. He was graduated from Bellevue and practiced for twenty-five years in the neighborhood of his home.

On information furnished to the United While the Union Pacific officials will not confirm it, there is good reason to believe that in order to secure a voice in the affairs of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé the interests connected with the Union Pacific company have secured large holdings of stock in the Atchison. For at least six months purchases of Atchison stock has been steadily made at the low prices at which it has been selling. It is said today that at least 300,000 shares now rest in the hands of friends of the Union Pacific.

Union Pacific Acquires A., T. and S. F. Stock.

It is understood that there is no desire on the part of the Union Pacific interests to secure anything like control of the Atchison, inasmuch as the Southern Pacific, which is controlled by the Union Pacific, and Atchison might be construed as parallel, competing roads, as might also the Atchison and Union Pacific.

There have been reports in Wall street for a year or more that the Rock Island interests are picking up Atchison stock. These reports apparently were not without effect upon Union Pacific officials, who have just passed through one experience with the Chicago and Alton control.

Most of the purchases are understood to have been of common stock, which is selling now at $82 a share. If the stock was bought at an average of $70 these holdings would represent about $21,000,000.

In view of several hundred persons Paul Schmidt, a waiter in a Harlem restaurant, committed suicide tonight by jumping from the platform of the Eighth street station of the Second avenue elevated road before a southbound train. The forward trucks passed over Schmidt's body. His head struck the third rail when he jumped and he probably was killed instantly, as smoke arose.

Suicide on Elevated Blocks Traffic.

It was necessary to turn off the electric power from the third rail before the wrecking crew could raise the car and free the body. This resulted in crowding and a panic at the Hanover square station. After waiting for half an hour for a train one thousand passengers crowded the ticket office and demanded their money back.

In the excitement several women were injured. One woman's skirt was torn off.

Police Commissioner McAdoo gave out these figures to show that, compared with last year, the city is not so bad as painted. The figures cover the period between Aug. 1 and Sept. 13:

McAdoo's Report Shows Crime on Decrease.

Violent crimes	1,479	672
Cases in which arrests were made	747	401
Percentage of arrests	.51	.60
Persons arrested	904	556
Persons discharged	535	200
Percentage of discharge	.63	.36
Number of convictions	263	90
Percentage of convictions	.30	.16
Cases pending	60	266
Percentage of cases pending	.07	.48

The increase in the number of cases pending and the falling off in the number of convictions Mr. McAdoo attributed to the fact that many of this year's cases not yet have been reached by the courts, while nearly all of last year's arrests have been disposed of.

HEESE, AMELIA, aged 9, daughter of Herman D. Heese, dairyman.

STEINKAMP, EMMA, aged 13, daughter of John Steinkamp.

THEE, EDNA, aged 10, daughter of John Thee, blacksmith.

WITHAM, LILLIAN, aged 13, daughter of W. A. Witham, farmer.

Girls Were Out for Recess.

The Pleasant Ridge building is used for a high school as well as for all lower departments. On opposite sides of the ground, in the rear of the school buildings, are two outhouses. When recess was given about thirty of the smaller girls were in the outhouse assigned to them, when the floor gave way, precipitating them into a vault. The struggles of those who were on top kept at least nine underneath until they were dead.

Only One Escapes by Door.

The frame sheds over these vaults were about twenty feet square, without windows, and only one narrow doorway, so that only one little girl escaped from the door.

She ran into the school building and told the teachers what had happened. Principal T. L. Simmerman and the teachers, Mary Banning, Emma Venable, Hattie Gage, Louise McGrew, Alice Hay, Emma Johnson, and Louise Layman, rushed to the rescue. The women gave the alarm about the vicinity.

Principal Simmerman secured a ladder on which the conscious girls climbed out, most of them fainting as soon as they reached the surface. The screams of the girls were hardly heard even within the vault and they were most of them unable to speak when rescued.

The teachers were soon reinforced by the entire population of the town, the police and fire departments rendering most effective service.

Father Seeks His Child.

John Steinkamp, father of one of the little girls, insisted on going down for his little Emma. Principal Simmerman showed him that he could only interfere with the little ones who were then climbing out. When his little girl was not among those coming out he almost fainted.

Finally he entered the vault and carried out several bodies, among them that of his little girl, but he did not know that he had carried out the body of his own daughter until informed by others. Then he fainted.

At the same time there were other parents in the waiting crowd who fainted when it was announced that all of the living had been rescued and their children were still missing.

William J. Card of McCullough & Sons in Cincinnati, had three daughters in the place. Charmian and Fausta lost their lives. Rotha, the twin sister of Fausta, narrowly escaped death. When the crowd of girls rushed into the place Rotha was knocked out of the door into the yard just before the collapse occurred.

Boy Pupil Is Helpful.

James Smith, aged 14, one of the pupils, climbed to the roof of the school house, untied the flag, and ran to the vault. By means of this impromptu rope several were rescued.

Marshal Wood had great difficulty in keeping the crowd back and from interfering with the rescuers. The importunities of friends, especially of the weeping mothers, were almost beyond the control of the officers. Drs. U. G. Senour and P. J. Shank, with their assistants, used the school building for a hospital and a morgue until after the dead and the rescued were taken to their homes.

In addition to the funerals that are announced for Sunday, there will be memorial services in the three churches of the village.

School Trustees Blamed.

Reports about the floor having given way last year are denied by school trustees.

Janitor Smith states that he had told members of the board that the place was not safe. While the village is full of rumors Coroner Weaver had the wrecked girders preserved. It is claimed that as soon as they were dried out the timbers were found to be rotten and it is reported that one of them was spliced. The girders will be brought to Cincinnati tomorrow for examination at the inquest.

"Nondemonstrative Oratory"—Senator Fairbanks in Action on the Stump.

[Copyright, 1904, by R. L. Dunn.]

HIS FAVORITE ARGUMENT-CLINCHING GESTURE.

THIS IS MR. FAIRBANKS' MOST VIOLENT GESTURE.

HIS APPEAL TO REASON GESTURE.

Senator Fairbanks is taking a conspicuous part in the oratorical work of the campaign, and a notable feature of his speeches has been their freedom from any form of hysterical gestures as aids to enforcing his arguments. These photographs, the first that have been taken of the vice presidential candidate since the Chicago convention, show him in what may be termed his "excited moments," and indicate the general calmness and physical restraint of his oratorical methods.

DYNAMITE HIT BY TRAIN.

ENTIRE NEIGHBORHOOD DISARRANGED BY EXPLOSION.

String of Cars Torn to Splinters, but Two Horses Hitched to Wagon of Explosive Escape Without Harm—Driver Who Causes All Trouble Hunts Safety in Ditch and Gets Off Easily—Engineer of Locomotive Is Scalded to Death.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 23.—Fast freight No. 94 on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad struck a wagon loaded with 750 pounds of dynamite in nineteen cases at the crossing at North Branch, W. Va., four miles east of here, this afternoon. Two persons were killed and nine were injured, three of them seriously.

James Laing, who drove the wagon, escaped with only trivial injury, as did the two horses, although the latter were blown fifty yards into a field.

Stops Wagon on Track.

Laing, hearing the train, became terrified and stopped on the track. The wagon was within three feet of clearing it when the engine struck the rear end, carrying it fifty feet before the explosion. Laing deserted the wagon and ran down from the track into a ditch. He was knocked down and rendered unconscious for a time, but the force of the explosion passed over him.

The engine was overturned and stripped and seven cars following, loaded with high grade merchandise, were broken, several being demolished. The tracks were thrown out of the bed and twisted, while rails were snapped like pipe stems. The wires were torn down and relief was telegraphed for from Patterson's creek, which was reached by hand car.

Engineer Scalded to Death.

Engineer Pike was held under iron scraps on top of the boiler while being slowly cooked to death. It required four men to extricate him.

The explosion knocked nearly every person in the neighborhood down, hurled Hunter Bowen through a roof, but did not hurt him, and threw parts of the engine 200 yards. Slack telegraph wires were snapped midway between poles by the concussion.

The Baltimore and Ohio tower was wrecked, as were several residences nearby, and the interlocking switch system is smashed to pieces. The commissary of Mike Elmore, Wabash subcontractor, and the Wabash temporary hospital, with other small buildings, were demolished. The windows of the schoolhouse and of the residence of G. A. Zimmerly, on the mountain, half a mile away, were all broken out. No house escaped damage.

Archbishop in a Wreck.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23.—The archbishop of Canterbury, J. Pierpont Morgan, and their party arrived here at 1:20 p. m. and remained an hour before going on to Washington.

The train on which they were traveling from Bar Harbor, Me., was wrecked at East Brookfield, Mass., and all the members of the party severely shaken, but not seriously hurt.

The special, running at the rate of sixty miles an hour, was just passing the station when a detached locomotive, which had been drawing a train on the North Brookfield branch, ran on to the main line. The archbishop's train struck the North Brookfield engine with a terrific crash and demolished it.

With the archbishop, besides Mrs. Davidson and Mr. Morgan, were the Rev. Hyla Holdon and the Rev. J. Ellison and attendants.

Several of the train hands were slightly injured.

Two Dead in Collision.

Delmar, Del., Sept. 23.—A northbound passenger train on the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad last night ran into a southbound freight at Bloxom, Va., demolishing both engines, killing Engineer S. J. Brown and his fireman, Francis Donoway, of the passenger train, and severely injuring Engineer Clark of the freight.

WANTS NEW KUKLUX KLAN

GEORGIA EDITOR URGES ANOTHER REIGN OF TERROR.

John Temple Graves of Atlanta Declares That the White Men of the South Will Protect Their Women, and That Neither Law, Nor Public Opinion, Nor Armed Force, Nor Federal Courts Will Prevent Them—Four Pennsylvania Girls Attacked.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—In a leading editorial in this afternoon's News John Temple Graves advocates lynching and also a revival of kukluxism in order to terrorize negroes. Mr. Graves says in part:

"The white men of this southern country will protect their women from the unspeakable lust of unspeakable brutes, and neither law, nor statutes, nor public opinion, nor armed forces, nor federal courts, nor any other courts, will prevent the stern expression of the popular horror and outrage toward this most infernal of all human crimes.

"There is no need to try to scare the people of this southern country with the threat of the federal court. If the federal court invades the state's authority and takes charge of these cases there yet remain the memory and the renaissance of the kuklux klan, which was, perhaps, after all, the most effective agency that this southern country has ever known against the crime and lawlessness that followed a period of war.

"Even this may not entirely accomplish its work of reform, but it will, if anything will or if anything can, and this appeal to the superstitious terrors of the criminal classes must not be left untried."

Four Pennsylvania Girls Attacked.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Besides the attack on Mrs. Thomas Boggan at Patton, Pa., by a negro who escaped an armed posse, four girls have been attacked in various places during the last twenty-four hours.

Ella Stilley, aged 16, daughter of Jerry Stilley, superintendent of the Clarendon iron works, was attacked last night at 11 o'clock by two men. In the struggle the girl's arm was broken. Harvey Barnes of Monongahela City is under arrest.

Hettie Adams, a cousin, who accompanied Miss Stilley, is missing, she having run when her companion was attacked. Miss Stilley was saved by the approach of a telegraph operator, who heard her cries.

At Kittanning, Pa., the 8 year old daughter of Thompson Coulter, going to school this morning, was attacked by two masked men. It is reported she will die.

Bessie Hawker, aged 16, of McClure street, Homestead, while on her way home from her work last night was attacked by a negro. She escaped.

Miss Ethel Stagg of Homestead also was attacked by a negro, but got away.

Southern Judge Scores Whites.

Selma, Ala., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Judge Daniel Partridge Jr., a partner of Senator Pettus, born and reared in the heart of the black belt of Alabama, in charging the grand jury investigating the charge against three white deputy sheriffs and seven negroes accused of lynching a negro, Edward Bell, criticised the white people most severely.

He denounced that class of southerners who carry pistols for the purpose of shooting down helpless and inoffensive negroes. He spoke of Booker Washington as a great man and quoted his views with approval.

The grand jury, after hearing the evidence, recommended that the men charged with lynching be discharged.

Alabama Lyncher Arrested.

Huntsville, Ala., Sept. 23.—James Armstrong, a farmer, was arrested today on a warrant charging him with murder. He is the eighth alleged lyncher of Horace Maples arrested of the twenty-six persons indicted by the special grand jury.

SEAT HOG POLICEMAN IS FINED.

St. Louis Sergeant Orders Patrolman to Give Seat to Woman, Command Ignored, and Subordinate Punished.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—When Sergt. Cornelius C. Meehan of the "Broadway squad" or "ladies' policemen" saw Patrolman P. M. Whelan remain seated while a delicate looking young woman hung to a strap and sighed wearily as the car bumped along, he gave Whalen a significant look, but the patrolman kept his seat.

Then Sergt. Meehan leaned over and said: "Get up and give that lady a seat," but Whalen remained seated.

Today Meehan had Whalen fined $10 by the trial board for disobedience of orders.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—William Doherty of Dayton, O., had a narrow escape from death by drowning at the state house this morning. He and a companion had gone to the roof to see the city. He slipped on a dark stairway and found himself in the cold water of the immense tank that supplies the state house with water. He sank twice before his arm was seized by his companion and he was drawn to safety.

ACTOR KELCEY A PRISONER. LACKING PRICE OF A SHAVE.

Play Waits Fifteen Minutes Because a Barber Says He Does Not Take Promises for Cash.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—"Taps" was held fifteen minutes tonight because Herbert Kelcey, the actor, let a barber shave him, then found he had only a nickel in his pockets. The barber would not let him go, so the audience in the Lyric theater had to wait. Kelcey had dined and been shaved. The boy with the brush was exceedingly attentive, so the actor decided to give him a tip. He felt in his pocket and found the lone nickel.

"I'm Herbert Kelcey, the actor; I'll send you the money," he said. "And I'll send you a couple of seats, too, for your courtesy."

"None of that for me," said the proprietor. "I know these bum actors that promise to give you seats. They've been in here before. Besides, I've seen Kelcey. You don't look anything like him, anyway. You'll have to show your money or stay here till somebody brings it."

The messenger boy who was dispatched with a note raised the siege at the barber shop.

SWAMPED UNDER PARACHUTE.

Woman Ascensionist at Phillipsburg, Kas., Falls in Lake and Is Drowned.

Phillipsburg, Kas., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The balloon ascension and parachute leap here today resulted in the drowning of Mrs. S. B. Hendricks, the aeronaut, in the Rock Island lake. At 6:30 this evening the ascension took place, the balloon drifting to the northeast.

When above the pond Mrs. Hendricks made the leap, thinking that she could swing the parachute away from the pond, but her efforts failed, and she was buried under the parachute in twenty feet of water, and a hundred feet from the nearest shore.

Several good swimmers plunged into the lake and a boat attempted to tow her to the shore, but the body became entangled in the meshes of the cumbersome parachute, capsized the boat, and nearly resulted in the drowning of one of the rowers. A second boat succeeded in towing the parachute and body to the shore. Four physicians worked over the lifeless form for two hours without avail.

Preceding the leap Mrs. Hendricks appeared smiling. When everything was in readiness Mr. Hendricks kissed his wife and gave the order to let the balloon ascend, and a cheer broke forth from the thousands of people. She called out "Hurrah for Roosevelt," and those were the last words that her friends ever heard her speak.

ENDS LIFE ON ANNIVERSARY OF THE MURDER OF HIS WIFE.

John Spilka Found Dead in Room at 704 May Street with Rope Twisted Around His Neck.

One year from the date on which his wife was murdered by Louis Pesant, John Spilka, the husband of the woman, committed suicide. Neighbors say he had declared he would not live more than a year after his wife. His body was found yesterday afternoon in a room at 704 May street by Lieut. Ptacek, who had secured the confession of the slayer and collected the evidence which resulted in a hanging.

For a time it was believed Spilka had been the victim of another mysterious murder, as a rope with which he had been strangled was found twisted in several coils about his neck and fastened by one end to a bed post. Closer investigation showed that the man had adopted a peculiar method of ending his life, strangling himself by the weight of his body after the rope had been attached to the bed. He probably had been dead five days.

Suicide Recalls Murder of Woman.

Mrs. Spilka was murdered on Sept. 18, 1903. She was an industrious and thrifty woman, who was known by her neighbors to have saved money. Like many of the residents of the district she placed no trust in banks or other institutions and carried around her savings.

Louis Pesant, who resided in the rear of the Spilkas' dwelling at 358 West Eighteenth street, learned of the habits of the woman and planned to secure the money. Returning from work in the afternoon he encountered Mrs. Spilka in a hallway and struck her on the head with a large stone, which he had carried from the street.

The children of the woman, who were only a few feet away, did not hear the struggle, and the body was not discovered for many hours. After several arrests had been made suspicion was directed to Pesant and he was closely questioned by Lieut. Ptacek. The man finally confessed and $300 stolen was recovered.

Begins Drinking After Tragedy.

After the murder the four children of the victim went to reside with a relative in Oklahoma. The husband remained in Chicago, but began drinking heavily and spent all his savings. His habits caused the loss of his position and during many weeks he had been dependent upon the charity of former friends. He was 55 years old.

Woman Drinks Carbolic Acid.

Walking into her husband's saloon at 470 Clybourn avenue at 11:30 p. m., Mrs. Rose Schutzhuber drank carbolic acid. She was taken to the German hospital, where it was said she would die. Mrs. Schutzhuber had left her husband and lived at 215 Randolph street. Domestic troubles, it is believed, caused her act.

REDMOND AND PARTY LEAVE.

Off to Niagara Falls, Well Pleased with Results of Visit to Chicago.

They were escorted to the station by members of the Irish Fellowship club and the Redmond reception committee, headed by Charles P. Cooke, Edward M. Lahiff, Harry Hildreth, James F. Powers, and John F. Finerty. All members of the party expressed themselves as well pleased with their visit to Chicago, and members of the Irish organizations here are unanimously of the opinion that the Irish cause has been strengthened by the Redmond meetings.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY NEGRO BANDIT

Highwayman Tries to Rob Woman and Then Uses Revolver on Detective.

IS RESULT OF STRUGGLE.

Wounded Man Is a Brother of Police Inspector Lavin and Long on the Force.

After attempting to snatch a woman's pocketbook at Forty-fifth street and Prairie avenue last night, a negro highwayman shot Detective Michael Lavin in one hand. The man escaped after a revolver battle, but it is believed he was wounded.

The neighborhood was aroused by the sound of the shots and a large crowd quickly gathered. When it was learned that a policeman had been wounded by a robber a search was made for the assailant, but without success.

Lavin is a brother of Inspector P. J. Lavin and has been long on the force. He and his partner, Detective Amstein, had been informed that a negro had been acting suspiciously in the neighborhood. They found him in Prairie avenue a few minutes after he had made an attempt to rob Julia Fox, 4849 Prairie avenue. Lavin pursued the negro, who fled as the detective approached. The man was quickly overtaken by the detective, who seized him.

Shooting Ends a Struggle.

After a brief struggle the negro drew a revolver and fired at the detective. The bullet entered Lavin's left hand.

As the bandit ran west in Forty-fifth street toward the elevated station Lavin fired at him. Several times the negro turned and shot at the detective. For several blocks the battle continued, until the fugitive ran into an alley and escaped in the darkness. The detective was sent to Mercy hospital.

Woman Foils Alleged Thief.

An attempt to rob a woman in the waiting room of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station in the evening was frustrated by Miss Bessie Joy, Zion City. She was seated in the waiting room when she said she saw her valise being taken out of the room by a man. She hurried after the alleged thief and seized him.

The man was arrested. He gave the name of Samuel Swenson and declared he had taken Miss Joy's valise by mistake.

Actress Tells of Shooting.

Miss Mabel Montgomery, an actress, reported to the police in the afternoon that she had been awakened by some one trying to force an entrance to her room on the third floor of the Newberry hotel, 225 Dearborn avenue. She asserted she fired two shots at the door.

The sound of some one running in the hallway was heard, and when Miss Montgomery opened the door she said she saw two men climbing out a rear window to a fire escape.

Held for Peterson Killing.

Joseph Briggs, 716 West Van Buren street, alias "Jocko," was held to the grand jury as principal in connection with the murder of Hans Peterson, the tobacco dealer shot and killed in his store at Robey and Lake streets on the evening of Sept. 12.

John Palm and Harold Perry, each 17 years old, were sentenced by Judge Chetlain to the reformatory at Pontiac for an indefinite period. They were the last of the boy bandits captured by Lieut. Larkin and detectives from the Harrison street station. The other members of the band were Peter Dulfer, David Kelly, and Frank and James Formby. They now are serving life sentences in the penitentiary at Joliet.

Thieves Use Horse and Wagon.

Adam Harmatys and Anthony Dinter were arrested charged with stealing groceries valued at $50 from the store of J. A. Makwinski, 325 North Sangamon street. Sugar, hams, and flour were taken. The store was entered Thursday night. The property was found at 87 Elston avenue.

The car was one of the Center avenue line and carried thirty passengers. At Archer and Stewart avenues a fuse blew out with a loud report, scattering sparks in every direction. For a moment the car was in darkness, but the next instant the woodwork had become ignited and before Motorman J. C. Bouse could extinguish the flames the thirty passengers were in a panic. Emma Stauch, who was standing on the rear platform, was pushed off the car by these behind her in their frantic rush for safety.

CALLS ON CITIZENS TO ACT.

President Farwell at Law and Order Meeting Declares the Responsibility Is Shifted.

"If every citizen did his duty and interfered whenever he saw the laws being broken there would be less disorder and crime in Chicago. There is too much shifting of responsibility."

This declaration was made by President Arthur Burrage Farwell at a meeting of the Law and Order league last night at the Warren Avenue Congregational church. He called upon the churches of the west side to aid actively in the suppression of crime in that district.

Judge Orrin N. Carter said the "lawless in high places" were responsible for much of the "careless infringement on the rights of others."

A resolution was adopted calling upon all organizations of the city to lend moral and active support to the suppression of lawlessness and vice.

WANTS DUE RANK FOR DIPLOMATS.

John W. Foster Declares All Envoys Must Be On a Common Level.

CITES A CASE IN POINT.

Precedence Caused All Recent Trouble Between United States and Turkey.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—All diplomatic representatives of the powers must be reduced to a common level in all the capitals of the world, declared John W. Foster, former secretary of state, in address before the section on diplomacy of the International Congress of Arts and Sciences.

"There will be no satisfactory settlement of diplomatic rank until all distinctions and privileges are abolished and a single grade is established in all the capitals of the world," said Mr. Foster. He laid stress on the importance of establishing a system of diplomacy which will not subject representatives to inconvenience and even indignity because of their lower rank as ministers. He added:

"The late trouble between the United States and Turkey grew out of the fact that the American minister could not have access to the sultan and higher officials because he did not possess the rank of ambassador, and the Turkish government refused to agree to the appointment and recognition of ambassadors with the United States."

Utilization of Labor.

"The greatest problem before engineers and managers today is the economical utilization of labor, and scientific investigation is its sole solution," said H. L. Gantt, a mechanical engineer of Providence, R. I. Mr. Gantt divided the problem into three parts, to find out a proper day's task for a man suited to the work, to find out the compensation needed to induce such men to do a full day's work, and to plan so that the workman may work continuously and efficiently.

Dr. Emil Munsterberg, president of the city charities of Berlin, in a discussion before the section of the dependent group of "The Problem of Poverty," defined poverty as the social and physical condition of individuals brought about by the loss of sufficient means of support, which needs must be supplied either by gratuitous help or by force in defiance of law.

Some Notable Papers.

Prof. Hoff of Germany stated before the surgery section that cancer was due to the existence of a germ and that this germ not only grew in the person diseased but could be successfully transplanted in other organisms.

"A man of genius is a sociological freak whose appearance cannot be determined," said Prof. Edward A. Ross of the University of Nebraska, in an address before the section of social psychology.

The boycott has no right to exist, was the stand taken by Dean Draper Lewis of the University of Pennsylvania in an address before the section on private law.

Papers in Various Sections.

Addresses were delivered before the other sections as follows:

New Testament—Prof. Ernest D. Burton, University of Chicago.

Germanic literature—Prof. August Sauer, University of Prague; Prof. J. Minor, University of Vienna; Prof. A. R. Hohlfeld, University of Chicago; Prof. J. S. Nollen, Indiana university.

The dependent group—Prof. Charles R. Henderson, University of Chicago; Supt. J. G. Scott, Elmira, N. Y.; Frederick H. Wines, Montclair, N. J.

KILLED ACROSS STATE LINE.

Marshal of Iowa Town Fatally Shoots "Bill" Wallace, a Resident of Missouri.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Early this morning Marshal Dan Ellis of Lineville, standing in Iowa, shot and instantly killed "Bill" Wallace, standing in Missouri. Wallace conducted one of the resorts in Missouri immediately across the line from Lineville.

Ellis drove to Corydon and put himself under the sheriff's care. A commercial man asked the marshal to direct him to a hotel. The latter escorted him to the place conducted by Wallace, but when he arrived there it is claimed that Wallace and his wife began to abuse Ellis.

The marshal began backing off toward Iowa, but Wallace overtook him, grabbed his "billy," and struck him, breaking his left arm. By this time Ellis was in Iowa, and he fired at Wallace.

Lineville has been considered a tough place for years and this is the fourth man to lose his life in a shooting affray there.

MAKE RULES FOR CANE RUSH.

Beloit Upper Classmen Referee Annual Fight of Freshmen and Sophomores, Preventing Serious Harm.

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Beloit had its annual cane rush between freshmen and sophomores this afternoon, with a new referee feature added.

The upper classmen took it upon themselves to umpire the fight and to interfere whenever their judgment dictated.

Whenever it became apparent one of the combatants was about used up a flying squadron of seniors would push into the fray and extricate the subject, who was thereafter debarred from all participation, except shouting.

The intervention of the upper classmen prevented any serious injuries.

The freshmen won the rush and own the town tonight.

FALLS FOUR STORIES: UNHURT.

Miss Chapin of Chicago Leaps from Window After Dream and Awning Saves Her Life.

Battle Creek, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Miss Julia Chapin, said to be the daughter of a Chicago broker and real estate man, has been an inmate of a sanitarium here.

Miss Chapin dreamed that she was jumping from a window. Awakening, she ran to the window of her room, four stories above the cement driveway, and leaped into space. The falling woman crashed into an awning below, which broke her fall.

Dr. Morse of the sanitarium staff made an examination that proved she was practically uninjured.

HUNTER VICTIM OF OWN GUN.

First Fatal Hunting Accident of Wisconsin Season Reported Near Waukesha.

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The first fatal hunting accident of the season was when the body of Gustave Marzinke of Pewaukee was found on his farm with a hideous wound in the chest. The supposition is that while he was climbing over a fence the weapon was accidentally discharged.

OBITUARY.

Will Be a Mother to Deserted Baby.

MRS. ROBERT HALCOTT.

The 6 weeks old boy that was thrust into the arms of Mrs. Robert Halcott by an unknown woman in Lincoln park on Thursday has found a temporary home, and if nobody comes to claim the child Mrs. Halcott declares she will adopt it as her own. Both Mrs. Halcott and her husband are anxious to keep the child, as they have no children of their own.

No name has yet been decided upon for the child, but Mrs. Halcott favors Eugene, her father's name. Several neighbors suggested the boy be called Lincoln, because of being abandoned by his mother in Lincoln park.

The police have no clew to the identity of the mother.

WIFE FOR BUT TWO DAYS.

BALL PITCHER WEIMER'S BRIDE RETURNS TO HER PARENTS.

Ignorant of His Former Marriage and Divorce Until After They Were Wed, Laura Trumbull Leaves Husband Through Allegiance to Roman Catholic Faith, Which Does Not Recognize Union—Friends Active in Efforts to Straighten Out Matter.

After two days of wedded life Mrs. Laura Trumbull Weimer, who was married to Jacob Weimer, pitcher of the Chicago National league baseball nine, on Sept. 14, left her husband and is at the home of her father, George T. Trumbull, 984 West Polk street. She learned two days after the marriage ceremony that Weimer had been divorced from a former wife, now living in Des Moines, Ia. The marriage of divorced persons not being permitted by the Roman Catholic church, of which she is a member, she returned to her father's home. Weimer is in Brooklyn with his club. Mr. Trumbull, it is said, threatens physical revenge on the baseball player.

Friends and relatives are attempting to straighten matters out and suggestions of an appeal to the pope for a special dispensation have been advanced.

"We are waiting to see what can be done in the matter," said Mrs. Trumbull, the bride's mother, yesterday.

Bride Is in Seclusion.

Mrs. Weimer secluded herself in her room and denied herself to all callers. The marriage was performed by Bishop Muldoon. Weimer abandoned Lutheranism to conform to the wishes of the bride's parents. None of the Trumbull family asked Weimer if he had been married before, and he made no mention of his former marriage. Weimer and his wife have corresponded, but have not met since the separation.

The records give the bride's age as 24 and Weimer's as 29. Her father is president of the Trumbull Safe and Vault company. He has given his daughter exceptional educational advantages. Two years ago she abandoned her studies to become a teacher. During the summer she attended a conservatory in Boston and had returned home only a short time before her marriage.

Weimer's First Marital Venture.

Weimer is said to have deserted his first wife in Ottumwa, Ia., four years ago. He objected to efforts made to compel him to live with her after the ball season was over, and she obtained a divorce on the ground of desertion.

A Catholic clergyman, speaking of marriage and divorce as a generality, said:

"The church does not recognize divorces in the sense that the courts legally separate man and wife and legally marry either party to another. On the other hand, marriage as performed by civil courts is not recognized unless conditions exist that would permit of an ecclesiastical marriage."

COEDS GIVE UP "RUSHING."

Evanston Sorority Members Will Have a "Bidding Day"—College Night Celebrated.

There will be no "rushing" for sorority members among Northwestern coeds this year. The women of the school have decided on a more dignified method of selecting new members. Next week a reception to the new girls will be given by all the sororities, and an opportunity offered for becoming acquainted and judging of the desirability of new students for membership.

Toward the end of the week, probably on Friday, a general "bidding day" will be declared, and sororities will send out written invitations to the girls they desire as members, agreeing among themselves to do no "rushing."

It is said that this new departure is the result of the campaign recently inaugurated by the intersorority conference at Chicago.

"College night" was celebrated by the students of the university in the evening. There was a torchlight parade, headed by a band, speeches, and class scrimmages.

COURT FINDS FOR MOTHER

MRS. SADIE SMITH IS AWARDED CUSTODY OF CHILDREN.

Woman Faints, Foster Parent Screams and Sobs, and the Spectators Cheer When Judge Dunne Announces His Decision—Issue Is Raised by Attorneys of the Comparative Merits of Life in a Big City and in a Country Town.

The long and bitter struggle for the possession of the Smith children, Harry and Ethel, ended late yesterday afternoon in a victory for their mother, Mrs. Sadie Smith. The closing scene in court was dramatic.

"The petition is granted and the children are allotted to their mother," said Judge Dunne. Then there was cheering from nearly a hundred spectators. The mother rose to her feet and fainted, and Miss McMillan, who had been deprived of the children, screamed and sobbed.

"They do not want to go back to her. They were good children down in Sparta, but what will become of them in Chicago? It is such a wicked city," cried Miss McMillan.

Compare City and Country Life.

The comparative merits of the big city and the little country town were made the point at issue. It was admitted that the characters of both children—Harry, 16 years old, and Ethel, 12 years old, were in the "formative period."

"For seven years," pleaded the foster mother, "the children lived with me on the farm, in a good moral atmosphere. Sparta is noted for its godliness. Never has any kind of a public game been held there on Sunday—not even baseball. Ethel sings hymns and goes to church and Sunday school. We never stay at home from church because it rains. Harry is a manly boy. He never uttered an oath and he never smoked a cigaret—that I know of."

Tells of Perils in Chicago.

The perils children are exposed to in Chicago were enumerated by the foster mother's attorney, former Judge Thomas A. Moran.

"If your honor awards the custody of these children to Mrs. Smith they must forsake the quiet, wholesome life of the country for a maelstrom of iniquity," said the attorney. "If, later, the boy is found loafing on the streets and smoking cigarets; still, if later he is arrested as a criminal and sent to the penitentiary, it will be too late for your honor to make amends for your blunder.

"Great but Wicked" City.

"Chicago is a great but a wicked city. It is a place where children shoot craps and where thugs watch at the back doors of saloons for boys to assist them in burglaries. It is a place where little girls cannot be surrounded by the moral safeguards as they are in the country. I, myself, do not realize how bad it is because I have become depraved from living in it."

An affidavit was introduced signed by the father of the children, Miles K. Johnson of Leavenworth, Kas., who seven years ago obtained a divorce from the mother on the ground of desertion.

Johnson assailed the character of his wife at the time he was separated from her. While not definitely awarded the children's custody then, he had preferred to intrust them to a Chicago home finding society, which in turn had allotted them to the McMillans at Sparta.

Court Supports the Mother.

"Regardless of what the mother of these children may have been seven years ago, the evidence shows that she has been married again to a good, hard working man," said the judge. "Unless there is proof that she now is of evil reputation I shall not longer reserve my decision."

Miss McMillan was permitted to see the children in the judge's chambers before they were taken by the mother to her apartments at 545 West Van Buren street. The boy and girl embraced and kissed her and sobbed as they left her.

ELOPED IN MEN'S CLOTHES: FORCED TO LIVE AS TRAMP.

Pretty Michigan Girl Taken Into Custody at Portland, Ore., by Detectives, Who Also Arrest Her Companions.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—She met a man at a dance at Lansing, Mich., and eloped with him to Chicago, and from there to Elgin, Ill. From there she traveled in a covered wagon to Boone, Ia., and there she donned men's clothes and traveled to Portland by freight trains. Arriving here she was compelled to live as a man in a filthy hut on the banks of the Willamette river, subsisting by catching fish and selling them, and she was chained up at night to prevent escape. That is a part of the experience of Della Earl of Howell, Mich., a pretty girl, 20 years of age. She was arrested yesterday with the man in the case.

The man who caused the girl so much misery is Frank Allen, 22 years old. He is big and not bad looking.

With Allen and another man the girl was about to start to California in a wagon. Detectives found the girl asleep in the wagon. She was dressed in men's clothes. Allen showed fight, but was overpowered.

"OLD ILLINOIS" REVIVES SPIRIT.

Marked Enthusiasm at Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the Institution.

MANY HONORARY DEGREES

President Harper Reaches Train in an Impressed Automobile.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—A new era has dawned for Illinois college. The closing day of the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration of the institution was marked by a complete understanding between the present administration and the alumni. In a stirring speech at the final session exercises Hugh Wilson of Chicago, former interstate orator of the Illinois college, rallied to its support the blue and white alumni, heretofore indifferent.

Half the seats at the alumni banquet Thursday night were vacant and Alumni day, Wednesday, drew but a small crowd. Today, however, every seat under the expanse of canvas was occupied. Cheer after cheer rang through the audience as Wilson was finishing his address.

Plea for the College.

To President Barnes he said:

"We believe in the college; we believe in you. We know it takes the same courage to maintain the college this year as it did in 1829. The institution is entitled to the support of the whole alumni body. It is not money we want from them, but work. The spirit to fight and work, born of that faith that can move mountains. We want that loyalty that will submerge one's own opinions and command work with the mouth shut. We should go into this battle blindly, see it through, and criticise the commander afterwards. Let it be our college, always and ever our college."

The applause that followed made it evident to President Barnes that local enthusiasm must be cultivated. William Jennings Bryan was not forgotten, even though in late years he has forgotten "Old Illinois." At the mention of his name by Cyrus Northrop, president of the University of Minnesota, as the most distinguished graduate, the applause was intense.

Why Bryan Lost Interest.

Since the affiliation of Illinois college with the University of Chicago Mr. Bryan has lost interest in the institution. Many other alumni, many of whom are southerners, could not be aroused from inherent apathy.

The opposing faction, however, was reconciled by a speech of Benjamin Wisner Bacon of Yale university, in which he referred to President Harper's institution as an upstart. These words, coming from Yale's representative, are significant, as Illinois college was born of the New Haven spirit. The speech has been the subject of much comment.

Yale Men to the Front.

With hardly an exception every speaker on the program was a Yale man. They enthused their audiences with the Yale spirit, such as the founders instilled into the college three-quarters of a century ago.

The occasion was dignified by the presence of the venerable Mrs. Yates, wife of the war governor; the Rev. Julian Sturtevant, son of the first professor in Illinois college; and Gov. Yates, a son of the first graduate.

Mr. Sturtevant, still unreconciled to nonsectarian principles, spoke fervently, alleging dishonesty in representing the policy of the college to D. K. Pearsons of Chicago, a generous donor.

Honorary Degrees Conferred.

President Barnes presented the honorary degree of doctor of laws to William Lowe Bryan, president of the University of Indiana; Benjamin Wisner Bacon, Yale university; Hugo De Vries, University of Amsterdam; William Rainey Harper, University of Chicago; David Starr Jordan, Leland Stanford university; James G. K. McClure, Lake Forest college; Cyrus Northrop, University of Minnesota; William F. Slocum, Colorado college; John Martin Vincent, Johns Hopkins university; Benjamin Ide Wheeler, University of California; and Richard Yates, governor of Illinois.

The degree of master of arts was conferred upon Hugh M. Wilson and Joseph M. Patterson of Chicago.

The memorial gateway in honor of D. K. Pearsons of Chicago was dedicated.

Presidents Harper and Jordan and Prof. de Vries had an exciting chase to catch a special train for St. Louis. Mrs. J. G. Capps, seeing their predicament, seized an automobile belonging to a stranger and drove madly away with the guests.

President Northrop said in his address that Shakspeare and Virgil can do for a student what special training cannot do.

Chicago Banker Released on Bail.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Frank S. Komp of Chicago, who was arrested several weeks ago on the charge of violating the Wisconsin banking laws, while president of the Kenosha Trust company, was released on $2,500 bail this afternoon furnished by Chicago friends. The hearing of the case was continued until the March term of the Circuit court.

SEE PROFIT IN SIGNATURE

CHICAGO BIBLIOPHILES WILL BE GIVEN CHANCE TO BUY.

Six Volumes of President Roosevelt's Works with His Name Inscribed on Fly Leaf Are to Be Sold for the Benefit of the Home for Aged Germans—Figure That the Writing Much Enhances the Value of the Books—Are Given by the Executive.

Chicago bibliophiles soon will be given an opportunity to add six rare volumes to their collection. It is not a fortunate find of an old first edition, nor is there any scarcity of the book itself, as it is only recently issued, but the value comes from a name and a few words of superscription written in a sprawling handwriting upon the flyleaf of each volume. They are autographed by President Roosevelt.

The six valuable books are at the present time in the keeping of Mrs. H. A. Kirchoff, 436 La Salle avenue, and whatever amounts they bring from eager bibliomaniacs will be for the benefit of the Home for Aged Germans. It was at first intended to put the volumes on sale at Mrs. Kirchoff's booth at the bazaar to be given at the Germania club for the benefit of the home, but the probabilities are that they will be taken long before then.

"A Strenuous Life; by Theodore Roosevelt." The books, bound in calf, can be purchased for $2.50 at any bookstore. But much more is not considered too high a price for these six particular volumes, and the inflation is due entirely to the fact that they contain the handwriting of the president of the United States. The superscription in no two of them is exactly alike, and they run like this:

With my good wishes—Theodore Roosevelt—Sept. 19, 1904.

May Figure in Souvenir Booth.

If, by any chance, the books should not be sold before the bazaar, they will repose among souvenir spoons, pictorial postal cards, aluminium ash trays, pin cushions, and newspapers in the souvenir booth. This is to be conducted by the Columbian Damen club, of which Mrs. Kirchoff is the president. In trying to think of something unique in the way of souvenirs she bethought her of autograph books, and she wrote to Mrs. Roosevelt to find out how the president would take a suggestion to send some of his works autographed.

ECZEMA

The World's Greatest Skin Humour.

Affects Every Age and Condition.

The Only Sure Cure is Cuticura.

If there were not another external skin disease known, eczema would be a sufficient infliction on mankind. It pervades all classes, and descends impartially through generations. While some are constantly enveloped in it, others have it confined to small patches in the ears, on the scalp, on the breast, on the palms of the hands, on the limbs, etc., but everywhere its distinctive feature is a small watery blister, which discharges an acrid fluid, causing heat, inflammation, and intense itching, scaling and crusting.

The Cuticura treatment is at once agreeable, speedy, economical and comprehensive. Bathe the affected parts freely with hot water and Cuticura Soap, to cleanse the surface of crusts and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle. Dry without hard rubbing, and apply Cuticura Ointment to allay itching, irritation and inflammation, and soothe and heal, and lastly, take Cuticura Resolvent, or Pills, to cool and cleanse the blood. This treatment affords instant relief, permits rest and sleep in the severest forms of eczema and other itching, burning and scaly humours, and points to a speedy, permanent and economical cure of torturing, disfiguring humours, eczemas, rashes and inflammations, from infancy to age, when all other remedies and the best physicians fail.

Sold throughout the world. Cuticura Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c per vial of 60). Ointment, 50c; Soap, 25c. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors. Send for "How to Cure Eczema."

ROOSEVELT WINS ARKANSAS WHITES

Figures Presented to Refute Democratic Claim That They Oppose Him.

GAINS FROM BEST CLASSES

Returns Show Negroes Do Not Appear to Be Under Obligations to Him.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—An analysis of the votes at the recent state election is an effective argument against one of the campaign fallacies being urged by the democratic spellbinders of the country.

The favorite appeal to race prejudice based on an assumption that the negro of the south feels under unusual obligations to the president and that the whites of the south have been turned against him by reason of this alleged sentiment, falls flat in the face of the official returns in this state, showing a distinct gain to the republican column from the ranks of the whites and a similar loss from the ranks of the blacks.

It is possible to ascertain these facts accurately because of the voting regulation of the state. Poll tax payers only are allowed to vote, and a certified list showing the number of whites and the number of blacks entitled to the franchise is furnished to each election judge.

An expert who has made an exhaustive comparison of these figures with the ballots as cast shows how strongly republican sentiment is growing among the whites and losing ground among the blacks.

How Gains Are Divided.

"In view of the fact that a great deal has been said in the democratic press about President Roosevelt's unpopularity in the south," he says, "attention is called to a statement of the vote cast at the election held this month, and of a statement of qualified voters represented by races.

"That the administration of President Roosevelt has met the approval of the majority of the white voters of the state of Arkansas will be seen at a glance of the following lists, as the republican candidate made all his heavy gains in the counties where there are practically no negroes, or comparatively few, while the heaviest democratic majorities come from the large negro counties, where the republicans were denied all representation among the judges and clerks of election.

Republican Black Gain Small.

"Among the republican gains are the following:

County.	Rep. gain.	Negro vote.	County.	Rep. gain.	Negro vote.
Baxter	255	1	Marion	116	2
Benton	1,520	12	Montgomery	183	55
Boone	535	9	Newton	255	1
Carroll	379	2	Polk	252	14
Clay	372	2	Randolph	934	61
Cleburne	147		Searcy	223	2
Franklin	402	70	Sharp	294	20
Independence	801	107	Stone	224	14
Izard	252	45	Van Buren	147	36
Lawrence	408	197	Washington	863	93
Madison	418	12

Democrats Gain Blacks.

"On the other hand, the heavy democratic majorities were all returned from the negro counties, which are made to appear as having voted almost unanimously for Gov. Davis. These gave the following figures.

County.	Davis' majority.	Whites.	Blacks
Jefferson	1,830	2,554	5,307
Lee	809	1,305	2,207
Lincoln	600	939	1,430
Lonoke	1,364	2,057	1,780
Phillips	1,415	1,869	8,135
Saint Francis	682	1,373	1,717
Woodruff	1,134	1,985	1,308
Monroe	797	1,475	1,351
Chicot	55	520	1,950

Fraud in Poinsett County.

"Poinsett county returned a majority of nearly 1,000 for Davis, but there were ninety-two more votes cast than there were names on the registration list. Fourteen hundred and sixty-two persons had paid their poll tax in that county, and the returns gave Davis 1,261 votes and Myers, republican, 293—total, 1,554 votes returned.

"There can be no doubt but for the fraudulent returns, which indicate that almost the entire negro vote was counted for Davis, the republicans would have carried the state, and unless the same tactics are repeated, which no doubt they will be, President Roosevelt will carry Arkansas in November."

Democratic View of Situation.

On the same subject the Arkansas Democrat of this city publishes some interesting figures, showing how all the republican gains were in white counties and the enormous democratic gains were in the black belt.

The Democrat prints the following analysis of the vote for Davis, democrat, and Myers, republican, for governor at the recent election.

"The fifteen white counties of Baxter, Benton, Boone, Carroll, Cleburne, Fulton, Independence, Madison, Marion, Newton, Randolph, Searcy, Stone, Van Buren, and Washington have a population of 247,754, of whom 4,004 are colored, or less than 2 per cent.

"The eleven counties of Bradley, Calhoun, Cleveland, Columbia, Jefferson, Lee, Mississippi, Phillips, Poinsett, St. Francis, and Woodruff have a total population of 195,699, of whom 115,702 are colored, or 59 per cent.

"In the fifteen white counties Davis lost forty-four votes from his vote of 1902, while Myers gained 6,665, or 4,345 over the total republican vote, counting that cast for Greaves.

"In the eleven negro counties Davis gained 5,133, or nearly 50 per cent, while Myers gained only 833, or 450 over the total republican vote of 1902.

"Davis' plurality in the eleven negro counties was 10,746 more than the total democratic vote in those counties in 1902.

"Davis' plurality over Myers in the fifteen white counties is 1,282, and in the eleven negro counties 10,332.

How the Two Votes Compare.

"The vote in the fifteen white counties in the last two general elections was as follows: 1904, Davis, 15,473; Myers, 14,119. 1902, Davis, 15,517; Myers, 7,526.

"The vote in the eleven black counties was as follows: 1904, Davis, 15,467; Myers, 4,721. 1902, Davis, 10,332; Myers, 3,888.

"In the last democratic state convention the fifteen white counties, with 250,000 white population, had eighty-seven delegates, and the eleven negro counties, with 80,000 white population, had sixty delegates. In the next convention the fifteen counties will have eighty-eight delegates and the eleven counties will have eighty-six."

Onwentsia Club Holds Its First Fox Hunt of the Fall Season.

[From photographs taken for THE TRIBUNE.]

The first fox hunt of the fall season was held at the Onwentsia Country club in Lake Forest yesterday afternoon. Although the "fox" was only an anise seed bag dragged across the ground, the chase did not lack zest, as the hounds followed the trail steadily over the new course, which was tried for the first time.

Two risky jumps were encountered in the run, but all of the hunters, including several young women, took them without any accident, except a fall which L. S. Cunningham underwent at the fence on the Collins farm.

The hunt party included Mrs. E. S. Adams, Mrs. W. W. Tracy, Miss Leslie Farwell, and the Misses Mary and Helen Lord. All were in at the death.

ALL LIES, SAYS SPOONER.

WISCONSIN SENATOR ANGERED BY MAGAZINE ATTACK.

Passes Through Chicago and Declares with Quarles That a Formal Reply Will Be Made to Lincoln Steffens' Article Praising La Follette and Denouncing the "Stalwarts"—Their Answer Is Expected Soon—Says State Is Certain for Roosevelt.

Senator John M. Spooner of Wisconsin was an angry man yesterday. His colleague, Senator Quarles, was not in any too good humor. The cause was the article written by Lincoln Steffens for McClure's Magazine, a condensation of which was published in THE TRIBUNE yesterday. The article spoke highly of Gov. La Follette and passed caustic criticism of his party opponents, including the two senators. Of Senator Spooner Mr. Steffens wrote that he is the beneficiary of "bold bribery," declares he has been a railway lobbyist, and is a product of the system that is fighting Gov. La Follette. There are many other charges of political corruption or worse, and all are credited to the "stalwarts."

"Lies," Says Senator Spooner.

"It is a pack of lies," was what Senator Spooner had to say of the article.

"It is a willful perversion of political history," was the manner in which Senator Quarles expressed himself.

The senators united in the statement that as soon as they could get around to it they would make a public utterance which would give their side of the situation. Until then they did not care to talk at any length on the matter.

Senator Spooner arrived in Chicago in the morning on his way to Madison, and the article in question was called to his attention.

"Yes, I read the review in THE TRIBUNE this morning," said he, "and will get a copy of the magazine at once. I will have a talk with Senator Quarles about the matter and will see what is to be done."

After he had reached Madison and had read the magazine story the senator was called up by telephone and asked further as to the matter. "It is a pack of lies," was his answer.

Will Prepare an Answer.

It was suggested that some of the charges made were serious ones and could hardly go unnoticed, and the senator replied:

"I know they are serious, and they will be answered properly. It will probably be a couple of days, however, before it can be done. When the answer comes, however, it will be conclusive. Just now there is nothing to say."

Senator Quarles, being asked at Milwaukee what he had to say regarding the publication, answered: "Nothing now. In a few days, however, an answer will be made public. I want to consult with Senator Spooner before I say anything, and as yet I have had no chance to talk with him. I will say, however, the article is a willful perversion of political history."

Whether the answer would take the form of a political speech, presumably by Senator Spooner, or a formal statement given to the newspapers was not stated by either senator. The inference, however, was it would be in the latter form. Both of them united in the statement the matter would not be allowed to pass over in silence.

Want Immediate Satisfaction.

It was also practically given out no libel suit would be brought. The two senators are quoted as thinking that is too slow a method of getting the facts before the public. They prefer quicker action.

Speaking of Wisconsin politics while in Chicago Senator Spooner said: "I have never had any doubt but that the electoral vote of Wisconsin would go to President Roosevelt. Both wings of the party are united on that proposition. As to local issues no one can say. The courts will decide on the question of regularity between the factions Sept. 27. That decision will probably be final."

SEEK ANTI-PARKER DEMOCRATS

League to Fight Their Party's Nominee Is Organized and Hard at Work in Chicago.

The Anti-Parker Democratic National league, with the object of enlisting every democrat opposed to the democratic presidential nominee, has just been organized in Chicago. It was announced last night that the league will have branches in every county in the northern states and in a good many of those in the solid south.

Though the promoters say that they are boosting no particular candidate, they admitted that two-thirds of those attracted to their standard would vote for Roosevelt.

The organization until last night had been a secret, although for three days its formers have been busy at the Majestic hotel and have been sending out literature. This literature has chiefly consisted of letters to republican county committees to ascertain the names of disaffected democrats.

These are the officers of the league:

President—A. W. Maxwell, former chairman of the Iowa democratic state committee.

Vice president—Thomas N. Haskins, former member of the Illinois state committee.

Secretary—George P. Locke, former chairman of the Kansas state executive committee.

Treasurer—Michael D. Callahan of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad.

The objects of the league, as outlined by Mr. Locke, are as follows:

To get in touch with every democrat who is opposed to the election of Parker.

To work against the undemocratic element that controlled the St. Louis convention.

To reorganize the democratic party so that it will be in a position to elect a democratic candidate when one of democratic principles is nominated four years hence.

It was said last night that the names of 10,000 disaffected democrats had already been secured.

VOTERS WARM TO DENEEN, WHO CLOSES HARD WEEK.

Candidate for Governor Invades Northern Illinois and Evokes Enthusiasm of Town and Country Folk.

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Charles S. Deneen opened his campaign in northern Illinois today, ending with a meeting tonight in Aurora which drew delegations from neighboring towns in Kane county. Delegations came from Elgin, St. Charles, Dundee, Geneva, Batavia, Sugar Grove, Yorkville, Kendall county, Oswego, and Montgomery.

It was a trying day at the close of a trying week, but Mr. Deneen's robust constitution enabled him to pull through near eight hours' continuous railroad travel preceding his two meetings, one in Will county and the other in Kane.

At both he was met by large crowds, his audiences having been gathered from the surrounding country. His night meeting was held in the Coliseum here, where both attendance and enthusiasm overflowed the hall.

Both meetings today were a strain on the candidate. At Plainfield the crowd was gathered in an amusement park and Mr. Deneen spoke against a shooting gallery, a merry-go-round, and a half dozen other varieties of amusements. In spite of this he made his voice carry and was heard by all. His discussion of national questions pleased his audience with its concisenes and logic, and his plea for a primary law delighted them.

After the meeting Col. Lambert handed the candidate over to Mayor John M. Raymond of Aurora. He was allowed two hours' rest and then had dinner with the Kane county leaders. Senator A. J. Hopkins came to town to assist at the meeting.

After dinner the evening affair was started off with a procession to the Coliseum. When Senator Hopkins had spoken Mr. Deneen began his speech and entered upon an exposition of foreign policies.

Haymarket Square Owners Must Pay.

Judge Brentano yesterday held that the widening of Haymarket square was a local improvement and the cost must be met by an assessment on the abutting property. The owners had raised the plea that it was so much of a public benefit the city should meet at least half of the cost.

LONE ROBBER MAKES HAUL BY TERRORIZING CLERKS.

Marches Them to Toilet Room and Ties Them Up in San Francisco, Getting $4,400.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 23.—Compelling two clerks to go into a room at the point of a revolver to be made prisoners, a masked man today took a suit case containing $4,400 and records and papers belonging to the Central grain and stock exchange at 20 Liedesdorff street, and then made his escape.

F. J. Flynn and H. T. Pearny are clerks employed by the exchange, and they were carrying the suit case containing the gold, silver, and paper into the office through a passageway in the rear of the office when they were confronted by the robber. His revolver caused them to obey his commands. The thief showed perfect familiarity with the premises.

It is customary for these two clerks to carry the suit case to the safe deposit department of the Union Trust company, Market and Montgomery streets, every night and return in the morning.

"March with that suit case to that step half way down the hall there," ordered the robber. On arriving there the clerks were instructed to drop the suit case and then move forward. They were forced to go into a toilet room, and the robber took a piece of cord and tied their hands to a hook which had been made in the brick wall.

With the clerks tied in the room, the robber took the suit case and departed. The two clerks released themselves after some trouble.

STRINGER ADVOCATES CHARTER

Democratic Candidate for Governor Tells Voters of State to Support the Chicago Measure.

Paris, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Lawrence B. Stringer, democratic candidate for governor, addressed an audience of 300 at the Circuit courtroom in this city today. He confined himself almost wholly to state issues, and strongly condemned the present management of state institutions. He commended the Chicago charter amendment as worthy of support of all voters, and expressed himself in favor of a uniform primary law, a merit civil service law, and a better accounting system for the state. An informal reception was held at the Paris hotel following the address.

PUTS IN WORD FOR CHARTER.

L. Y. Sherman Tells Harvard, Ill., Audience It Will Benefit the Whole State.

Harvard, Ill., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The opera house, the largest meeting place in this city, was packed tonight by voters to hear L. Y. Sherman. The democratic party, he said, was without a platform and was running on a telegram for a platform.

He devoted considerable time to an explanation of the Chicago charter.

He said it should be supported not only as a benefit to Chicago but also for the people of the state, as one-half the time of the state legislature is now devoted to Chicago bills.

FIND ENTHUSIASM EAST AND WEST.

Senator Fairbanks and Secretary Shaw Tell Republican Managers of Tours.

HAVE CROWDED MEETINGS

Legislative League Issues Another Statement on Conditions in Districts.

Cheering reports from the east and west were brought to republican national headquarters yesterday by Senator Fairbanks and Secretary Leslie M. Shaw.

Senator Fairbanks has been speaking in the eastern states, and he said concerning his trip:

"It has been a most delightful experience. We had good meetings everywhere, and in West Virginia especially the meetings were well attended, and I could see that there was much enthusiasm among the republicans. In Baltimore the hall was filled, and I am told that there was a great crowd on the outside unable to get in."

Starts on a Long Tour.

Last night at 10:30 the senator left on his special train for La Crosse, Wis., where he will make the first of the seventy-eight speeches he is scheduled to make on his trip to the Pacific coast and back. He will have fourteen days in which to speak, and will go out over the Northern Pacific railway via St. Paul, returning by the southern route to Omaha. Senator Dolliver will be the only other speaker to accompany Senator Fairbanks.

Secretary Shaw's contribution to the good cheer was that every one is enthusiastically republican in the west.

"I have had a most successful and satisfactory trip," he said. "The meetings were well attended everywhere, and I found no lack of enthusiasm on the part of republicans."

Secretary Shaw left early in the afternoon for Elkhart, Ind., where he spoke last night. On Monday night he will speak at the gathering of the state republican clubs at East St. Louis. Tuesday he will address a meeting of students of the Northwestern university.

German-American Parker Clubs.

More than thirty German-American Parker clubs have been formed in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana by the democratic national committee during the last week. It is estimated that there are 650,000 German-American voters in these three states, and it is the intention to reach every one of these voters through the clubs.

Lawrence Stringer's Schedule.

The schedule for the speeches of Lawrence Stringer for next week is as follows:

Monday—Barbecue at the Chutes, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue.
Tuesday—Benton, Franklin county.
Wednesday—McLeansboro.
Thursday afternoon—Robinson.
Thursday evening—Newton.
Friday afternoon—Effingham.
Friday evening—Vandalia.
Saturday—El Paso.

Statement by Legislative League.

George E. Cole issued another statement spurring the voters to activity in the legislative campaign. He says that in the redistricting of the state into fifty-one senatorial districts by the last legislature the nineteen districts in Cook county were outrageously gerrymandered.

"It was made up in such a way that five districts were made overwhelmingly democratic, and fourteen were supposed to be sure republican," he said. "Any one at all familiar with the situation will discover that in this subdivision every important leader who controlled any number of delegates was so represented that he could name at least one legislator. The condition in Cook county practically held in the state at large."

The league hopes to recommend to the voters at least one candidate other than the democratic and republican nominees in every district of Cook county.

Notes of the Campaign.

Edwin F. Walker, the prohibition candidate for state representative from the Sixth district, is making an active campaign, especially in Evanston, where he lives.

Gov. Van Sant of Minnesota spoke last night at a republican meeting at Chicago Heights.

The Roosevelt and Deneen clubs of the Sixth and Seventh wards will hold regular meetings at the Union restaurant, instead of at the Sherman house, as formerly.

Platform of Donnersberger Club.

The Nonpartisan Donnersberger club, organized by real estate dealers to secure the election of Joseph Donnersberger, the democratic candidate, who is running against F. D. Meacham for member of the board of review, made public a statement of its platform. Besides desiring to have a practical real estate man on the board, the club is trying to secure an amendment to the law, requiring the board of review to be in session every day in the year.

Maywood Will Open New Buildings.

Maywood's new fire department and water works buildings will be opened this afternoon and evening. Mayor Nichols, Architect Thompson, and members of the board of trustees will speak at a public banquet. The new plant when completed will have cost $11,000.

EGAN AND LYON MEET IN FINALS.

Chicago and Toronto Players Survive in Olympic Golf Championship.

DECIDING GAME TODAY.

Canadian Has Hard Contest with Newton, Winning 1 Up—McKinnie Is Beaten.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 23.—Finals tomorrow for the Olympian golf championship will be contested in real international style by United States Gold Association Champion H. Chandler Egan of Exmoor and George S. Lyon of Toronto, Ont.

Each won his match today in the semi-final round. Egan defeated B. P. McKinnie, St. Louis champion, 4 up, 3 to play, but it was not until the last putt was holed on the thirty-sixth green that the Canadian ex-champion eliminated from the tourney F. C. Newton of Seattle, Wash. Battling hard for two rounds, victory appearing to rest first with the Pacific coast man and then with his veteran rival, Newton had to succumb to hard luck and lost, 1 down.

Galleries Are Large.

Everything was favorable for a day of strenuous golf. The galleries that followed the matches were large and enthusiastic, and the predictions of the experts that the possession of the massive Olympian cup and big gold medal would be fought for by the American and the Canadian were fulfilled. Better golf than that put up in the semi-finals could not be asked.

After a most interesting morning battle the Canadian had a lead of one hole. Only one stroke in medal play separated them. At the fifth hole Newton was 2 up, but at the twelfth hole Lyon was 3 up. A burst of wonderful playing brought Newton to the end of the first eighteen holes only one down.

The Canadian took the nineteenth hole, but at the twenty-first hole the match was square. Three putts on the twenty-third green lost that hole to Newton, but he won the twenty-fourth, while Lyon took the twenty-sixth. The twenty-seventh was halved in 2.

Hole Halved in Two.

Not in years has a gallery seen such play as the men displayed on the twenty-seventh green. Each drove the green, Newton being away. Judging the hill nicely Newton holed the putt. Not to be outdone by his Seattle rival, whose twenty foot putt was a wonder, Mr. Lyon negotiated his putt from sixteen feet.

The match was all square at this point. Newton took the twenty-eighth hole, but lost the thirty-first by going into the ditch. Poor putting lost him the next, using four strokes on the green. Lyon lost the thirty-third, but won the thirty-fourth, and the thirty-fifth was halved. Almost holding his approach Newton had to be satisfied with a half at the thirty-sixth green and the Canadian earned the right to play in the finals, 1 up.

Cards were as follows:

Morning:
Lyon, out.....4 5 4 5 6 3 5 4 3—39
Newton, out...4 5 4 4 5 4 6 5 3—40
Lyon, in.....4 5 4 5 4 5 5 5 4—41—80
Newton, in....5 5 5 5 3 6 4 4 4—41—81
Afternoon:
Lyon, out.....4 6 4 3 7 4 5 5 2—40
Newton, out...5 5 3 4 6 4 5 5 2—39
Lyon, in......5 4 4 3 4 5 4 5 4—38—78—158
Newton, in....4 4 4 6 5 4 5 5 4—41—80—161

National Champion H. C. Egan had a lead of two holes at the ninth on B. P. McKinnie, the St. Louis champion. Playing in his old form at times, the Exmoor golfing wizard seemed to have victory in sight, although, at times, McKinnie's short game was marvelously accurate.

Egan Increases Lead.

Egan increased his lead to four up on McKinnie at the tenth green, but when the pair concluded the morning play the champion had only one hole the advantage of McKinnie. The latter made several long putts, negotiated a partial stymie at the sixteenth green, and gave Egan a severe fight.

Getting into great trouble at the tenth, McKinnie did not play out. Overapproaching cost him the tenth, but he won the twelfth, thirteenth, and sixteenth holes and wound up the morning by capturing the eighteenth hole. Egan played poorly at the latter, sending his approach putt nine feet beyond the cup, while McKinnie was within a yard. Missing his putt, Egan laid McKinnie a half stymie, but the Mound City champion holed and won four to five.

In the afternoon, when the semi-final was resumed, a strong gale swept the links, making conditions extremely difficult for Egan, who has become careless of his play.

Victory for Egan.

A big gallery followed the play. Egan lost the nineteenth hole and squared the match. However, he soon pulled away from his opponent, taking the twenty-first, twenty-fourth, twenty-sixth, twenty-seventh, twenty-eighth, and thirty-first holes, making him dormie 5, losing the thirty-second and halving the thirty-third he won 4 up 3 to play. McKinnie never had a lead on his rival from the start to the finish of the match. Egan declared after it was over that he was satisfied with his own play for the first time in the tourney.

Notes of the Golfers.

Miss Lillian French yesterday won the women's championship of the Windsor Country club, defeating Miss Laura Hassenstine in the final match, 6 up and 5 to play. In the semi-finals Miss French defeated Mrs. W. T. Harvey, 9 up and 8 to play, and Miss Hassenstine defeated Mrs. E. Martin, 3 up, 2 to play. A. G. Fitch, with an allowance of 6, won the Windsor cup, defeating J. C. Burkhart, who had an allowance of 3, 4 up, 3 to play.

Semi-finals in the women's championship at Edgewater resulted as follows: Championship—Mrs. F. E. Donohoe defeated Miss E. Loesch, 4 up, 3 to play; Mrs. E. C. Berriman defeated Miss Jane Durell, 6 up, 5 to play. Consolation cup—Mrs. E. N. Lapham defeated Mrs. W. C. Miller, 4 up, 3 to play. Miss A. Smith defeated Mrs. F. P. Schmitt Jr., 1 up, 19 holes.

STIFT OUT IN TWO ROUNDS.

O'Brien Knocks Out Chicagoan Early in Battle at Baltimore with a Right on the Jaw.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—"Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien won a decisive victory over Billy Stift of Chicago tonight at the Eureka Athletic club. The contest was scheduled to go fifteen rounds, but the westerner proved himself no match for the Quaker City lad and was knocked out in the second round.

O'Brien was in good shape and quick as lightning, while Stift was beefy and clumsy. Little was done in the first round, but in the second O'Brien waded in. After fiddling for a moment O'Brien swung his left to Stift's face and hooked his right to the jaw, dazing Stift. Jack followed up his advantage and put rights and lefts to the face, sending Stift to the floor.

Stift got up on the count of nine, but was sent down again with a left to the body and a right to the jaw. He arose groggy and O'Brien ended matters by sending him down and out with a hard right to the jaw.

Boxing Season Opens in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 23.—The boxing season in Milwaukee was opened tonight under the auspices of the Milwaukee Boxing club. The feature was the contest between Maurice Sayers of Milwaukee and Willie Mack of Brooklyn, at 130 pounds, Sayers getting a close decision. In the preliminary bouts Harry Thomas of Milwaukee and Jack Asher of Chicago were each put out in the second round by Barney Cinnamon and Young Edwards, respectively, both of Milwaukee. Jack Nolan of Milwaukee beat "Battling" Dempsey. In the semi-windup Jack Beauscholts of Chicago defeated "Young" Mahoney of Racine. A match was announced tonight to take place before the Badger Athletic club of this city between Tommy Burns of Milwaukee and "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien.

Police Stop Quaker City Bout.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 23.—Charlie Hitte of Albany and Jack Blackburn of this city fought tonight at the Manhattan Athletic club. Hitte was outclassed, and in the third round the police stopped the bout.

Flynn Again After Gardner.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Flynn of Pueblo, who fought a draw with George Gardner of Lowell, Mass., wants to again fight the easterner at Butte.

Secretary A. A. Grimes has received no less than ninety entries who have been handicapped from scratch up to 24. Forty players will qualify, sixteen in the first flight and three flights of eight each. A silver loving cup will go to the winner of the first flight and golf sets, caddy bags, balls, and clubs will be awarded to the winners in the various flights. Supt. John W. Glen View golfers will today compete in their annual match in which the Evanston members play the Chicago members. Clyde M. Carr will captain the Evanston team and Angus S. Hibbard will be in charge of the Chicago players. The winners will dine the losers. Chairman H. B. Clow of the sports and pastimes committee expects a large entry list for the fall open tournament of the club, which will start next Wednesday.

Trigg Waller, who has succeeded J. E. G. Ryan as chairman of the sports and pastimes committee at the Exmoor club, announces a novel event for this afternoon. It will be an eighteen hole medal play handicap, in which each player will have to deposit some kind of a prize, sufficiently wrapped up to hide its character, at the tee. The lowest scores will have first choice at the mysterious parcels.

Events scheduled at other clubs today are as follows:

Evanston—Second round for Members' cup.
Midlothian—Mixed foursome handicap.

BOWLS 289 IN LEAGUE GAME.

Hengst of the Clybourns Breaks Lake View Record of Ten Years' Standing.

Fred Hengst, bowling with the Clybourns in a Lake View league contest last night at Schmitt's, rolled a score of 289 in his third game. The total not alone breaks the present season's record for high game in the city, but sets a new figure for high game in the ten years the Lake View league has been running. Hengst made ten straight strikes, and left up the No. 10 pin on a perfect hit on his eleventh shot. He has bowled with the Clybourns for two years, his work last night being his best to date, however. His average for the series brought him 206 1-3. In spite of his big work his team was able to win only that game, the other two being captured by the visiting Schotts.

In another series in the same league last night the Sterns were defeated by the Perfectos by two out of three games, winning their only victory by one pin, 823 to 822.

Senators in the Southwest league set a new season's mark for three games against the Ruehls by averaging 968 2-3, with 1,037 for high game. They won three easy games. Brummel averaged 213 flat for his series, leading off for the victors.

In the Sheridan league the Gunthers started out their season by losing their first game to the Imperials by three pins, coming back hard in the other two games and winning with ease. No big individual performances were recorded. In the other series the Buenas won three games from the Ezones. Score in the Southwest league game:

YOST'S TEAM WORKING HARD.

Michigan Eleven Given Strenuous Practice at Whitemore Lake and Men Are Developing Good Form.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The hardest two hours' practice yet given the Michigan eleven took place at Whitemore Lake this afternoon. To develop quickness of eye, speed on the charge, and to take the lameness out of his men, Yost gave his style of charging practice. The team was placed in two long opposing lines. When Yost snapped the ball the men butted against each other with great force. Then followed a series of wrestling tricks, limited by football holding rules. Yost looked on and gave advice about how to upset the opposing line man. Michigan's last practice at Whitemore Lake will take place Saturday morning. Yost says he is worried because the reports of Michigan's prospects are too rosy.

Acting under this fear of overconfidence, he has ordered extra hard work and will bring the men in from camp by train tomorrow in time for another practice in Ann Arbor in the afternoon.

Yale Tackle Is Injured.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Charley Lawrence, Yale's best substitute tackle, had his knee dislocated during this afternoon's practice and will be out of the game three weeks. He was tackling Half Back John Stevenson of Chicago and went down at the bottom of a scrimmage. Yale had a fifteen minute lineup, in which the wing shifts inaugurated yesterday formed a leading part, proving that these will be conspicuous in Yale's policy this fall. Jack Owsley of Chicago has been permanently transferred from half to quarter back.

Football at Parkside.

The Hyde Park Grays-Wanderers match in the Chicago Football association series, to be played tomorrow afternoon, has been changed to Parkside.

Pullman Cricketers Forfeit.

The postponed game in the Chicago Cricket association championship between the Pullman and Douglas Park teams, set by the association to be played this afternoon at Fifty-second street and Calumet avenue, has been forfeited by Pullman. The extra match between the Wanderers and Douglas Park team to settle their tie for the championship will be played next Saturday afternoon at the Douglas Park grounds.

Tennis Match at Kenwood.

The Wanderers tennis team will play at the Kenwood Country club this afternoon in the Chicago Tennis association championship series.

COLTS DEFEATED BY THE SUPERBAS

Hanlon's Team Trims Selee's Men by a Close Score of 3 to 2.

JONES PITCHES WELL.

Home Twirler Has Better of Argument with Weimer—Two Games Today.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Selee's Colts met with further disaster this afternoon in their opening game with the Brooklyn team. They fell back into third place as a result of their defeat by a score of 3 to 2 and the victory of the Pirates over the Giants.

Weimer and Jones were the opposing twirlers in the engagement, and it proved a close contest, with Jones winning out by a small margin, as the hits were six and five and Weimer hit one batter and gave two bases, while Jones issued two passes. The game was played before one of the smallest crowds of the year, barely 500 people being on hand to watch the encounter.

After Bergen had gone out in the third round Weimer hit Jordan, giving life to the first of the local men. Jones fanned, and Dillon caught the ball for a two base hit into right field, on which Jordan managed to score, as he had stolen second. Gessler then waited for his base and Lumley poked a Texas leaguer into short left, bringing Dillon over the plate, and Gessler and Lumley moved up on a short throw to the plate by Shulte.

The next two innings were without results, but in the sixth Lumley worked Weimer for a pass, and Sheckard came along with another of those two base smashes, and Lumley lost no time in getting home. Babb sacrificed Sheckard to third, but Batch, the new third baseman for the Superbas, lifted a fly to McChesney, and when Sheckard tried to register on it he was an easy victim at the plate.

Up to this time the visitors did but little, as Jones had allowed them only one hit and that was of the scratchy order. In the seventh there was just enough fireworks to remind the fans of the good old summer time, but not enough to do any damage. Casey did nothing. Chance got a base on balls, but Barry accommodated Jones with an easy grounder. Tinker, however, sent the ball on a long journey over Sheckard's head and reached third, while Chance brought home the first run. McChesney then poked a short fly back of second that Babb, Jordan, and Gessler all tried for, but each was afraid of the other, and McChesney walked over to second, while they were saying things to each other, and Tinker scored. This was all the disturbance the Colts were able to cause. Score:

WILL MEET MACK'S TEAM.

WHITE STOCKINGS AND ATHLETICS PLAY THIS AFTERNOON.

Philadelphia Nine Hopes to Climb Into Third Place by Winning the Series of Three Straight Games from Chicago—Games for Remainder of Season Will Be Called at 3 O'Clock—Catcher Heydon Is Expected to Report for Duty Today.

The White Stockings will resume their battle for American league honors today, weather permitting, after a two days' respite from the grueling pace. Their opponents this afternoon will be the Athletics, whom Manager Mack brought here from Philadelphia yesterday. By taking the series of three straight from Chicago, the Athletics could climb into third place, and that is what Mack says they must do.

The redoubtable "Rube" did not arrive with the rest, as he has been given a brief layoff to nurse a lame shoulder, promising to rejoin the club here. A peremptory order was wired Waddell yesterday to be on hand today. Plank will pitch today, probably against Patterson. Beginning today the games for the rest of the season will be called at 3 o'clock on account of the early hour at which darkness arrives.

Catcher Heydon, whom Comiskey secured from Indianapolis in exchange for George Magoon, is expected to report today. According to the wires he took part in Thursday's game at Attica with the White Sox, but it was discovered that this was a little masquerade party personally conducted by Secretary Fredericks of the White Sox. Only eight players made the trip, consequently it was necessary for the man who counts the money to play right field, Green covering second base.

For fear of attracting so much renown that Comiskey might receive tempting offers for his release, Fredericks played under the name of Heydon. The inhabitants of Attica apparently read the papers, for they began shouting at the new right fielder before the game was half over and the tenor of their chorus was, "O, you'll go back to Indianapolis, all right, all right." This in face of the fact that he was credited with a home run.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—Cleveland and New York played a tie game today, darkness putting an end to the contest at the end of the ninth inning. Rossman had four chances to win the game, but failed, three times with the bases filled. Powell gave five bases on balls, purposely to Flick and Lajoie. Score:

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—Another game that should have gone to the credit of the locals was lost by Pitcher Mullin. His error in the first inning gave a run, and two bases on balls later let in two more. The hitting of the locals was more timely than that of Boston. Raymond pitched fine ball for Detroit in the last three innings. Score:

Arrest Police at Ball Game.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Ten special policemen, who do duty at the Cleveland baseball park, were disagreeably surprised today when they were placed under arrest by one of the regulars, who marched them to the central station. As a result, the players had to get along without any guardians of the peace to help enforce the umpire's orders. Sheridan being in that rôle instead of Silk O'Loughlin, however, no police were needed. The arrest of the specials is the climax of a fight made by Chief of Police Kohler against the specials wearing the same uniforms as the regulars.

Armour to Manage Detroit Club.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The owners of the Detroit baseball club have decided on W. A. Armour, former manager of the Cleveland club, as the man to handle the local team next season. A coincidence connected with his appointment is the fact that Armour played under Ed Barrow, whom he succeeds, when the latter managed the Paterson club some years ago.

HECHT AGAINST THE RUNNERS.

Local Man Refuses to Sell Tract of Land to the Libertyville Trotting Association.

Ernst Hecht of Chicago, who has a large farm at Libertyville, has refused to sell part of it to the Libertyville Trotting association, as he promised, because he says the organization refuses to incorporate a clause in the deed agreeing never to hold a running meeting on the new track. As a result the society is unable to obtain a tract it had counted on to be part of the new racecourse. Hecht wants it settled that there will be no gambling establishment there by his ruling out running meetings.

Trotting Matinees Today.

Trotting matinées will be held at Garfield park and Austin today. At the former track a match race is on between Mrs. W. Rieboldt's Carl C. and Mrs. J. W. Adland's Gertie V. Wilkes. The preparatory race for the Powers cup will also be pulled off. There are eighteen entries for this event, and the other feature will be a novelty race for members' horses. At the Austin track three races are scheduled—the 2:20 pace, 2:40 trot, and 2.25 mixed class, in which a dozen horses are entered. No races will be held at Washington park.

DON DOMO QUITS BADLY AT HARLEM

After Being in the Lead the Gray Stops Almost to a Walk.

WOODS PERRY IS FIRST.

Beats Bombardier and William Wright in Mile Event; Loretta M. Wins.

If any doubt remained as to Don Domo's ability to quit quicker than any horse racing at the local tracks it was removed yesterday when the gray stopped almost to a walk in the fifth event at Harlem.

Don went to the front flying as usual and quickly opened a gap of about ten lengths. He was cocked and primed to go the route, it was said, but when he reached the head of the stretch he threw out signals of distress and died away. Nannie Hodge then took up the running, but Lannan carried her wide, thereby losing several lengths, enough to beat her, as Lord Dixon, one of the 2 year olds, was taken close to the rail by Knapp and won the race. Nannie was second and Red Raven ran third.

Turney Bros.' gelding, Woods Perry, took the measure of Bombardier and William Wright in the mile race. Nicol took him to the front at the first turn, secured a lead of several lengths on the back stretch, after which he had matters his own way. Bombardier had his usual run of bad luck. He was cut off on the first turn, after which he was handled none too well. He was good enough, however, to beat William Wright, which was touted a good thing.

Loretta M. showed some of her early spring form in the five furlong dash, for which Belle Kinney was a top heavy favorite. Kinney had the early speed of the party, but fagged it when the crucial test came, and finished outside of the money. Loretta M. came fast through the straight, and easily stalled off Moorish Damsel's rush in the last sixteenth.

The tightest fit of the day came up in the first race, in which Lieut. Rice got up just in time to nip Maxnar on the post by a head.

Today will signal the closing of the big tracks closest to Chicago, the meeting at Worth alone remaining.

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 23.—Before a crowd of 10,000 persons Prince Alert today established a new half mile track record by pacing a mile in 2:03½ without a wind shield at the Allentown fair races. Conditions today were perfect for fast time. The great pacer was driven by Jack Curry and was paced by a running horse. Prince Alert got away to a good start and went the mile beautifully and without a skip. The big crowd became enthusiastic when the figure 2:03½ was put up.

Notes of the Track.

Ed Corrigan will dispose of eighteen of his horses at the Harlem paddock today.

Ed Bradley's horses, among them Bad News, will arrive at Worth today. Hugh McCarren arrived yesterday with twelve.

J. J. McCafferty, who was thrown by Thane on Thursday and removed to the Garfield Park sanitarium, was reported much better yesterday.

The Prairie State stakes, one of this afternoon's features, was founded in 1897, when T. Burns won on Charlie Christy. The field of seven carded for this afternoon's race will be running for $2,595.

Trainer W. Phillips has taken English Lad and the 2 year old colt Before to Louisville, where they will be turned out of training. He says the crack 3 year old will go into winter quarters thoroughly sound.

Two stake races and the last steeplechase of the local season mark the windup at Harlem park today. Of the two stake events the Prairie State is the older, but the Forward, at seven furlongs for 2 year olds, is the more classy. Last year English Lad gave Tokalon thirteen pounds and ran over her in the race for the Forward. Other winners have been Gregor K., Bessie Spahr, and Jolly Roger. Bessie Spahr's time, 1:26 3-5, is the record. The stake's value will be $2,560.

TWO LOCAL GAMES TODAY

NORTHWESTERN AND CHICAGO BOTH HAVE FOOTBALL MATCHES.

McCornack's Men Are to Get Into the First Real Action of the Season, Meeting the Soldier Boys from Fort Sheridan—Separate Team Each Half—Stagg's Warriors to Clash with Lawrence Eleven at Marshall Field, and Good Tryout Is Expected.

Football Games Today.

Chicago and Lawrence at Marshall field.
Northwestern and Fort Sheridan at Evanston.
Purdue and Englewood High, Lafayette.
Minnesota and South Dakota, Minneapolis.
Iowa and Coe, Iowa City.
Indiana and Alumni, Bloomington.
Nebraska and Grand Island college, Lincoln.
Princeton vs. Dickinson.
University of Pennsylvania vs. Pennsylvania State college.
Columbia vs. Union.

This afternoon McCornack's aspirants for football honors at Northwestern will go into their first contest of the season with the utmost confidence of defeating their opponents, the team from the Twenty-seventh infantry at Fort Sheridan, by a good round score. The little Dartmouth man has never been an advocate of high scores in early season practice games, but it is probable the soldiers, although they are said to have four old West Point stars in their lineup, will be beaten by at least three or four touchdowns.

The team which will oppose the boys in blue when they line up at 3:30 will be what is known as Johnson's team, because the little Carlisle quarter directs its plays. The backs will be Colton, Moon, Haans, Williams, Vance, and Simpson. In the line the men will be Ward, Farrell, Carlson, Byers, Allen; the ends will be Shauver and Thayer. This team will play the first half and then the other squad, which is considered to be almost as strong, will finish the game. From end to end, the lineup of this team will be: McPherrin, Cowden, Hunter, Davis or McGranahan, Jenkins, Bullock, Weinberger. Turner will act as quarter for a time at least, with Flanders substituting for either him or Johnson. In the backfield the players are to be Reuber, Van Ryper, Blair, Hanson, Gilbreth, and King.

Hunter, at guard instead of at half, is showing up well. Shoch, the old 1900 man, who seemed a likely candidate, will probably leave school. This makes necessary the moving of Hunter to guard.

Maroons to Play Lawrence.

The fast and scrappy football team from Lawrence university, coached by "Deacon" Koehler, a former maroon player, will meet Coach Stagg's youngsters at Marshall field this afternoon. Inasmuch as the small college retained eight of last year's veterans, it seems likely the maroons will receive more than a good tryout.

Koehler says that though his protégés are light he never met a better team of fighters, and that he confidently expects them to advance the ball against the lineup presented by Stagg. Last year the maroons were able to roll up 21 points.

Catlin and Ed Hill will not be able to get into the game.

The teams will line up in today's game as follows:

Chicago.		Lawrence.
L. E.	Yates	Aller	L. E.
L. T.	Terry	Ballantyne	L. T.
L. G.	B. Hill	Church	L. G.
C.	Gale	Sherger	C.
R. G.	Russell	Wingender	R. G.
R. T.	Badenoch	Walters	R. T.
R. E.	Shorts	Stephenson	R. E.
Q.	L. Maxwell	Gochnauer	Q.
L. H. B.	Mabin	Carson	L. H. B.
R. H. B.	Hitchcock	Roesch	R. H. B.
Full	Larson	Weston	Full

An entirely new lineup will go in the second half for Chicago.

Hyde Park to Play Windemeres.

Hyde Park will play its first game of the preparatory school season today with the Windemeres, a team composed almost entirely of old Hyde Park players. Capt. Harris of Hyde Park will try to give the whole squad a chance to get in the game, which is to be played at Washington park. The hopes of the Hyde Park rooters has been raised by the work of two of the new men. One of them, Carruthers, is an old Armour line man. The other, Peek, is a new man in the local schools, but has had experience in a Kankakee school.

SECRET PRACTICE AT MADISON.

First Scrimmage Is Held Behind Closed Gates and No Scoring Is Done in Twelve Minutes.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's first scrimmage today was behind closed gates and was reported to be only fairly satisfactory. The scrimmage lasted twelve minutes without a score, although one touchdown was made by the first team, but not allowed. Bertke, who returned yesterday, did not get into the lineup. Brindley, a substitute tackle for two years, was out today for the first time.

The lineup of the first team was: Remp, center; Stromquist and Hunt, guards; Don Ovan and Conville, tackles; Capt. Bush and Findlay, ends; Jones and Kuhmstead, quarter; Grogan and Vanderboom, halves; and Clark, full back.

The practice tomorrow will be secret, but it is said that this arrangement is not to be permanent, the management considering itself unable to keep the spectators off the playing field until the football bleachers are moved back into place and a fence erected.

Osborne Hurt at Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Osborne, one of the most promising candidates for the varsity eleven, was severely injured in the practice this afternoon while indulging in "breaking through" scrimmage work. He wrenched his right shoulder, and it is doubtful if he plays again this season. He hails from Oxford university, England, and was looked on as splendid material for a line berth. Ray Oveson of St. Louis, substitute tackle for two years, joined the squad today, as did also Means of the 1906 freshman team. Coach Wrightington is working new formations from a triangular back field, and the backs are getting away fast. "Phil" Mills is being worked out at left tackle on the second team, and it is now almost certain he will be kept on the line this fall. He was a substitute tackle on Campbell's eleven in 1901.

Harris Joins Minnesota Squad.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Harris, the veteran quarter back, will join the Minnesota squad at once, provided the work will not conflict with his studies. Harris is conceded to be the best quarter back who has ever played in the Minnesota team. He runs the team with speed and precision, besides being a punter of no mean ability. Stensbad, a new man with something of a prep school reputation, made his initial appearance today and created a favorable impression as end on the second team.

Harvester Team to Play at Hammond.

The International Harvester football team will play the Iroquois Athletic association of Hammond, Ind., today. The game will be played on Harrison field at Hammond.

WOMEN IN DEMAND FOR OFFICE WORK

Increase in Call for Trained Employes Reported by Exchange Head.

ASK NOW FOR "BRAINS."

Miss Cleveland Says Girls Have Become a Big Factor in Business Life.

The "office girl" is being superseded by the "business woman." The demand for femininity for office work constantly is increasing and the field of work continually is broadening. The thoroughly trained business woman is becoming a more important factor in the struggle to make money.

These are the conclusions reached by Miss Matas B. Cleveland, manager of the Business Woman's exchange, from a study of the employment conditions obtaining in Chicago's downtown district.

Miss Cleveland has found from observation and from actual demands made upon the exchange that the working woman has ceased to be the "manikin" and has become a part of the office "brains." No longer do employers seek for feminine machines to do daily work with the precision that the hands of a clock measure the hours. Their demand is for women capable of independent thought, intellectually equipped to perform more than routine "tasks," and trained to enter into the business organization with an understanding of its mechanism.

Women Are Displacing the Men.

Other conclusions have been drawn by the officers of the exchange. They declare that investigations show that women are displacing men in many large downtown offices where a big business is transacted. This means, they say, that more men are idle this year than there were last year, or that men have been forced out of the offices into other lines of work. Inquiries made at some of the employment bureaus proved that in a measure both of these contentions are true. There is an increased number of idle men. The proportion of male clerks and office employés in the loop district has greatly decreased during the last three years.

Miss Cleveland declared that statistics collected by her show the demand for women for high grade office work has increased 25 per cent during the last three years.

Demand Is for Trained Women.

"The most noticeable increase," she said, "is for women equipped with a thorough business training. The majority of employers do not want 'office girls' so much as they desire intelligent women thoroughly conversant with all the details of their business. In a surprisingly large number of downtown offices there are women employed who are trusted with a knowledge of all the details of their employer's affairs. In some cases they frequently are consulted in matters requiring business judgment. Women rapidly are coming to the front as department managers and as secretaries to business men.

"Generally speaking, women are doing a higher class of office work today than ever before, and the demand for this grade of female help continually is growing."

Outline Advantages of Women.

The advantages of the woman office employé are set forth as follows:

She keeps the confidences of her employers more faithfully and is less inclined to discuss his affairs and the details of his business outside of office hours than is the man employé.

Her work is more neat in appearance.

Her habits are more regular. She does not spend her evenings in dissipation, and consequently invariably is at her desk on time. She rarely is absent from the office, illness being the only excuse which she recognizes as legitimate.

She appears not to have any relatives to bury.

She is less noisy around the office and is not constantly calling up her "best girl."

Willing to Work When Necessary.

Miss Cleveland declares that women no longer are ashamed to work when necessity calls them. In scores of offices there are girl employés belonging to some of the best known families in Chicago. Women generally are more anxious to participate in the activities of the business world. They engage in their work with greater zeal than men, she says, trying to do their best and to make themselves valuable to their employers. They are not eternally working for a "raise." They are satisfied with the slow march of progress.

In several of the large offices downtown, Miss Cleveland finds, women are intrusted with most important work. In many cases the daughters of men of means have embarked in business for the love of working. These instances are rare, however, as the great majority of the business women are working because they must live. They have enlarged their sphere because they have labored hard and persistently and have compelled recognition of their abilities.

Demand for Women Increases.

When the Business Woman's exchange was founded, less than six years ago, the demand for women for office work was not great. There was scarcely any call for high grade office work. Since then conditions have changed. As rapidly as women are trained for office work demanding business skill and knowledge places are open for them. The demand is equal to the supply.

When the exchange was founded the calls for women for general office work frequently were less than a dozen a month. Within the last half year the institution has received requests for 436 women thoroughly trained for general office work. The exchange was able to supply the demand of 427 of these employers. Many of the women were wanted to take an active part in the business affairs of their employers, to serve in the dual capacity of secretary and office assistant.

Bookkeepers and Cashiers Wanted.

The demand for women bookkeepers and cashiers has increased at nearly the same rate. During the last half year forty-five employers sent in calls for competent bookkeepers and cashiers. The exchange was able to respond to thirty-seven of these requisitions. The demand for women to serve in the dual capacity of stenographer and bookkeeper was no less and fifty-three were asked for. The call for typewriters showed a decrease from former years owing to the fact that employers do not want persons who only are equipped for typewriting. The demand during the last half year was seventy-two and the number supplied was sixty.

In the six months 672 employers applied at the exchange for expert stenographers. Of these 577 were served. In every case the employer demanded that the stenographer should have a knowledge of business and business methods and that she should be refined and well educated. They did not want women who only were able to take dictation and play on the keys of a typewriter. They demanded ones with sufficient intelligence to become a factor in the office organization.

For female office help of all kinds the exchange, during the six months just ended, received 1,278 calls and 1,140 of these demands were supplied.

Fill Many Cashiers' "Cages."

It is estimated that women are occupying the cashier's "cage" in a majority of the business institutions in the downtown district, and there scarcely is a restaurant in which there is a male "changemaker."

It is said that in one of the large office buildings there are more women employed than men, and that in every one of any size in the business section one or two are employed.

"Take a seat in the office of the exchange," urged Miss Cleveland, "and make a critical study of the types of women applying for work. Compare these with the class which sought employment several years ago. You will note that a great change has taken place. The women who are seeking office employment nowadays are of exceptionally good breeding. As a class they are well dressed, refined, and intelligent. They are experts in their lines of work. They have tackled business as the college girl studies her classics or the domestic scientist studies her dietary. They are equipped to enter any office and become proficient in their work after they have mastered the individual methods of their employers."

Aims to Protect Its Clients.

The main object of the exchange is to serve competent office help to responsible employers and to protect its clients. It is an organization of business women for mutual aid and to help those seeking to find the employment for which they are best qualified. The exchange is not a money making institution. Its aim is to pay expenses and be of service to working women and employers desiring expert help. Early in 1899 the exchange was founded under the direction of the Chicago Association of Young Women's clubs. Mrs. Lynden Evans and Miss Gertrude Beeks participated prominently in the work of organization and until last year the former was president of the institution.

The exchange was established to fill what these affiliated clubs believed to be a long felt need for some employment bureau to protect the young working women from being hired by unprincipled, financially irresponsible men. There also existed a demand on the part of business men generally for female help of a higher grade than then was obtainable.

Organization Succeeds from Start.

That there was a field of work open to such an organization was proved from the start. Reading, writing, and resting rooms were established and the members were put within instant call of the downtown employers through this downtown "headquarters." Girls who always had sought employment by tramping from one office to another flocked to the exchange, where work came to them without their seeking. During the last year the average number of women placed in positions by the exchange each month was over 200. The exchange has an average membership during the year of between 400 and 500.

The exchange is a coöperative business employment office for women exclusively, as the name implies.

Uses Care in Placing Workers.

No member of the exchange is given employment with any except responsible institutions and no firm is sent an employé not supplied with excellent references and who is not regarded as an "expert" in her special line of work.

The exchange never guarantees a position to any member. It is a principle with Miss Cleveland that such an assurance could not be given in good faith.

Miss Cleveland is aided in her work by the moral support of the Klio association, the Noon Day Rest, and the Ursula, Ogontz, Altrua, and Girls' Mutual Benefit lunch clubs.

The members of these organizations are given the privileges of the exchange at half the usual rate, their club paying the remainder. The exchange is conducted on a membership basis, to which any woman is eligible. There is no charge for securing positions, either to employé or to employer, but any one desiring the services of the institution must become a member.

Membership Is of Two Classes.

The membership is of two classes. For positions paying under $10 a week the membership costs $1 and for those drawing $10 or more a week the fee is $2. The term is six months.

The exchange supplies to reliable firms office employés of all grades for either temporary or permanent positions. The present board of managers is as follows:

President—Mrs. Ira C. Wood.
Secretary—Miss Grace Dixon.
Treasurer—Miss Clara P. Seippel.
Members—Mrs. Otto Matz and Miss Mary M. Bartelme.

The offices of the exchange, 801 Atwood building, have been equipped to afford every comfort to the members.

MUSIC UNION AGAIN ENJOINED.

Forbidden to Expel Members as Result of Dispute Over Wage Scale.

The third injunction in a few weeks restraining the Chicago Federation of Musicians from expelling members was issued yesterday by Judge Dunne. As in the other cases, the trouble was over the union wage scale. John F. Forrest and Charles E. Brindley, on whose behalf the order was issued, were charged with paying musicians less than the scale at the democratic convention in June in Springfield.

Like charges were made against the leader of one of the bands at the republican state convention, who also secured an injunction. The union has an elaborate scale of prices intended to cover every sort of engagement. The convention disputes grew out of the interpretation of the scale. It was claimed by the band masters that the men played at concerts and by the union that they played in political conventions. The rate for the former is $5 a day and for the latter $8.

Christ Thrain was arrested for the second time charged with assaulting nonunion machinists at shops in the Chicago Metal Trades' association. After the first arrest Thrain was discharged by Justice Chott. He then began a damage suit against Policeman Lyons for $2,000. His second arrest was for alleged assault on Charles Parsons, an employé of the Charles F. Elmes Engineering works.

The hearing of President Jacob J. Walser of the Goss Printing Press company, charged with importing labor into Illinois under false pretenses, was continued to Sept. 26.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Church to Hold Jubilee.—The Emanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, Ashland avenue and Twelfth street, will celebrate its golden jubilee tomorrowo. The congregation was organized fifty years ago by the Rev. Henry Wunder, now pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, who will preach the principal sermon. The Rev. Mr. Neutzel, who was the first child of the congregation to enter the ministry, and the Rev. G. Schick, first pastor of the church, will assist at the services. The jubilee of the parish school will be celebrated in the afternoon.

Evanston School Ordered Closed.—City Physician W. B. Parks of Evanston yesterday ordered that the David B. Dewey school, Wesley avenue and Grove street, be closed, pending changes in the methods of sanitation. A losing vote already has been taken on the need of a new structure. Advocates of the plan have called another caucus for next Thursday. Opponents of the proposed new building declare that in Dr. Parks' action they see an unfair move to influence the vote.

Religious Services for Deaf Mutes.—The Rev. Austin W. Mann, founder of the Midwestern Deaf Mute mission of the Episcopal church, will officiate in the chapel of Trinity church tomorrow at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. At 7:30 p. m. a service will be held at the Joliet mission in the chapel of Christ church. Monday afternoon and evening services will be held at Momence and Kankakee.

Stubborn Witness Finds Her Tongue.—After spending a night in the county jail for refusing to testify in a divorce case, Mrs. Susan Michaelofsky was penitent yesterday when she appeared before Judge Dunne. She replied readily to questions and was released with a reprimand.

Bringing Body from London.—The body of Dr. Samuel Ives Curtiss, professor of Old Testament literature at the Chicago Theological seminary, who died in London on Thursday, will be brought to the United States on the steamer Minneapolis, which sails for New York today.

Pass Public Library Test.—Lily Gray, Jennie M. Dignum, Virginia A. Bardwell, Evelyn M. Hayde, and Ella M. Russell lead in the eligible list for clerks of the public library which was officially posted by the civil service commission yesterday. Twenty persons passed.

Vacation School Exhibits.—An exhibit of the work of the pupils in free vacation schools will open at the Art institute tomorrow and continue until Oct. 10. Woodwork, metal work, manual training, and domestic science exhibits will be made.

Wife Slayer Prepares to Die.—For a third time Frank Lewandowski, wife murderer, began his preparations yesterday for what he believes to be his last week on earth. Twice the governor has postponed the execution. It is now set for next Friday.

Maltsters Visit New Brewery.—Nearly 100 maltsters from all parts of the United States yesterday attended the opening of Albert Schwill & Co.'s new plant in South Chicago. The party was entertained at the Bismarck hotel in the evening.

To the World's Fair Main Gate.

That's where Wabash trains take you. No other line can do it. Avoid the crowded city by having yourself and baggage taken to Wabash World's Fair Station, directly opposite the main entrance. Four daily trains from Chicago. City office, 97 Adams street.

READY TO DISCUSS LEAVING TUNNELS

Street Car Men Notify Council of Willingness to Negotiate on Terms.

WILL ASK AN EQUIVALENT

City Railway Awaiting Offer of Union Traction People to Purchase.

W. W. Gurley, John S. Miller, and John M. Roach, appointed by the Union Traction receivers to confer with the city regarding the vacating of the tunnels, will send a letter to Chairman Foreman of the council committee on local transportation this morning. It will be a perfunctory note, simply notifying the committee that the company is willing to treat with the city regarding the terms on which it is willing to vacate the tunnels. The matter of a franchise ordinance will not be touched on.

The three traction officials had a conference in the morning and then went to Highland Park to consult Judge Grosscup. When they came back the announcement was made that they were willing to confer with the city officials at any time, and thought there would be no trouble about giving up the tunnels. They indicated, however, that they must have something in return. What they will ask for is the right to string trolley wires wherever there are now cables, as well as additional trolleys in the downtown district.

Position of the City.

Whether the city will agree to this, however, is doubtful. Corporation Counsel Tolman and Ald. Foreman also had a conference, going over the law in the matter, and afterwards the corporation counsel said:

"I take it for granted that the companies will get out of the tunnels on an order to do so. There are decisions in both the Appellate and Supreme courts supporting the view that the city has the power to require it."

"The committee will see to it that the overhead trolleys downtown are kept in as small an area as possible," said Chairman Foreman. "The Yuille plan of rerouting was drawn with that end in view."

As to the plea of the company that it be allowed to put trolley wires in North Clark, West Madison, Wells, and other streets outside of the business district it may be granted. The Yuille plan was drawn with the idea of minimizing the cost to the company of bringing its cars over the bridges, and if the company is willing to spend the extra money necessary for this more extensive electrifying of its system the committee may not object, providing no local opposition arises.

Awaiting Union Traction Offer.

President Hamilton of the Chicago City railway will be in Chicago this afternoon. He left New York yesterday. Before starting for home Mr. Hamilton said that as far as he knew the negotiations for the purchase of the south side road by the Union Traction interests were in the same state they had been for a week.

The story that they had fallen through he said was untrue, but at the same time the Union Traction people had not yet put their offer into form. When that was done then the Chicago City people would consider it. It was expected the formal offer would be made shortly.

It is possible the shaking up of J. Pierpont Morgan in a wreck on the Boston and Maine railway may delay this formal offer a day or so. The information in Chicago is that the reason the offer has not been made already is that it was waiting Mr. Morgan's formal approval.

Argument Postponed to Oct. 24.

The argument set for yesterday before Judge Kavanagh on the petition of Ernest Hanke and other minority stockholders of the Union Traction company for a change of receivers was postponed until Oct. 24.

F. H. RAWSON JOINS AUTO SUIT.

Made Party to Injunction Proceeding and Protected from Enforcement of Part of Ordinance.

Frederick H. Rawson of the Union Trust company need not buy a license for his automobile nor display a number on the machine. The banker secured an order from Judge Kavanagh yesterday making him a co-complainant in the injunction suit against the city brought by John Farson and members of the Chicago Automobile club.

The automobile club is receiving many applications for membership from auto owners who are opposed to taking out the city license and numbering their machines. Once enrolled by the club they are made parties to the injunction restraining the city from requiring the licenses and numbers.

Automobile owners in large numbers called at Acting City Electrician Hyland's office to take out certification cards and number plates. Mr. Hyland thinks many of the failures to obey the ordinance are caused by absence of auto owners from the city.

Autos "with All Conveniences."

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Robert Graves has had an automobile built after his own plans. It is constructed of aluminium plates and finished to resemble mahogany.

Although it carries a storage battery of sixty-eight cells—enough to run the machine at a rate of twenty miles an hour for sixty miles—it weighs only 3,000 pounds. The automobile has a carrying capacity of six persons and is provided with four folding seats with an aisle between them for easy access. The car can be completely closed in by windows with aluminium frames and it is heated by electricity.

There are lamps for reading, a chronometer, an electric cigar lighter, a stationery rack provided with reading matter, letter paper, envelopes, a card case, and a small case for postage stamps. The machine cost $15,000.

FIND KILLING WAS JUSTIFIABLE.

Coroner's Jurors Exonerate Detective Mathews, Who Shot Alfred Parsons When Attacked.

At the inquest over Alfred Parsons in the Chicago avenue police station yesterday the coroner's jury returned a verdict exonerating Detective Mathews, who shot the man. Witnesses declared Parsons had first attacked the detective, a much smaller man than himself, and was rapidly overpowering him when the shot was fired. Miss Madge Hamilton and Charles E. McAbee, 13 North Clark street; Joseph O'Keefe, a street car motorman, 1299 North Halsted street; and John Dalton, a saloonkeeper living at 18 Rush street, testified.

ROW AT SCHOOL MEETING.

TRUSTEES ARE EXCITED OVER BLACKSMITHS' BILLS.

Buildings and Grounds Committee Decides After Much Discussion to Pay $3 Instead of $2.50 for Horseshoeing for the Reason That "All Other City Departments Do"—Duddleston Continues Fight on Lunchroom Privileges, but Action Is Postponed.

The question of allowing an increase of 50 cents in the price paid for horse shoeing, "because the other city departments pay $3" instead of $2.50, was the cause of much vigorous speech at an exciting meeting yesterday of the school board's subcommittee on buildings and grounds.

The "raise" was granted by a vote of 4 to 3 after a delegation from the Master Horseshoers' association had asked the committee to give the advance. The delegates quoted as an argument the prices charged for shoeing fire and police department horses.

Trustees Plamondon and Chvatal objected. The former said he was willing to pay the highest price paid by any business corporation or private owner, but not that paid by other city departments.

"The fire and police departments are likely to demand shoeing at any time, day or night," he said, "but our demands are never so pressing. Our work is no heavier than that of any mercantile house and the price paid by all business houses is $2.50."

Business Manager Guilford declared that the work, which was done last year in a nonunion shop for $2.50, had been entirely satisfactory. The delegates from the horseshoers' association said they believed the price paid by the business men generally was $2.50.

Motion Causes Plain Speaking.

Trustee Duddleston moved that the same price be paid by the board as is paid by all city departments. This motion was seconded by Trustee Thompson.

"Roll call," demanded Trustee Duddleston.

"All those in favor of the motion signify—" said the chairman.

"Roll call; I demand the roll call," shouted Trustee Duddleston.

"Those in favor of the motion will please say—" began the chairman again.

Trustee Duddleston did not wait for him to conclude. Springing to his feet he reiterated his demand for the roll call.

"When I say 'roll call' I mean it," he said, "and I want you to understand that."

The roll call showed the vote in favor and against granting the raise to be as follows:

Yeas—Duddleston, Hayes, Thompson, and Kuflewski—4.

Nays—Plamondon, Chvatal, Thorp—3.

Other Business Transacted.

Other business transacted by the committee was as follows:

Ordered an investigation of the complaint that many schools are water bound after rains, making it impossible for children to go to school without getting their feet wet.

Indefinitely deferred action on resolution introduced by Trustee Duddleston at recent meeting of the board calling upon the secretary to furnish Mayor Harrison with list of absentees from board and committee meetings.

Postponed action on resolutions, prepared by Trustee Duddleston, and referred to the committee by the board, demanding compensation for school lunchroom privileges.

Deferred action on resolutions of Trustee Duddleston denouncing the school census and rescinding order to have 3,000 copies of the census printed.

Ordered photographs made, at a cost of $1.45 each of the 294 buildings owned by the board.

Decided that when a contractor forfeits his deposit he is still to be regarded as a responsible bidder.

Appointed Trustees Thompson, Chvatal, and Hayes a subcommittee to take up question of improving the roadway through the normal school grounds.

Constituted Trustees Thompson, Kuflewski, Plamondon, Supt. Cooley, and Architect Williamson a committee to investigate need for playgrounds and new school in vicinity of the Kosciusko school, Division and Cleaver streets.

Objects to Lunchroom Privileges.

The effort to postpone action on the question of demanding compensation for school lunchroom privileges brought out a vigorous denunciation by Trustee Duddleston of the "illegal" practice of conducting lunchrooms.

Indefinite postponement of the examination for architect of the board was ordered by the civil service commission. The position carries with it a salary of $7,000. Only four architects had signified their intention of taking the examination—Dwight H. Perkins, John Hulla, Harry W. Edbrooke, and Minard L. Beers.

Asthma and Hay Fever Cured.

The truly marvelous cures of Asthma, which are being effected by Dr. Schiffmann's Asthma Cure certainly call for notice.

Rev. G. L. Taylor, of Washburn, Ill., says: "Some 7 years ago my wife used several packages of your Asthma Cure which resulted in a permanent cure."

A Hay Fever sufferer writes: "I have been a sufferer from Hay Fever for over 20 years, and it seemed harder every year. The first night I used your Asthma Cure I was greatly relieved. It cured my cough after using a few times. I shall recommend it to all sufferers of Hay Fever." Mrs. Martha Simerson, Laingsburg, Mich.

HELP THE CHARTER.

Several Chicago firms have begun to inclose THE TRIBUNE'S charter letter in their business communications to persons living in Illinois outside of Cook county. Five thousand copies have been sent out of this office to firms which have asked for them, and the school book publishing houses are preparing plans for distributing 50,000. THE TRIBUNE will be glad to furnish as many copies as are needed to any firm engaging to make a proper use of them. The letter is in compact form on a single sheet of paper and contains a résumé of the arguments that should be brought to the attention of country voters. The charter needs help.

DON JUAN, ETC.

George Bernard Shaw's new Don Juan play has already started a lot of talk about Byron's "Don Huan." Byron did his best to prevent this. He rhymed Ju'an with "new one" and with "true one."

But he has shared the fate of the other English poets, who for years and years, and almost for centuries and centuries, rhymed Cadiz with "ladies." They had annexed Cadiz and had Anglicized it. Their descendants have hauled down the flag. Cadiz again belongs to the foreigner. It is called "Cahdeeth." Fortunately we do not yet say: "Charge, München, charge, with all thy chivalry."

We do, however, say "Don Kehôte." And we shall probably go on to saying that a project is "kehotic."

Which leads to this general rule for culture: "Take all foreign words that have been Anglicized and translate them back into their original languages." Versailles, for instance, became so completely Anglicized that in the mouth of the most fastidious English scholar it rhymed with pails. To acquire culture, make it rhyme with pie.

Then, some day, the exquisitely cultured man will come who will remember that York is simply an Anglicized corruption of the name which the Romans gave the town, and who will, therefore, talk of taking the train for New Eboracum.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA.

A sudden and startling increase both in this city and in New York of deaths from pneumonia and the appropriation in the latter city of $10,000 for the study of the disease draw attention to the approach of the season when pneumonia is most prevalent. For the week ending the 17th inst. the number of deaths in Chicago from "the new captain of the men of death" was 80 per cent greater than for the corresponding week a year ago.

Pneumonia is the despair of the medical profession. While the death rate from many other diseases has been reduced, that of pneumonia has steadily increased. While in 1860 pneumonia claimed four out of every 10,000 Chicagoans and consumption twenty-five, in 1900 twenty lives were lost to pneumonia for every fifteen to consumption.

Not only is there no specific for pneumonia, but many people are to an extent in the incipient stages of the disease without knowing it. This is due to the fact that the bacterium of pneumonia exists so commonly in the saliva of many healthy persons that it is considered "almost a normal inhabitant of the upper part of the digestive tract."

During the six months of the coming winter more than 2,100 persons in this city will become victims of pneumonia. Nobody will be immune from the summons of the death captain. It will be served upon the strong as well as upon the weak.

But there are certain rules of living which will reduce one's liability to the disease. From the bulletins of the health department and from other authoritative sources the following rules may be set down for observance:

Do not overheat the house. Most people habitually dwell in apartments the temperature of which is from 3 to 10 degrees too high.

Wear light underwear and heavy overcoats rather than heavy underwear and light overcoats.

Avoid mingling with crowds when extremely tired or when food has not been taken for a longer interval than usual. Avoid becoming chilled when overtired.

Admit into all rooms where you live and work plenty of sunlight and fresh air.

Keep warm when indoors even if it is necessary to build fires in seasons when it is unusual to do so. Avoid indoor chill and dampness as much as possible. For this reason be careful to remove the chill before moving into apartments freshly papered or calcimined.

Be careful during variable weather. Where there is continual cold or constant warmth the disease is little known.

If you have an attack of the grippe be unusually careful about your diet and about exposing yourself to the weather. Neglected colds develop into pneumonia with startling rapidity.

Take plenty of exercise in the sunlight and fresh air. As good nursing is practically the only cure for pneumonia, so good living is practically the only preventive.

HIS STRENGTH IS "LABOR AND SORROW."

Never before has the personality of a vice presidential candidate had much to do with the result of the election. After the next election it may be admitted by the democrats that the nomination of Davis this year was a mistake.

Mr. Davis should have all that respectable old age is entitled to—as honor, love, obedience, troops of friends.

He should not have the vice presidency—much less the presidency.

He is likely at any time to lapse into decrepitude or imbecility. If the democratic ticket should be elected and Parker should die the world might then have the spectacle of a man in his dotage attempting to direct the affairs of a great nation.

The character of the office, its exacting and increasing duties, the enormous strain it puts upon the faculties of the strongest man are well known.

To be president and faithfully to perform the duties of the office would kill an octogenarian or drive him to an asylum in less than a year.

Nor would it be desirable even if it were possible to have the chief executive office filled by a man far past the biblical age. What says the Psalmist?

> The days of our years are three score years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow, for it is soon cut off and we fly away.

Old men for counsel! But the president is not merely a counselor. He must execute as well as plan. He is a man of action. In a multitude of counselors he may find only folly. At last he alone must decide and do that which, after due deliberation, he considers it wise to do. The responsibility of the decision and the action is his. He is judged by his acts and often cannot give all the reasons that control him. Almost never can he reveal the advice upon which he acted. He can have no wicked partner. Never can he say that "the woman tempted him" or the man led him astray. His actions must be accounted for to the people and be judged by them.

What Davis might do were he to become president at the age of 85 or 86 no man can tell.

An old man is apt to be cranky. He is almost never docile, almost never disposed to take advice, almost always opinionated and stubborn; often whimmy and capricious; seldom easy to be entreated; frequently unjust, easily imposed upon, suspicious and tyrannical; quite likely to abuse power intrusted to him, and never willing to admit that he can be in the wrong.

Mr. Gladstone, in his last years, was almost unendurable to some of his associates in the government. His cabinet meetings partook of the nature of "private views" of his opinions on public questions. He was harsh, arbitrary, domineering.

Mr. Davis, if he were president, might be anything or nothing that his friends expected. His administration might be more like a problem play than like a serious attempt at civil government.

Mr. Fairbanks may not be a great man, but he is sensible, prudent, cautious, discreet, patriotic, and amenable to reason. If he were to become president everybody would feel that the executive office was in safe hands.

AMERICAN DIPLOMACY.

A London paper speaks in the warmest terms of Secretary Hay's note to the Russian government regarding contraband of war. It says the note—

> Is a remarkable specimen of that directness which habitually characterizes the government at Washington in dealing with other governments and that capacity for plain speaking—however disconcerting it may be to the traditional habits of diplomacy—one which might be cultivated to advantage by Downing street, for it rarely fails to produce effects which do not always result from suaviter in modo.

English papers did not always talk thus. When Richard Olney was writing to Lord Salisbury on the subject of Venezuela, and displaying a fine talent for plain speaking, there was a shriek of dismay over what was called "the shirt sleeves diplomacy" of the United States. Certainly, there was not much of the "suaviter in modo" in Mr. Olney's famous dispatch, which convinced Lord Salisbury that it would be wiser to arbitrate the Venezuelan question.

Foreign diplomatists often have been shocked by the plain language of American secretaries of state. When Mr. Webster wrote that "the possessions of the house of Hapsburg are but a patch on the earth's surface" as compared with those of the United States, the Austrian government thought that he was sadly undiplomatic.

But he stated the truth, and the aim of American diplomacy has always been to state the truth, civilly, but plainly, so that the exact position of the United States might be understood. As a consequence foreign governments do not distrust American notes. They do not seek for hidden meanings in them or assume they are written to darken counsel. Hence it is that American diplomacy as illustrated in Secretary Hay's Chinese notes has been so effective.

Directness, plain speaking, and honesty are the characteristics of the state department under Secretary Hay, as they were in the days of Adams, Clay, Webster, Marcy, and Seward.

"WHEN THIEVES FALL OUT"—

When thieves fall out, honest men get the truth. Lawson, on the few occasions when temporary exhaustion has brought him down from his rhetorical flights to earth, has left behind him certain statements about Henry H. Rogers, William Rockefeller, John D. Rockefeller, and J. E. O'Sullivan Addicks. If these four men should collaborate on a monograph on Lawson the circle of truth would be complete.

But Rogers and the Rockefellers are not technically in public life. All that is involved is their honor. And as their honor has never before seemed to them to be worth defending, it is not likely to seem so now.

They are accused of controlling and of manipulating banks in such a way as to delude investors into buying property for several times what it is worth. They have become accustomed to swallowing such accusations while looking pleasant. Some stomachs are more patient than the worm. They never turn.

With Addicks the case is, or ought to be, different. He is a public man. And he chose the place for becoming a public man. He had nothing to do with Delaware. He chose Delaware as the most suitable of all the states for his purposes. It is said that he thought of Georgia, but gave it up when he reflected that if he tried to buy the negroes he might get shot.

After he had begun his work in Delaware the public thought that as he was so bad politically he must be a "good fellow." Lawson's statements deprive the public of even this consolation. If what Lawson says is true, Addicks is as base in his personal as in his political relationships.

As a public man Addicks must attempt to clear himself. If he does not, he stands before the public as a confessed briber, a confessed liar, and a confessed thief.

But he is already known to be these things without confession. The worst charge that can be brought against the Roosevelt administration is that it has not repudiated the most audacious, the most unscrupulous, and the most contemptible financial and political marauder of modern times.

Mr. Addicks is recognized. He has the floor. If he does not speak now he may forever hold his peace.

TOM WATSON is free to confess that he doesn't expect to be elected this year. He is campaigning for 1908, or 1912, or possibly 1906.

AS TO free trade, a majority of the people of this country appear to consider it irrevocably unfixed.

SO LONG as Uncle Yim Hill retains his present strong grip on the corn crop of the country it will be useless for J. Frost or anybody else to butt in.

YOU may have observed that the weather indulged in several queer freaks while Peoria was banqueting the official forecasters of the country the other day.

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1904: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

LORD HALSBURY has just entered upon his eightieth year with an indignant denial that he has no intention of resigning the office of lord high chancellor of the realm on the score of old age and infirmity. He is one of the oddest looking little men that have ever occupied the woolsack, being indeed of such stunted stature that when he sits on the woolsack to preside over the deliberations of the house of lords his feet do not touch the floor, and his short legs dangle uncomfortably under his black silk gown when sleep overtakes him, as it sometimes does. For the atmosphere of the upper house of the English legislature is conducive to somnolence. Lord Halsbury, whose quaintness of appearance is still further increased by an entire absence of eyelashes, and an uptilted nose, is thoroughly aware of his lack of majesty, and has occasionally been known to express the opinion that he would have been far better fitted, at any rate from the physical point of view, to take the place of a puisne (pronounced puny) judge on the bench than as lord high chancellor.

Lord Halsbury does not approve of the American principle of law which compels counsel to convince themselves of the justice of the cause which they defend, except when their client happens to be charged with a public offense—that is to say, a crime. In Washington and in certain states in this country, I understand that lawyers on being admitted to practice swear to the following oath: "I will counsel and maintain such action, proceedings, and defenses only as appear to me legal and just, except the defense of a person charged with a public offense," this principle being based on that of the old Roman law which Quintilian expressed when he wrote "The advocate will not undertake the defense of every one, nor will he throw open the harbor of his eloquence as a port of refuge to pirates."

Lord Halsbury declares that this contention is ridiculous, and that if an advocate were to reject a client because his story seemed improbable he would be usurping the office of the judge. Indeed, Lord Halsbury holds that this principle is liable to lead to gross injustice, since, if it becomes known that counsel has declined to defend a case on the ground that he did not believe the applicant for his services to be in the right, he would prejudice the would-be client's case to an extent proportionate to his own rank and reputation at the bar.

Lord Halsbury does an amazing amount of work for a man of his advanced years. For when he takes his seat on the woolsack to preside over the deliberations of the house of lords every day when parliament is in session, shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon, he has already been sitting all day long ever since 10 o'clock in the morning as premier judge in cases of appeal. No matter how long he may be detained in the house of lords, and sometimes it is until midnight, he is always in his place as the first judge of the land at 10 o'clock in the morning.

By one of those strange anomalies that are so frequent in England he receives several thousand pounds a year less remuneration from the national treasury than either of his subordinates, the attorney general or the solicitor general. Still, at the same time, he is well paid, for he gets $50,000 a year—namely: $30,000 a year as judge of the Court of Appeals and $20,000 as speaker of the house of lords.

He was one of the late Lord Salisbury's oldest friends, and worked for the press with him when neither had either fame or money. He may be said to have won his chief laurels as counsel for the part which he took in the famous Tichborne claimant case, and by his defense of Gov. Eyre of Jamaica, and he has had his life attempted. For one day at the Old Bailey court a madman shot at him point blank with a revolver, fortunately doing no harm.

Lord Kitchener has allowed it to become known that he does not approve of amateur acting on the part of military men, taking the ground that their mind and energy could be better employed in connection with their profession than by posturing before the footlights. The consequence is that histrionic talent is no longer a road to military promotion and to comfortable and lucrative berths on the staff, as was the case until he assumed command in chief of the British military forces, white and native, in India. Formerly, to be a successful actor counted for much at Simla, at Calcutta, at Bombay, and at Madras for a military man. But things nowadays are different. Military men who can act steadily refuse to do so, and it has become a sort of unwritten law in India that no officer should imperil his reputation and his prospects by appearing on the amateur stage.

It is difficult to believe the stories which are being cabled to this country to the effect that Lord Dundonald is about to return to Canada, not in an official capacity, but as a private personage, with the object of taking part in the political life of the dominion. In the first place, he cannot be regarded as a private individual, being both a peer of the realm and a general of the English army, and secondly, he has just left England for Ceylon, in order to take the place of Sir Henry Blake as governor and commander-in-chief, for several months to come.

It seems that Sir Henry's health compels him to return home—indeed, it is doubtful whether he will return to the east, although he has only been a short time in Ceylon as governor. But it is felt that in times such as these, with the possibility of the present conflict in the far east developing into a European war, and with awkward questions liable to occur in connection with the observance of neutrality towards the belligerents, it is necessary to have a soldier who has shown himself resourceful and capable at Ceylon, which is perhaps the most important point in the line of communication between Europe and the seat of war. Instead I imagine that the earl will remain in control as governor of Ceylon until peace has been restored, and it is a curious fact that the appointment should have been made so quietly, and that Lord Dundonald should have sailed for Ceylon without attracting any attention, save on the part of his friends.

It may be remembered that Prince Hugo Hohenlohe, who spent a year or two in this country as an unpaid member of a Wall street banking firm in New York in order to learn American methods of business, and who subsequently surrendered his title of "prince" and his rank as member of a mediatized or formerly sovereign family, becoming an ordinary noble, as Count Hermenstein, in order to marry a popular circus rider, lent his name last year to an enterprise which had for its avowed object the development of the island of Madeira as a great health resort.

On the plea that it was going to establish frequent steamship service, and to build a number of new hotels, sanatoria, and villa colonies at Madeira, the syndicate with which he was connected obtained all sorts of privileges from the Portuguese government, among others that of the importation of the materials for the building, the furnishing, and the maintenance of the sanatoria, hotels, and villas, free of duty, the queen of Portugal being particularly interested by the promise of the syndicate to take a certain number of consumptive patients, free of cost, during the first few years.

It is now publicly asserted throughout Portugal and by the leading newspapers of that kingdom that the syndicate instead of transforming Madeira into a second Mentone or Cannes is converting it into a sort of new Monte Carlo, and that the Casino at the latter place has now its counterpart in the Strangers' club at Funchal. I do not know whether ex-Prince Hohenlohe is still connected with the syndicate or not, but it is difficult to believe that such charges as these could be made with such unanimity by the Portuguese press of every shade of political opinion, unless there were some grounds for the assertion that the sanatoria are merely a pretext, and that a public gambling establishment on the lines of Monte Carlo is the primary object of the syndicate to which, thanks to the influence of Queen Marie Amalie and to the prestige of the name formerly borne by Prince Hugo Hohenlohe, the Portuguese government has granted so many advantages.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

A "Burnt Orange" Victim.

His wife selected her fall hat—
'Twas trimmed with a little "burnt orange."
Each cushion wheresoe'er he sat,
Each carpet, curtain, rug, and mat,
As well as the neck of the family cat,
Were given a touch of "burnt orange."

His wife bought an expensive gown—
And that had a little "burnt orange."
You know, of course, the dress was brown;
It had stripes running up and down—
She called it the prettiest dress in the town
Because it was trimmed with "burnt orange."

She curled and tied her children's hair
With ribbons, and they were "burnt orange."
The lampshades, to this man's despair,
Were made that hue, and he would swear
And sulkily sit in the saffrony glare
Produced by the globes of "burnt orange."

Her lace and frills and furbelows
Were all the prevailing "burnt orange."
And then, to add to all his woes,
She bought him some cravats and hose
(Hypnotic effect of the style, we suppose),
And they were of solid "burnt orange."

But still he had no word to say—
(No odds what he thought of "burnt orange.")
Until there was a fatal day
When as he came his homeward way
Some painters he saw, and he trembled, for they Were painting his house a "burnt orange."

He rose the middle of the night—
(Now this must be blamed on "burnt orange.")
He set his house and goods alight.
Full soon his wife forgot her fright
And cried: "Don't you think it a lovely sight?
The flames are the tint of 'burnt orange.'"

LAWSON ON ADDICKS.

"Frenzied Finance" View of the Delaware Gas Man.

No epithet milder than "financial guerrilla" is employed by Thomas W. Lawson in his attack on J. Edward O'Sullivan Addicks—"Gas" Addicks of Delaware—in the October installment of his articles on "Frenzied Finance" in Everybody's Magazine.

The denunciation is not completed in the chapter, although the writer secured three pages in the advertising section of the magazine in order to get increased space for the expression of his opinions.

Mr. Lawson begins his account of the business and political operations of Addicks at the time when the latter made his first "ten strike" in water gas. This is his introduction:

"This financial guerrilla"—referring to Addicks in the rôle of opponent to H. H. Rogers of the Standard Oil company—"was J. Edward O'Sullivan Addicks, votary of rotten finance, perpetual candidate for the United States senate, wholesale debaucher of American citizenship, and all around corrupter of men, a corporation political trickster, who has done more to hold up American laws, American elective franchises, and American corporations to the scorn of the civilized world than any other man of this or any previous age."

After relating the start of Addicks as a Philadelphia flour merchant, he continues:

"Some one (in 1882) invented water gas and 'let in' Addicks on the invention; and the Philadelphia branch of the Standard Oil, represented by Widener, Elkins, and Dolan, 'trustified' the gas companies in Chicago, which enabled Addicks to 'hold up' the 'trustification' until Dolan and his associates paid him the sum of $300,000 for the instrument with which he had done the holding up, $10,000 worth of stock in one of the necessary Chicago companies.

The next step in the Addicks career was a descent upon Boston with the avowed intention—which he carried to a conclusion successful in the estimate of Mr. Lawson to the sum of $7,000,000—of acquiring and consolidating the Boston gas companies. Before narrating the incidents of that invasion Mr. Lawson returns to the depiction of his view of the personality of Addicks. He says:

"Here we have a man without a heart, without a soul, and, I believe, absolutely without conscience—the kind of a man who even his associates feel is likely to bring in after their deaths queer bills against their estates as an offset for what he owes them; the type of man whose promise is just as good as his bond, and whose bond is so near his promise as to make it absolutely immaterial to him which you take. He is rather a curious piece of mechanism than a human being. . . . I should, perhaps, remark that J. Edward O'Sullivan Addicks has never smoked, nor used a swear word, nor taken liquor in any form."

An alleged instance of ballot box stuffing in Delaware is discussed, but the business author reserves the largest part of his ammunition of adjectives for his account of the way Addicks maneuvered in Boston gas.

Incidentally, he describes Boston as the city of innocents. To this town of credulous capitalists came the fisherman with baited hook in the person of Addicks.

"The campaign of arrangements for the 'lighting' of Addicks in Boston," in the words of Mr. Lawson, "was more elaborate, more astute and expensive than was ever organized for the exploitation of a prima donna. So, when the great man arrived a group of important people were congregated.

"Addicks ran the gantlet of the critical glances of as critical a group as you'll find on earth, and the word went round—no one could remember afterward who started it—'Typical southern gentleman! Breeding sticking out everywhere!'

"So well had the astute advance agent done his work that a little dinner was arranged on the spot, and Addicks made such rapid progress with these reserved and conservative Bostonians that, by the time coffee was served, the conversation had got to the stage where it came natural for him to send the waiter to the coatroom for his bunch of gas papers.

"The emissary returned bringing the fur overcoat with which Addicks always envelops himself in chilly weather. Addicks searched the pockets, and, apparently to his surprise, discovered that they did not contain the required documents, but where they should have been he found a small bale of $1,000 government bonds, that one of the party said afterward contained at least 100 certificates. 'How careless of my secretary,' said Addicks, nonchalantly replacing the packet in the pocket and motioning the waiter to take the garment back to the coatroom.

"After dinner, Addicks at once 'got down to business': 'Gentlemen, my project is as simple as it is feasible and conservative, for I will touch nothing but conservative enterprises. Gentlemen, you have three great gas companies supplying this great city with light, the Boston, Roxbury, and South Boston. They are worth at the present time about $5,000,000. I am going to buy them and spend three or four millions more for a new company, and then consolidate them all and turn them from coal into water gas companies, selling gas to your people at less than they now pay, and thus make a lot of money for you and for myself. What do you say?'

"'Just what is your idea, Mr. Addicks, of how this gigantic piece of business could be done?' one asked.

"'Simple, simple'—the great Col. Sellers of eye water fame never looked more cool and unconcerned—'simple, simple; you name your price, I pay it, and the thing is done.'"

And on that basis it was done. "And Addicks," says Mr. Lawson, "to use his own language 'cleaned up around $7,000,000,' and turned his peculiar genius to other cities."

Great Soldiers of Modern Times.

—HELMUTH KARL BERNHARD VON MOLTKE.

> The first necessity for a state in order to exist is to secure itself externally. Minor ones can do this by neutrality or by international guarantees; a great power must rely upon itself and on its strength, being armed and determined to defend its liberty and its right. To leave a country defenseless would be the greatest crime a government could commit.—Moltke in 1872 in a speech in the German reichstag.

THE revolution which converted the general of an army from a soldier who fought with his hands into one who only directed the operation of other soldiers took place but gradually. Napoleon led a charge at the bridge of Lodi. Lee was often in the thick of the hottest fighting. Grant usually staid in his tent and thence issued his orders, but he led at least one charge, in which he had a horse shot under him. The incarnation of the modern art of war appeared at last in Moltke, a pale soldier of books and maps, who, far removed from the smoke, turmoil, and carnage of battle, sat taciturn and impassable at the end of a telegraph wire, while with the mathematical precision of a skillful chess player, he directed the conquering movements of a million men. The stories of Sadowa and of Sedan leave no doubt as to the rightful place among great commanders of this old hero, who "kept silent in seven languages."

Helmuth Carl Bernhard, count von Moltke, was a native of Mecklenburg. The future conqueror of France had his first experience with the French in 1806, when Napoleon's marauding soldiery sacked his father's house at Lubeck. Moltke was taught the rudiments of the military profession in a cadet school at Copenhagen. Despite the fact he had to pursue his studies in a foreign language, the young German passed his officers' examination in 1818, at the head of his class. After a year in the Danish service as lieutenant in an Oldenburg regiment Moltke entered the Prussian service in 1822 as a second lieutenant. With such ability and assiduity did he study the theory and practice of the military art that in 1832 he was assigned to duty on the general staff. The years 1835 to 1839 Moltke spent in Turkey helping the sultan reorganize his army.

On returning to Berlin Moltke was reassigned to duty on the general staff. As aid de camp to Prince Henry and to Prince Frederick William he visited various European courts. His letters of travel and his writings on military topics won him a high reputation as a literary man and an authority on military subjects. He rose steadily in the army until in 1856 he was made major general. Although one of the youngest general officers in the service, he was appointed in 1857 provisional, and in 1859, permanent chief of the general staff. When Wilhelm I. became king in 1861 he resolved upon such reorganization and augmentation of the army as would restore Prussia to the position she had occupied as a military power under Frederick the Great. The heaviest part of the burden of this task fell upon the chief of staff. With what speed, thoroughness, and perfection it was performed was shown by the results of the wars with Denmark, with Austria, and with France, all of which took place within the next ten years.

Austria and Prussia made war jointly upon Denmark in 1864 to wrest from her the duchies of Schleswig, Holstein, and Lauenburg. The striking feature of the campaign was the wonderful rapidity with which the Prussian army was mobilized. The Danes, after a short but heroic stand, were forced to succumb.

The allies immediately began to quarrel between themselves over the possession of the duchies, and in 1866 Prussia found herself at war, Austria and most of the confederated German states being arrayed against her. It was necessary that Prussia should strike quickly, and she did. Austria had in the north an army of 271,000 men, including that of Saxony. The Prussian force consisted of three armies—one of 93,000 men under Prince Frederick Charles, one of 115,000 men under the crown prince, and one of 46,000 men under Gen. Herwarth—in all, 254,000 men. There was, besides, a reserve force of 24,300 men at Berlin. Orders were issued in May to put the Prussian army on a war footing. By the middle of June all the Prussian armies were marching across Bohemia. Various minor engagements, some of them bloody and desperate, took place, but the Prussians steadily advanced, concentrating as they went. On July 3 they encountered the Austrians on the field of Königgratz, or Sadowa. The Prussians numbered 240,000, the Austrians 220,000. The Austrians fought bravely and well, but Prussian numbers, discipline, and strategy prevailed. The Prussians lost 359 officers and 8,974 men. The Austrians lost 19,800 men as prisoners and 24,400 men in killed and wounded. This practically ended the war. By the treaty signed Aug. 23 Austria gave up all claim to Holstein and Schleswig, consented to a new formation in Germany, and agreed to a war indemnity of 40,000,000 thalers, of which 20,000,000 were remitted to Austria on account of the duchies.

VON MOLTKE IN 1874.
Oct. 26, 1800. April 24, 1891.

Various circumstances made it evident that a war with France would speedily follow. Moltke began in 1867 to make preparations for the struggle and completed them in the early part of 1869. The anticipated war was declared on July 15, 1870. On July 30 every detail in the mobilization of 518,800 Prussian and North German soldiers, divided into three armies, had been completed in accordance with the plans that Moltke had mapped out more than a year before. The French had with difficulty collected 270,000 men at the end of August. The Prussians swiftly advanced toward France as they had before advanced into Bohemia. Everywhere the French were driven back. Marshal Bazaine, with 170,000 men, was defeated with great slaughter at Gravelotte on July 18 and compelled to retreat behind the fortifications of Metz, where he capitulated after a three months' siege. The Emperor Napoleon III. and 83,000 men were surrounded at Sedan and captured. In January, 1871, Paris was taken after one of the notable sieges of history. Forces were organized in every part of France to expel the invader, but by March 1, 1871, 1,000,000 German soldiers were quartered on French soil and 250,000 more were in readiness to move to the front. The raising and movements of all these myriads of men were directed by the single genius of Moltke. March 1 the preliminaries of peace were signed at Bordeaux. France ceded to the new German empire Alsace and Lorraine and paid a war indemnity of 5,000,000,000 francs. During this war of nine months the army created by Moltke had taken 400,000 prisoners, disarmed 150,000 men in Paris, driven 100,000 men into Switzerland, and captured twenty-two fortresses, 1,835 field guns, 5,373 fortress guns, and 600,000 rifles.

For his services in the Franco-Prussian war Moltke was made a field marshal, a count, and a life member of the Reichsrath. He remained at the head of the German army until 1888. He died in 1891 at the great age of 91 years. He was past 70 when he fought the Franco-Prussian war.

ITEMS FROM JAPAN.

Over in Japan they call the war dispatches from Chefoo—chefooleries. Those that come from Shanghai they call Shanghai "bunders," meaning that the news is created on the bund, or river front, of Shanghai.

The first news that reached Japan about the sinking of the Russian battleship Petropavlovsk came from America. Melville E. Stone, manager of the Associated Press, sent a dispatch to Mr. Egan, the Associated Press chief at Tokio, asking for information about the destruction of the battleship. Mr. Egan took this query to the imperial headquarters, whence it furnished the Japanese government with the first intimation that such a disaster had occurred.

If you interview anybody in Japan he will tell you that Japan is sure to win in the present war. He will also give his reasons for believing so. That seems to be an easy question to answer. But if you want to ask a hard question just inquire how peace will be brought about. At this question they all throw up their hands and say: "Ah, that's something no one knows. That's going to be the stumbling block. Ask us something easy."

It doesn't seem so hard to understand one side or the other being whipped, but it's impossible to imagine either side admitting that it is whipped and is ready to talk peace.

The commandant of the navy yard in Cavite employs about sixty Japanese in the repair shops. Most of these Japanese are carpenters and receive wages averaging about $1.50 gold a day. Of this amount each man sends 50 cents each day as his offering to the Japanese government during the war. This is patriotism with a large "P."

If you want to be absolutely correct in the pronunciation of certain Japanese words and names, you may be interested in following these instructions:

"Togo" is pronounced as if spelled "Tongo," with a strongly suggested "ng" sound to the "g." If you speak to the Japs about "Togo," they will listen politely but unintelligently. They may even bow profoundly, but they will not know whom you are talking about. But just say To-ngo, with a strong "ng" sound, and their faces will lighten up and broad smiles of pleasure will appear.

"Nagasaki" is pronounced Nangasaki, and "Nogi" is No-ngi. Just try to pronounce "Nogi" without putting your tongue against your palate and then you have it.

We worked two days trying to say "ginko" in approved Japanese, and then we found that a "g" at the front end of a word was just plain "g," without any trimmings. Ginko means "bank."

If a man listening to a Japanese band during a big celebration were asked what he considered to be the national air of Japan, five to one he would say "Marching Through Georgia." You hear it everywhere. Every band gives it a front seat in its répertoire, and no high class, bona fide demonstration is complete without it. In a few years, I suppose, they will be playing "Marching Through Mukden" or "Marching Through Fengwangcheng," but it will be the same old tune with different words.

They tell some funny yarns about the operation of wireless telegraphy in the present war. When Admiral Togo was at his island shelter, some miles from Port Arthur, he was the victim of what might be called a "Russian" joke. The Russians knew that Togo's ships were equipped with wireless apparatus, so the Russian wireless station at Port Arthur sent the following message: "Russia's fleet coming out," and signed the name of Rear Admiral Dewa. Togo came rushing up, with his whole fleet, forced draft, four boilers, four bells, lippity split, anxious to get there in time to intercept the Russians. In the meantime the Russian joker was leaning against a fortification, laughing in his beard, and uttering strange sounds of mirth. Admiral Togo did not consider it much of a joke at all, according to Chefoo rumors, and the same afternoon blew the top off of a prominent hill near the signal station.

When the Vladivostok fleet destroyed the Kinshiu Maru in Gensan harbor, they came nearly being caught by Mr. Kamimura and his fighting ships. Fortunately for the Russians, a heavy fog settled down while they lay peacefully off the town. The fog was so dense that you couldn't tell whether your cigar was lighted or out. Presently the Russian wireless instruments began to "click," and the words were Japanese. That warned the Russians that Kamimura was somewhere in the neighborhood, and they yanked up their mud hooks, which is nautical for "anchors," and disappeared in the neighboring gloom. If the Japanese fleet had not used their wireless at this time the Russians would have had no warning of impending trouble, and might have gotten into a fight.

A curious thing happened in Shanghai when the Askold and Czarevitch came in. A conference was held by the representatives of the foreign powers to determine what should be done about the vessels. In this conference the British, American, and Italian representatives took the Japanese side of the discussion, while the German, French, and Austrian representatives sided with the Russians. It was a deadlock, sure enough, so finally in despair the conference gave up and the matter was referred back to the respective home governments for solution. I am told that this was the first time Italy has revealed its sympathetic leanings.

Household Hints.

BY ADA M. KRECKER.

OUR ITALIAN TABLE D'HOTE EN FAMILLE.

No, we would not have imagined we were in a Little Italy even although the walls were hung with miniature landscapes of fair Florence and Naples and the peerlessly blue skies and waters of the Neapolitan bay and a relic or two of the old glory of old Rome, and even although our waiters waited upon us in pure Italian.

So pure was his Italian and so impure our understanding that we had to resort to the only workable Volapük extant—gesticulations—to learn the difference between the various spaghetti.

But the spaghetti is not here yet, only a tableful of relishes displayed in all the colors of lovely Queen Margherita's sunny realm—red radishes, green olives, white celery, and again red and white salmi and Italian olives whose greenness is so dark it is veritably black. They are yet saltier than the ordinary olives and probably have to be eaten three times the three traditional times before one gets the taste for them.

The salame under the name of smoked dried sausage would be just as comprehensible, if not so elegant, and in Pennsylvania Deutschland might be so christened.

But of all the relishes the most relishable is the lobster as served, a dainty heap on a slice of deeper pink tomato. There are some mysteries connected with the preparation of the minced lobster which the everyday palate does not at once penetrate.

While discussing the relishes we also discuss the street scene; for our table stands in the wide, shallow bow window reaching the breadth of the room, and from it we can glance lofti1y down upon all State street roaring along at our feet. This bird's eye view of the rattling highway, just as the evening lights begin to evoke the gloomy brilliance of the night pageant, we pronounce one of the drawing cards of the place.

Another drawing card is the cookery, undeniably alluring, with its foreign flavor that is fascinating like a suspicion of foreign accent in speech.

The soups are your choice of vegetable or consommé, and after you have had your choice comes the pièce de résistance, the spaghetti, either with chicken livers or with the dark dressing, and in either case sprinkled with as much cheese as you please. There is so much spaghetti one would imagine it would hold the beginning, middle, and end of the dinner all in its generous generosity, but there is much more to follow.

Will we have baked lake trout, lamb chops, filet Mignon or sweetbreads? The lamb chops and filet Mignon are done to our order. The others are ready to serve. Ready to serve viands, having much the same advantages (and disadvantages) of ready to wear garments, we choose the sweetbreads, and on tasting them could wish all the dinner were sweetbreads, with their side brown sauce thickly studded with peas. The string beans are exceptionally well flavored, and the apricot sherbet is something whose picture will long adorn memory's walls.

Roast chicken or roast squab? The chicken comes with a dressing and the squab without, and both are garnished forth with a little dish of spinach and a great dish of combination salad, mainly cucumbers and lettuce, so far as quantity is concerned, and mainly oil cunningly mixed with what else? so far as quality goes. The dressing is tantalizing. One wishes one knew just how to reproduce it at home and one knows one cannot. The desserts are three in number on the menu: Cantaloupe, assorted fruit, or ice cream with cakes. If only for the cakes the ice cream is the blue ribbon choice. They are a dainty dark drop like a cocoanut drop with a big half walnut crowning each, and they are of that sort of material that none are left on the plate within four minutes of its appearance on the table. There is a toothsome variety of fruit cake, too, in birdlike bits of slices.

The cheese is Gorgonzola, although on occasion you can get d'Isigny, or Parmesan, and buy some to take home with you if you like.

What we do take home with us after our coffee is a bottle, a round bowled bottle with a fat man's neck, and a woven straw casing labeled with Italian winemakers' names, and purporting to hold Chianti.

This wine has been thrown in with all the rest, and even at that the pater only had to pay a dollar apiece for his families this time, a fact which puts him in an extraordinarily beatific frame of mind, second only to that of the jovial party round the corner at the back of the room partly screened off, but only partly, so that we get glimpses of flowers and extra Vini Italiana and extra Milanese and Genovese culinary creations, and later on, of the special Italian dessert Sabaione. Nearer by is a trio of business women going to the other extreme, and having a delightful bit—a big bit—of a table d'hôte dinner at just 50 cents apiece, including a half pint of claret. The later the hour the more the guests, Americans mainly, and a cosmopolitan smattering of foreigners and a bit of foreign brogue now and then, and French, German, and politics and the war, buzzing intelligibly now and anon through the unintelligible buzz of the chatter chatter. But we are done; we leave. And on the car we go over our menu.

IN THE SOCIETY WORLD.

Those who are interested in the open air performance of "As You Like It," to be given at the Onwentsia club this afternoon by Ben Greet's Elizabethan players, will watch the skies today. There is an earnest hope that nothing will mar the giving of the performance in the forest apart from the clubhouse.

The tickets announce that should it rain the play will be given in the evening in the clubhouse. This is contrary to Mr. Greet's custom of giving performances. Heretofore rain has not hindered a presentation, and it is recorded that once this summer the company played in Boston in a pouring rainstorm. However, as society is keen to keep up appearances in dress as well as in other matters of social importance, there need be no fear of having to wear old clothes.

Although only club members and their guests will be at the performance, it is estimated that over 500 people will be present. The hour set is 3:30 o'clock, and as there will be no scenery to set or intermissions between acts, the performance will last but little over two hours. A few more names have been added to the list of those who will entertain at dinner, including Mr. John Gray, Mr. Scott Durand, Mr. J. W. Jackson, Mr. Walter R. Kirk, Mr. H. L. Hollis, Mr. H. L. Rogers, and Mr. Conrad H. Poppenhusen.

A wedding of interest to a large circle of friends will take place this evening on the north side. Miss Violet Mae Bradley will be married to Mr. Francis Henry Rieplinger of Rogers Park in St. John's church, the Rev. James Scanlan to officiate. Miss Bradley is the daughter of Mrs. C. D. Bradley, 1011 Farwell avenue, Rogers Park, and of the late Dr. C. D. Bradley. The wedding will be quietly celebrated, only members of the family to witness the vows. Miss Florence Bradley will attend the bride and Mr. J. D. Rieplinger will serve his brother as best man.

Miss Bradley is a graduate of the historic French convent, Les Ursulines de Quebec, and is considered not only an accomplished artist but an expert rifle shot and horsewoman. Mr. and Mrs. Rieplinger will spend their honeymoon in St. Louis, and will be at home after Dec. 1 at 1139 Perry avenue.

Mrs. Albert Flandreau Dean, 1106 Church street, Evanston, has issued cards for Thursday afternoon of next week in the Woman's club rooms in the Young Men's Christian Association building to hear Mrs. Bertha Smith-Titus give a "Parsifal" recital.

Mrs. H. O. Stone and her sister, Mrs. Parker, are at Heaton hall, Stockbridge, Mass. Mrs. Stone has closed her home at Beach Bluff, and no definite date has been set for her home coming.

Mrs. Harry Sturtevant will give a dinner at the Moraine hotel, Highland Park, this evening, preceding the annual harvest dance at the hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Robison have opened their home at 297 Ashland boulevard after spending the summer at Algonquin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Flannery of Wheaton announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence, to Mr. Howard Arthur Woolverton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woolverton of South Bend, Ind.

Mrs. George Thomas Padwall, 321 St. Nicholas avenue, New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morton Marshall of Oak Park.

NO ART IN TRIMMING OF HATS.

Judge Brentano, Deciding Contention Over Milliner, Decides She's Not Genius, but Skilled Laborer.

In dissolving a restraining order preventing Miss Mildred Reith, a milliner, from leaving the employ of Rabinovitch & Ogus and engaging with a rival millinery establishment on Milwaukee avenue, Judge Brentano yesterday decided, in effect, that the designing and trimming of hats for the trade in that section of the city does not call for a high degree of art. The complainant company averred that Miss Reith's talent could not be duplicated and that loss was suffered through her action. The milliner contended that her accomplishment was not extraordinary and that she was but a skilled laborer. The court upheld this view. An appeal will be taken by the complainants.

WINTER LECTURES TO BEGIN.

University Courses Commence at Three Centers the First Week in October.

The fourth annual announcement of the University Lecture association has just been issued. The announcement contains a résumé of the work done during the last year and plans for the courses to be delivered during the coming season at the three principal centers.

North side—Lincoln Park Congregational church, 707 Fullerton boulevard, Monday evenings.

South side—All Souls' church, Oakwood boulevard and Langley avenue, Tuesday evenings.

West side—Lewis institute, Robey and Madison streets, Thursday evenings.

The courses of lectures in each center will begin the first week in October and continue until the 1st of April.

The program of the north side center opens Oct. 3 with a course of lectures on "Great Novelists of the Nineteenth Century," by Prof. J. G. Center Troop.

At the south side center Prof. Breasted opens the season Oct. 4 with the first of a series of six lectures on "History and Civilization of Egypt."

The west side center opens Oct. 6 with a course of six lectures on "Struggles and Problems of the Far East," by Dr. Toyokichi Iyenaga.

Beginning next Saturday a series of nine lectures on science and travel will be given on succeeding Saturdays at 3 o'clock in Fullerton hall, Art institute, Michigan avenue and Adams street. The course is the twenty-first series of free lectures given there. F. W. Skiff is director of the movement.

The first lecture will be by Dr. C. F. Millspaugh, curator of botany at the Field museum, on "Wild Flowers of the Chicago Basin."

ENGLEWOOD WANTS A CLEANUP.

Residents Organize for Tidier and Better Streets and May Take Charge of the Work Themselves.

Residents and merchants in and near Sixty-third street met at the Englewood reading rooms, 769 West Sixty-third street, last evening and formed an organization for temporary improvement, which will be perfected at another meeting next Friday evening. Ald. Butterworth of the Thirty-first ward and Ald. Eidmann of the Thirty-second ward advised the members to take charge of the cleaning and, if necessary, the repaving of portions of the street. They said the city is not in a position at present to do so owing to financial stringency. The aldermen advocated the organizing of a club to take charge of cleaning Sixty-third street. The work would be done more satisfactorily and better, they said, than if citizens waited for the city to do it.

MARITAL MIXUPS IN COURT

MILKMAN WINS IN $50,000 SUIT FOR ALIENATION.

Mrs. Christine Smakal Finds Her Recreant Husband in Chicago After Following Him from Bohemia—Mrs. Fred Hoover Says Her Life Romance Was Shattered After Only a Four Days' Honeymoon — Spouse Flees with Her Savings.

Alienation of affections, elopements, and desertion figured in marital discords aired in the courts yesterday. Elopers from Bohemia and from Fond du Lac, Wis., came to grief. A milk dealer, said to be wealthy, who was declared to have destroyed the happiness of one of his customers, won a victory when the damage suit against him came to a hearing.

Charles Pagel, a milkman, 822 West Forty-seventh street, was defendant in a suit for $50,000 damages, because of the alleged alienation by him of the affections of the wife of Felix Greenauer. The hearing was before Judge Healy. The plaintiff's attorney withdrew from the prosecution of the suit when he learned that the defendant admitted all that was charged and that this did not constitute grounds for action.

Plead for a Continuance.

"I would like this case continued," said Greenauer's attorney. "Our witnesses are not here."

"You have had nearly two years to get them," remarked Judge Healy. "What do you expect to prove?"

The Greenauers were married twenty-four years. In 1895, according to the plaintiff, Pagel began to pay great attention to Mrs. Greenauer, who in 1902 secured a divorce, alleging drunkenness. A week later the woman was married to Pagel. Greenauer resides at 508 Wabash avenue and is a storekeeper in a factory.

Accuses Husband of Eloping.

On the testimony of Mrs. Christine Smakal, Joseph Smakal, her husband, and Mrs. Jessie Nemic, 577 Loomis street, were held to the grand jury by Justice Sabath. The woman said the couple eloped eighteen months ago from Prague, Bohemia. The deserted wife found her recreant husband in Chicago five days ago.

Smakal and Mrs. Nemic met at a festival in the Bohemian city, according to the wife. They were attracted to one another, the woman said, and disappeared at the same time. Since then the deserted wife has hunted them in her desire to get revenge.

"When I found them in Chicago," said Mrs. Smakal, "I knew my time for revenge had come."

When the prisoners were committed to jail, on their failure to secure bonds of $500 each, Mrs. Smakal pleaded with the court to release her husband. Justice Sabath refused.

Only Four Days of Honeymoonn.

Her life romance shattered after a four days' honeymoon, Mrs. Fred B. Hoover asked the assistance of the police to recover the money her husband had taken from her.

Hoover and his wife came from Albion, Ind., Wednesday. The husband said he had $12,000, with which he was going to buy a stock of jewelry. He persuaded his wife that the $200 she had should be intrusted to him for safe keeping.

Hoover left the hotel to make purchases and, it is alleged, forgot to return. His wife first said to the police that she believed the man had been robbed. When she learned that he had gone to the railroad office, taken his baggage, and departed in safety, she felt that she had been duped. Mrs. Hoover was a music teacher in Albion.

Two Are Charged with Abduction.

Charged with abduction, Walter Halla, 67 Clybourn avenue, and Ralph Afton, 2398 West Ohio street, were taken to Fond du Lac, Wis., with the young women they were to have married. The plans of the men were spoiled by the appearance of the father of Anna Goedders, 14 years old.

The girl was taken to the annex to the Harrison street police station, and Maud Arnold, her companion, was placed in a cell.

Begins Fourth Suit for Divorce.

For the fourth time Edward Stupey of Waukegan has asked for a divorce from Josephine Buell Stupey. He started two suits before in Lake county and one in Joliet. In the last action the charge is desertion. They were married in July, 1902, and have one child.

Wife Has a Poor Memory.

Mrs. Nellie M. Rose knew she had been married and that her husband had left her, but she had difficulty in remembering the dates when she appeared before Judge Frost to ask for a divorce from Albert H. Rose. She finally decided the desertion was in 1897 or 1898 and was granted the decree. Rose is believed to be in the Klondike region.

Tired of living with his wife and five children, Peter Blau, a contractor in Madison, Wis., departed, so Mrs. Kate M. Blau told Judge Frost in explaining her marital troubles. She was granted a divorce.

GEORGE M'CUTCHEON TO WED?

Rumor Engages Him to Mrs. Marie Fay of Highland Park and No Denial Is Made.

After flying around Highland Park for several days the rumor reached Chicago yesterday that George Barr McCutcheon, the novelist, was engaged to marry Mrs. Marie Fay, a young widow residing in the north shore suburb. In Highland Park the rumor is believed, and even Mr. McCutcheon himself did not have the heart to deny it—quite.

"There is nothing to be said at this time," was his statement.

Friends predict that the formal announcement will not be delayed long.

Mrs. Fay and the author met in the summer and were much in each others company, gossips say.

NEWS AND REVIEWS.

DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION.

Life of Mme. Junot Reviewed by Jeannette L. Gilder, Editor of the Critic.

THERE seems to be a growing taste for historical compilations. There is always an audience ready for such books as those of Le Notre, deNohlac, and Saint Amand. There are so many of us who want to read in one volume what we remember in a vague way as having read in many volumes, but have, as it were, lost track of.

A book much along these lines is "A DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION," just about to be published by Messrs. E. P. Dutton & Co. In the book, Mrs. Catherine M. Bearne relates the story of Laura Permon, afterwards the wife of Gen. Junot, and who, best as the duchess d'Abrantes, was one of the most interesting women of the court of Napoleon. Hers was a stormy, brilliant career, checkered with good and evil fortune, poverty and splendor, piety and triumphs; but it was never dull.

Laura Permon, like Napoleon, was a Corsican by birth. The Permon and Bonaparte families were friends in Corsica and later in Paris, where Laura became a leader of society at Napoleon's court. The Permons were poor after the death of the husband and father, and the mother looked about her for a suitable husband for her attractive daughter of 16. Her first choice was so distasteful to Laura that the mother granted her daughter's entreaties that she should not marry the man. Just at this time Gen. Junot, who was only 28 years of age, came to Paris. He had known Laura as a child, and when he saw her as a girl of 16 fell instantly in love with her. Napoleon, whose relations with Mme. Permon had become strained, tried to discourage the marriage, but when he found that Junot was determined, he gave the girl 100,000 francs for a dot, and the affair was settled.

From the day of her marriage to the day of her death the life of Laura Permon was a thrilling one. Fiction pales before the facts of this romance. Why do we read historical novels when we can read history such as this? It would be difficult for a novelist, no matter how fertile his brain, to invent the situations that fell to the hand of the author of this book in making her researches.

Messrs. Putnam have in press a remarkable novel, called "THE RAGGED MESSENGER," by W. B. Maxwell. The name of this writer is new to me, but I venture the prediction that he will be well known before long. The hero of the story, John Morton, the ragged messenger, is a clergyman of the Church of England, who flies in the face of his bishops and teaches religion in his own way. In a moment of expansion this clergyman marries a woman of the streets, who swears to him that she is pure as she is beautiful. Almost at the same moment he inherits something less than a hundred million from a relative, who died in America. This money he proceeds at once to give out for the benefit of the poor, and he continues to live almost as humbly as he lived before he had anything.

The story is not entirely of the slums. There are numerous scenes from "high life," and the chatter of the rich and great is as cleverly done as that of Mrs. Craigie or Mr. "Dodo" Benson. I quote some examples:

"Well," said Lady Tollhurst, waving away interruptions, "at Lady Barker's the bishop of Winchboro' was sitting opposite. You know Lady Barker always invites the oddest collection of people. You go there, doctor, don't you?"

"No, no."

"And this Mr. Morton fell upon him—the bishop, don't you know—O, he tackled him about the church, and really mauled him. The poor bishop got so hot, and flustered, and angry. Everybody at the table felt uncomfortable. It really was one of the most successful parties Lady Barker has ever given."

They are talking of the Ragged Messenger's influence over Lady Sarah Joyce, whose life he had saved:

"For the last two months she has been about with him continually. Taken up the whole thing! Talks—like a fool—of his having saved one life and given her another."

"Bless us and save us!" cried Lady Tollhurst.

"She goes with him," said Lord Patrington, slowly and solemnly, "everywhere. Among dreadful people—fallen women."

"O," said Lady Tollhurst, "that's all the rage. Slumming is completely dead. But the other is quite the thing."

"Not for my daughter."

"I assure you," said Lady Tollhurst, "Lady Melton is wrapped up in it. She has started a club—for the Piccadilly ladies. It got on her nerves to see them outside her house on wet nights."

"My dear Kate!"

"It's a fact. I am on the committee. Lady Melton is going to give a ball at the club for the poor things, and she says it's positively humiliating to find how eager all the best dancing men are for cards."

"At first one might mistake Lady Sarah for a not unusual type of well born, well nurtured, carefully guarded English girlhood; aristocratically commonplace, gracefully uninteresting."

Herbert Carpenter, a poor relation of Lord Patrington, is described: "Colbeck perhaps unjustly classed him as a type which he greatly disliked; the well born amateur who seems to have all the vaporings of the artist and the swagger of the man of fashion; one of those people who, without performance, insidiously assume reputation; who write long letters to the Times and sign their names in full, instead of calling themselves 'Puzzled' or 'Nonentity.'"

Here is an example of the smart dialogue:

"Has not the time come to build a national theater? Are we adequately to restore our noble old abbey or permit it to crumble into dust as the sands slip through the glass of time? Will no one aid in removing this eyesore and erecting in its place a palace of industry worthy of our empire? That, sir, is the question asked by yours, etc., Herbert Carpenter."

"Well," said Lord Patrington, "what is it? What can I do for you?"

"You really are clairvoyant," said Mr. Carpenter.

"No, you are transparent," said Lady Tollhurst, sharply.

There is a big scene toward the end of the book where the preacher discovers his wife's perfidy:

Morton closed the door, locked it, and came towards his wife. She cowered down upon the floor and gave a cry of terror as he took her by the wrist.

"What are you going to do with me? Not kill me?"

"Kill you? No," and he put away the shining revolver. "No. Look at you, make much of you, wife of my bosom! Study the shifty eyes and trembling mouth that the devil has left me in exchange for heaven. Feel the puny arms that have pulled down the structure of my whole life and hurled me down God's narrow path to the open gates of hell, between the setting and the rising of the sun."

"Let me go. Let me go. I am afraid of you."

"Afraid—why Am I not all that a husband should be—simple and easy, slow to suspect, quick and clever to shield his wife from discredit and disgrace?"

"Let me go."

"Hold up your face," and with his hand beneath her chin he turned the white face upwards, and gazed down with wild, fierce eyes. "Let me see how well the devil can pick his servants. Yes! You are well chosen to do the work. I was weary of my lonely toil, longing for the touch of a woman's hand in mine, pining for a helpmate in my task, when he set you, ragged and shivering, in my path. Well chosen, my master—a harlot with the face of a saint! It was the love that begins in pity that served your turn."

"O, let me go."

But he would not let her go until she had told the cruel story of his betrayal. "The Mad Messiah," they called Morton, and mad he certainly was. Good as gold, but mad.

It would not surprise me if this book should have a great success. In spite of its tragedy it has flashes of wit, in spite of its exaggeration it has truth. It is a strong story, far away from the common.

Mr. Upton Sinclair, who first attracted attention to himself by masquerading as "Arthur Sterling," now writes over his own name. Having forced the reading public to notice him, he has, for the time at least, put aside his early hysterical manner.

His new book, "MANASSAS," a novel of the war (Macmillan), which, of course, he is too young to know about from experience, is sane enough and rationally told. Mr. Sinclair has been floundering about for some time, but now he seems to have found himself, and as he is not without real talent he may, with judicious encouragement, come into his own, for he is still on the sunny side of 30. BOOK GOSSIP OF LONDON.

Fad for Colored Illustrations the Feature of the Season—Some Are Gorgeously Oriental.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]
[Copyright: 1904: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Booksellers' windows are beginning to show the first signs of the expected Christmas harvest. A fad for color books is one of the features of the season. Black publishes "Morocco Painted," by A. S. Forrest and described by S. L. Bersunan. The illustrations are gorgeously oriental in coloring. Other color books announced by the same firm are "London Vanished and Vanishing," by Mr. Philip Norman, and "Familiar London," by Miss Rose Barton. It will be interesting to see what the illustrators, whose chief failing is straining after color effects, will do with the leaden skies and drab buildings of London.

The most interesting recent contribution to London history is a posthumous work on "London in the Times of the Tudors," by Sir Walter Besant. The work is illustrated by reproductions of old prints.

On Sept. 27 Lane will issue "Charms," a new novel by the earl of Iddesleigh. "The Lady of Loyalty House," by Justin Huntly McCarthy, is to be issued shortly. It is to be dramatized like its predecessor, "If I Were King."

Henry Froud is about to publish a facsimile limited to 240 copies of the original edition of "Grimm's Fairy Tales." All of Cruickshank's illustrations of the two series of stories published in 1823 and 1826 will be reproduced from the original plates.

Japan in Pictures.

"Japan in Pictures," by Douglas Sladen, is sure to prove popular just now. The volume is almost entirely made up of photographs of the famous and beautiful places of that wonderful country, with brief introductions to the separate groups of illustrations portraying Japan's water life, its crops and flowers, landscapes, temples, street and street life, and manner of living. The photographs give us, however inadequately, a glimpse of Japan—picturesque, mysterious, and forever fascinating to all who allow themselves to be swayed ever so little by its life, its literature, or its religion. The SOLDIER of the VALLEY

By NELSON LLOYD

Beautifully illustrated by A. B. Frost. 12mo, $1.50

THE Happy Valley to which Mr. Lloyd's Soldier comes back wounded at twenty-three to be the village hero and schoolmaster, is peopled by a community so delightfully quaint, simple and individual as to capture the reader completely. Rarely is there such a combination of humor, pathos, and deep feeling offered in a modern tale as that with which the Soldier's love story is told. It is a book destined to a host of peculiarly strong friends.

The FOOD of the GODS

By H. G. WELLS. 12mo, $1.50

AN absorbing story as well as a wonderfully suggestive invention. Several former novels have shown Mr. Well's extraordinary power to vividly realizing the most daringly imagined conditions. No reader of "The War of the Worlds" or "When the Sleeper Wakes" is likely to forget the strange and powerful pictures of a possible future there created, or the in new story is a surpassing example of these powers; and in it Mr. Wells genuity which presented his conceptions with such weird attraction. This combines them with a very telling addition of humor, pathos, and even tragedy. The book proves his powers on a high plane, gripping the reader's interest in a way which his inventiveness alone would be incapable of.

AMONG THE NEW BOOKS.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT PUBLICATIONS.

PARKER'S A LADDER OF SWORDS.

Reviewed by Ella W. Peattie.

It is with serious interest that one approaches a novel from the pen of Sir Gilbert Parker. The average books that come to the hand of the reviewer may be quickly and amiably dismissed. It would be as discourteous and as foolish to quarrel with them as it would be to object to the personal appearance, the manner of dress, the absence of politeness, and the bad grammar of the common crowd met upon the street. They are below par, these passersby, but one accords them good will, something of understanding, much of apology, and lets them go their way. The vast company of undistinguished books are treated in much the same spirit. A courteous glance suffices.

But, as upon the street, in encountering a person of distinction, one feels at liberty to bring into use his powers of criticism, so, upon the appearance of a book by a certain hand, the reviewer feels at liberty to write unconstrainedly, setting aside mere amiability for the exercise of truth.

It will be remembered that the last novel by Sir Gilbert was "The Right of Way," a book which furnished in its first half an inimitable piece of characterization which would have set the novel among the greater achievements in English fiction had the second half not trailed off into something inconsequent. I have always held that the book was tampered with—that somewhere, between author and printer, caution got the upper hands of art. Those concessions to a timid literary constituency which stultify latter day art must have been made in the interest of American dollars. The result was a permanent setback to a fame that might, through the medium of that book, have touched the elevation where Thomas Hardy stands almost alone.

So powerful was the novel, however, that it was with keen interest that I opened "A LADDER OF SWORDS," Sir Gilbert's latest novel. It is whispered loudly that the distinguished Canadian has been profoundly wounded by his fellow countrymen, who, provincials that they are, feel little interest in work which is not merely complimentary to them. They have effronted their greatest writer and caused him to take refuge elsewhere laden with oaths to write no more and think no more of Canada. It is not surprising, therefore, to find him setting his romance in "the spacious times of Queen Elizabeth."

A pair of Huguenot lovers—the demoiselle Angele Claude Aubert and M. Michel de la Foret—are the chief characters. The setting is now the isle of Jersey, now the court of Elizabeth. The great queen herself figures in the tale. There are many characters for comedy—a pirate, an island seigneur, a fool, and certain quarreling noblemen.

The story, however complicated by picturesque and adventurous incidents, is a simple one, and consists of the persecutions put upon the Huguenot, De la Foret, by Catherine of Medici, and the protection offered him by Elizabeth. The two war for this spirited fighter and promulgator of the Protestant faith, and Elizabeth, forced to inflict some punishment for his temerity, condemns him to relinquish his sword and preach from the pulpit. He is, of course, separated by treachery from his love, and reunited to her only after extraordinary evidences of devotion on her part and dangers to them both.

The story is sufficiently cohesive, even if it lacks the true elements of the dramatic. It belongs in the category with tales of adventure, and is, indeed, the historical novel, not exceptionally done. Sir Gilbert has evidently, in the cabinets of some favored person, found some romantic material bearing upon the day of which he writes, and, as he felt that another novel was due from him at this period, he has used this material, and has employed both poetry and humor in dealing with it. But it is no more than truth to say that there is not, from cover to cover, a touch of that old charm, that wild and wonderful atmosphere, that half mystic romance of his earlier books. It was the Canadian wild that made its imperative call to the artistic elements in Sir Gilbert. It is Canada that moves him—Canada beyond the dull towns—and it may well be doubted if he will ever write on any subject as he wrote of Canadian times and places. How stupid, how almost impious, for his countrymen to have remained indifferent to his abilities!

It must be urged that, if Sir Gilbert is to decline upon inefficient historical fiction, he will do better to lay aside a pen which has at least brought him up the ladder to firm distinction, and give himself up now to those political and social honors which are his. He might better rest secure in the value of the work he has done than confess to deterioration. It goes without saying that "A Ladder of Swords" is tremendously above the average of contemporary published fiction. The only trouble is that it is not up to Sir Gilbert Parker's average. It is well illustrated by the Kinneys. (Harper & Brothers, publishers.)

"THE LAST HOPE," by the late Henry Seton Merriman, is a romance of a pretender to the throne of the French. Loo Barbone is his name, and he grew up at Farlingford, an east coast fishing village of England, and was the son of a man who had upon a certain turbulent day been brought ashore in a smack. This waif, it appeared, was the cause of solicitude on the part of the French government. He was never lost sight of, though he grew up like the simple folk about him, became a sailor and a fisher, and married a woman of the port. His son, Loo Barbone, followed the steps of his father, and differed from the people with whom he lived only in great alertness of brain, a neater diction, and a merrier heart.

Had not a too faithful royalist of France sought him out and burdened him with the revelation that he was Louis XVII. of France, he might have lived happily and well. As it was, he was taken to France, met with a half royal reception, was recognized by the old noblesse to have the features of his grandfather, the martyred Louis, and was driven by degrees to act as the pawn for which contesting parties played.

He loved a woman back at Farlingford, the niece of the pastor there, a woman of refinement and beauty, but he was driven by her away from all thoughts of private happiness to take up with his obligations to France. Twice he returned from France to seek her, and twice was driven back. When the coup d'etat of Louis Bonaparte put an end to all his hopes of ascending the throne, he sought haven at Farlingford, and coming on a night of storm, was wrecked. He lost his life in endeavoring to save his old time sailor friends of Farlingford, and was cast dead, at the feet of the woman who had sent him away, but whom he had loved through the storms of a life which might but for the vain dreams of other men have remained peaceful and happy.

The tale is not of a new sort, and the reason that the reader, satiated with stories of the descendants of Louis XVI. does not turn from it, is because of the characterization. The book introduces one to a curious, taciturn, honest, and lovable group of people, the natives of Farlingford; to a facile English adventurer, to certain members of the old noblesse of France—pale, dream like, haughty, remote figures like those seen upon old tapestry. The finest idea in the book is the effect upon a simple yet dramatic character of a great and dominating idea. For as Loo Barbone came to believe in his kingship, he became a king—so much a king that he could make the utmost sacrifice for his country—so much a master that, suspecting at last the fraudulency of his claims, he could, in the face of success, put those claims aside that he might be true to the virtue that had grown up in him.

There are certain tricks of style in the book which the writer has employed to lend verisimilitude to his tale, but which fail of their purpose, while they detract from the literary quality of the book. This insistent clipping of sentences is annoying and unreal. The book has not the direct dramatic power of "Lazarre." It is agreeably illustrated. (Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers.)

"THE PAGAN'S PROGRESS," by Gouverneur Morris, is to be compared only to Stanley Waterloo's "Ab," and it at once loses and gains by comparison. It is more charming, but it is not so strong. It is a diverting study in primitive man. Mr. Morris deals with the indestructible instincts of the human race and shows men as they were in the days when they dwelt in caves.

He introduces into his primitive world a man with the artistic temperament, one who carved pictures on bone and who was held in contempt by his tribesmen; a warlike woman who was his opposite, and whom he therefore loved; a wiley old maker of flints, who was likewise a philosopher; a beautiful maiden for whom men fought, and who, in a way, brought about the tragedy of the tale and various other characters. The labor of brains comes, in the end, to transcend the labor of the hands among the cave men, even as in the present time. And there arose in the breast of one of the cave men, the son of the maker of pictures on bone, a certain sentiment that might in verity be termed love.

The name of the lover was Sunrise, and she whom he followed was Dawn. Sunrise was the son of the man who had made pictures upon bone, and who had invented the bow and arrow, and he had feelings which were different from those of his people. Dawn was desired by many men, and one of these tore her from her cave and carried her away into the forest, and for days Sunrise followed with fear and hate and a madness of love in his heart. When he at last overtook Dawn she was dying, and Sunsire served her as best he could, and then swept on his way to slay the man. And when he had slain him he returned to Dawn, whom he found cold. So he put her in a cave and, lest she should hunger on her long and unknown journey, he slew a deer and put it by her, and lest she should meet dangers he laid beside her his bow and his arrows. And he sealed the cave and set homeward by the long trail. "And as he went he kept finding her silent among the violets." So the "pagan" progressed as far as romance and the love of the spirit, as far as pure visions, as far as tender grief. The book is of a savage time, but it is, after all, an idyl. (A. S. Barnes & Co., publishers.)

Ellen Douglas Deland has written a story for girls, which she has entitled "JOSEPHINE." A good story for girls is not a particularly easy thing for the publishers to secure, and those who have the ability to write them may congratulate themselves on their marketable talents.

Josephine is a young girl who has grown up in the state of Washington, whose father dies and whose stepmother sends her east, accompanied by a little sister, to live with an uncle. This uncle, Dr. Hale, has a family of motherless boys, with a sharp tongued housekeeper to look after them. The boys do not fancy the idea of girls in the house, and the housekeeper openly expresses her disapproval. Dr. Hale alone meets the daughters of his dead brother with kindness, and even he is not able to feign enthusiasm.

This is the severe proposition with which the young heroines are confronted, and the story consists of their failures and triumphs in their efforts to make themselves beloved and appreciated. The book has a pleasant atmosphere about it, and the young people are well bred and pleasant to know. (Harper & Bros., publishers.) ELIA W. PEATTIE.

UP TO DATE HIGHWAYMAN.

"The Motor Pirate," a Romance of the Craze for Automobiling.

"THE MOTOR PIRATE," by Sidney Paternoster, is a ninevitable novel. The only wonder is that it has been delayed so long. It was certain that with the development of the automobile some enterprising author would write a story of adventure in which the plot should center about a motor car of surpassing speed. Here it is—and that is really all that need be said.

G. Sidney Paternoster is a workman who knows his business. He has left out none of the commonly accepted persons or properties which go to make up a novel. He writes plain and intelligible English. And in the center of everything is the long, low, rakish automobile, guided by a perfectly modern and exactly up to date highwaynan. Yet one finds certain things which are out of drawing. The sustained interest of the story depends on keeping the reader as long as possible in ignorance of the identity of the motor car bandit. To one reader at least it was perfectly plain after the first few chapters who the bandit was, and what followed was read only from a sense of duty.

On the whole it is a poor thing—not especially well done and not worth doing at any rate. It is merely an attempt to find a novel setting for an ancient tale—to give this ravenous, novel reading public a story which shall attract them chiefly because of the fact that just now motoring is a fashionable fad. (L. C. Page & Co., Boston.)

ROLAND OF ALTENBURG.

Another Romance of Incognitos and Foreign Principalities.

Given a German crown prince traveling incognito in America, an automobile accident in which he rescues a fair New York girl, and something interesting is likely to happen as a sequel. This incident is the opening chapter of Edward Mott Woolley's "ROLAND OF ALTENBURG" (H. S. Stone & Co.), which has just appeared. Of course, all true characters are later found in the principality of Altenburg, where Roland's rank is still unknown to Katherine Barrington and where he is expected to marry the princess of a neighboring state, for political purposes, although he doesn't love her.

There are dungeons and political intrigues, spies, imprisonments, arrests, and brave rescues, and Roland at last wins Katherine in spite of his American rival and in spite of political necessities. Mr. Woolley has written a book which, while it is not another "Zenda," or even another "Graustark," has continuous interest and entertainment.

BOOK OF NEGRO SONGS.

"Old Voices," Recollections of Southern Days by Howard Wheeden.

"OLD VOICES," by Howard Wheeden, author of "Bandanna Ballads" and "Songs of the Old South," is a collection of poems which, as their title suggests, breathe a love for the south and its old time ways. The poems, like all dialect and children's poems, have a homely and singing quality, they touch the heart, and if the reader is one to whom the south and its southern negro is dear, the sentiment and suggestion outweigh all turn of rhyme or meter. Many of the poems are humorous, though the humor, like that of all negro melodies, is plaintive.

The book is intended as a gift book: it has portraits by the author of the simple black folk of whom the poems are written, and full page borders by Cora Parker. (Doubleday, Page & Co., New York.)

WELLS' MANKIND IN THE MAKING.

Reviewed by Prof. George C. Howland of the University of Chicago.

IN "MANKIND IN THE MAKING" (Scribners) Mr. H. G Wells, that genial satirist and inventive prophet, has cast aside his veil of fiction and personally addresses his audience. The central thought of the volume is that the chief object of work and planning is to secure the existence of a healthy and happy race, and that the obscuration or direct evasion of this duty of living and planning for the race is responsible for individual unsoundness and unhappiness. Unfortunately the things which are most brilliantly true in Mr. Wells' book find no possibility of concrete expression in the world today. All the solemn shams of coronation ceremonies, parades of troops, or social observances are likely to continue. In spite of Mr. Wells' apt characterization of "science studies with laboratory work" in our high schools as on a par with the practice in Dotheboys hall, where the mention of a window was inseparably connected with the act of washing it, it is likely that the time of our boys and girls will continue to be frittered away in useless demonstrations of things that every schoolboy knows. Kings will be crowned as the anointed of God when we know that they secured the throne by dark methods, and people will marry who are not fit to be parents. The reflex action of humbug, as Mr. Wells illustrates, causes the world to take with autohypnotic seriousness things which behind the veil of inner consciousness it knows to be a delusion, a symbol, a bit of playful foolishness. But like Felix we are ready to hear now or at some future time any eloquent enthusiast, even though he urge us to beliefs or deeds we have no intention of making our own.

A work that is a compendium of all that is most recent and valuable in child study is "ADOLESCENCE, ITS PSYCHOLOGY AND ITS RELATIONS TO PHYSIOLOGY, ANTHROPOLOGY, SOCIOLOGY, SEX, CRIME, RELIGION, AND EDUCATION," by G. Stanley Hall (D. Appleton & Co.). Cumbersome as the title is, it does not exhaust the contents of the book. Any consideration of the changes resulting from adolescence necessarily implies a knowledge of conditions precedent. The contemplation of those conditions leads the author back through the childhood of the individual to the infancy of the race, to our hairy ancestor "with pointed ears and a tail, probably arboreal in his habits," and further still to our pelagic progenitor, swaying in the shifting currents of the tepid sea. Instinctive longings and aversions become to the anthropologist the faded tatters of a robe of custom worn ages ago. That this attempt to trace in the child the history of the race should lead to extravagances and contradictions is inevitable. President Hall does not expressly indorse all the details which he quotes from others in exemplification of the phylogenic theory, yet he is confident that there can be no other basis for a proper study of psychology and particularly of adolescence.

Whether one accepts this position of President Hall or with Prof. De Vries goes to the other extreme of denying racial influence, natural selection, and all the other laws of evolutionists, those chapters of "Adolescence" which deal particularly with the changes which come with puberty are of the highest interest. It would be difficult to find anything of importance left unsaid. The squeamishness of the past compelled the ignoring of some of the most essential facts in child history. The scientific spirit of the present finds knowledge of the physical nature of the growing child or the ripening youth an indispensable prerequisite to a thorough study of his intellectual or moral development. The anatomical and physiological details given make this book impossible to place on the teacher's desk in school, but every teacher should have the opportunity of reading it. To attempt to enumerate in brief the contents of the volumes would be futile. The position of President Hall is too secure and too well known to make it necessary to say more than that this is the summing up of his experience, his beliefs, his aspirations, and his teachings.

"ESSAYS FOR THE DAY," by Theodore T. Munger (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.), contains many interesting pages from the pen of one of the most venerable and beloved of American clergymen. Of the essays which make up the book, the most significant is that on the interrelations of Christianity and literature. To the introduction of the purgatorial idea the deeper spiritual studies from the "Divina Commedia" to the "Scarlet Letter" owe their being. The author traces the force of this Christian belief into many literary productions, where perhaps it is not to be suspected. The essays show no weakening of the powers which have secured a wide hearing for Mr. Munger and are heartily welcome. GEORGE C. HOWLAND.

"Beethoven and His Forerunners" is the second volume in the series begun by Daniel Gregory Mason in "From Grieg to Brahms."

Dr. Edward T. Devine's "The Principles of Relief," Prof. C. R. Henderson's "Modern Methods of Charity," and Mr. Hunter's work on "Poverty" are three important new books in sociology and the care and help of the unfortunate classes.

BOOKS FOR YOUNGER FOLK.

"TALES OF A POULTRY FARM," by Clara D. Pierson is a unique collection of stories for children. As the author expresses it in her introduction, "I have often wondered why there were not more stories written about chickens and their friends, and now I am glad that there have been so few, for I have greatly enjoyed writing some for you." It is true that people have not paid much attention in fiction to this particular group of animals we are all acquainted with. Mrs. Pierson has done this with not only "enjoyment," but cleverness and humor. Also she has inconspicuously inserted many little lessons on kindliness and other virtues which may be practiced by children as well as chickens. The writer tells the story, but she allows the various chicken and duck characters to do their own talking and develop their own characters. It is at once an amusing and instructive book for children. (E. P. Dutton & Co.)

"A BOOK OF LITTLE BOYS," by Helen Dawes Brown, needs no introduction to those who have read "Little Miss Phoebe Gay" and other of this author's stories for children. This little volume contains fourteen short stories about little boys, some of them appealing to a child's sense of humor—such as "Church Discipline"—and others to his sense of heroism, as in "The True History of a Drum." The stories are slight enough in plot, but they have the sympathetic touch which makes a child feel that the writer understands his point of view. The language of these stories, however, is not always modified enough. For instance, this sentence, "Mrs. Skene stood by the doorway quickly taking the impression of the charming interior," would require some explaining to a child of 6 or 7, for whom the stories, to judge by the themes, are written. This is, however, a slight matter considering the stories as a whole, for they are just the sort to interest small boys—which means, to give them ideas, and lead them to form plans and resolutions. The illustrations are quaint and add greatly to the prettiness of the book. (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.)

Two books on dogs appear simultaneously this month: "STORIES OF BRAVE DOGS" retold from St. Nicholas (The Century company), and "YOURS WITH ALL MY HEART," by Esther M. Baxendale (Page & Co.)

The difference between the two books is so striking that one who reads them both cannot help but compare them, though they are so totally unlike. The St. Nicholas stories are nearly all of them true; some of them tell of the heroism of dogs, others are interesting studies of dog character, and a few are merely stories. There are a few poems inserted among the stories, also taken from the magazine. The book is an excellent one to give to children who possess or love these faithful animals. In direct contrast to the virility and sentiment, unmixed with sentimentality, of these stories, is the other book mentioned—"Yours with All My Heart"—which is the life of an Italian gazelle hound, told by herself. The book is mawkish: it has no reason for being as that oversentimental but dearly loved story, "Black Beauty," which is a plea for kindness to dumb animals. Black Beauty tells his own story, but he never trespassed the bounds of brute intelligence, as the dog in this story continually does. Here is an example: "I sat down in one of the old Damascus chairs, inlaid with pearl, to have my picture taken for you. Old Damascus! Where Saint Paul was going, mamma said, when he met the Christ who turned him from his cruel purpose toward men. You think he never showed himself in pity to a humble little creature like me, but you must not be too sure."

Sympathy, kindness, understanding, love, one ought to have for one's pets, but one ought not on that account to write a book such as this, filled with maudlin detail.

"THE BOOK OF INDOOR AND OUTDOOR GAMES," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland, is what seems to be an exhaustive compilation of games for young and old, for all sorts of times and places. Mothers will find this book a sure friend when children's parties are in order. Every month of the year has its games and entertainments.

Mrs. Kingsland has made a study of games, evidently, for she brings to light many old and forgotten ones. There are games for Sunday evenings; writing, singing, impromptu games; in fact, the book is an encyclopedia of amusements. (Doubleday, Page & Co.)

IDYL OF BOYHOOD.

"Farmington," by Mr. Darrow, Gives a Picture of American Country Childhood.

Mr. Clarence Darrow's idyl of boyhood, "FARMINGTON," is issued today by A. C. McClurg & Co. Mr. Darrow, who has already written several books of considerable literary merit, in this volume essays to record his impressions of boyhood from his own recollections of life in a small Pennsylvania town. His aim seems to have been to draw a truthful picture that would appeal to middle aged Americans whose youth was spent among similar surroundings, and thus far at least he has succeeded.

Without attempting fine writing or losing himself in sentimental reminiscence he has given a simple reproduction of American boyhood that should appeal to a great many. A further notice of "Farmington" will appear later.

Clarence S. Darrow

AROUND the recollections of his boyhood in a Pennsylvania village Mr. Darrow has created an atmosphere of most delicate imagination and whimsical humor, told in a manner which makes an irresistible appeal to the reader whose memories turn readily to his own boyhood. It would be difficult to state when the indefinable illusion that surrounds such recollections has been more successfully put into a book. Mr. William Dean Howells, who read the manuscript, expressed himself in no uncertain terms as to its merits, going so far as to say that "it belongs with Tolstoi's 'Childhood, Boyhood and Youth.'"

ILLINOIS CENTRAL ISSUES REPORT.

Shows Big Gain in Operating Expenses for Last Fiscal Year.

NET EARNINGS FALL OFF.

Long, Cold Winter and Higher Wages Cause the Growth of Outlay.

The fifty-fourth annual report of the Illinois Central railroad company, covering the fiscal year ended June 30 last, was issued yesterday. The feature of the report is an increase in operating expenses of nearly $3,000,000 over the preceding year, while the gross receipts from traffic increased only $1,645,000, making a decrease in net earnings from traffic of $1,392,667.

The increase in operating expenses is due to the prolonged and intense cold of last winter, the increased cost of fuel, and an increase of over $1,200,000 in the wages of those engaged in the operation of the railroad. The total amount paid for wages in all branches of service was $23,009,689. The preceding year the amount was $20,609,194.

The following is a summary of the company's business for the fiscal year:

Gross receipts from traffic	$46,831,135
Operating expenses	32,793,251
Taxes	1,942,430
Net receipts from traffic	12,095,453
Net receipts from sale of lands	41,053
Income from investments, etc	2,675,495
Excess of income over expenses	14,812,002
Total fixed charges	5,946,075
Net income for year	8,865,927
Surplus dividend fund from 1903	1,178,186

Net receipts from sale of land increased $25,223, or 159.33 per cent. Income from investments and miscellaneous profits decreased $769,822, or 22.34 per cent. Total fixed charges decreased $273,800, or 4.4 per cent. Net income for the fiscal year decreased $1,863,465, or 17.37 per cent.

The amount available after deducting fixed charges decreased $1,817,725, or 15.32 per cent. The sum appropriated from income for betterments decreased $2,301,824, or 47.16 per cent.

The annual meeting will be held here Oct. 19.

Daylight Service to St. Louis.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad tomorrow will inaugurate daylight passenger train service between here and St. Louis in addition to the night service. The new trains will leave Chicago at 9 a. m., reaching St. Louis at 6 p. m., and leave St. Louis at 9:30 a. m., arriving here at 6:30 p. m. A feature of the equipment of the new trains will be a club compartment car. One-half of it will be furnished with reclining chairs and the other half will be divided into ten compartments. Each compartment will accommodate four passengers, who may have a table between them. In these compartments refreshments will be served from a café car.

Electric Car on the Burlington.

Officials of the Burlington system made a trial trip between here and Aurora in a new car designed for suburban service and branch lines. The motive power is electricity generated by a gasoline engine. The car attained a speed of thirty miles an hour, but the vibration of the machinery was excessive. However, the officials believe changes can be made which will make the car comfortable for passengers.

CHANGE IN NEW FRISCO LINE.

Union of Evansville and Terre Haute with Chicago and Eastern Illinois to Vicinity of Danville.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Changes, it is said, are to be made under the Frisco ownership by which the Evansville and Terre Haute and Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad lines are to be operated as one division of the road to a point near Danville. This will result in the abolition of dual officials at Terre Haute and the ousting of the United States and American Express companies for the Wells-Fargo company.

Resigns from Rio Grande.

American Steamer Is Seized.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 23.—The American steamer Alert of Bellingham, and two large scows, one of them loaded with salmon and $1,000 worth of nets, were seized at Oyster creek, Vancouver island, by the Ruth, a dominion government fisheries protection steamer. The authorities allege that the American boat was poaching.

LOAN MADE AT 4 PER CENT

SECURED BY THREE DOWNTOWN PIECES OF PROPERTY.

Thomas N. McCauley of New York Conveys Northwest Corner of Jackson Boulevard and Oakley Avenue—Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Takes Title to the Chicago and Pacific, Which It Already Held Under a Long Lease.

A loan of considerable interest by reason of the amount, low rate of interest, and number of properties given in security has just been closed by Edgar M. Snow & Co. The loan is for $100,000, five years, at 4 per cent, and is secured by 40x109 feet at 243-245 Wabash avenue, with six story building, by the 100x94 feet at 319-327 Fifth avenue, with twelve story building now in process of construction; and by the undivided half of the 55½x66 at 185-187 Van Buren street, improved with eight story buildings.

All the properties are under ninety-nine year leases, the first named to W. W. Kimball & Co., the second to the Paper Mills company, and the third to Mark Richard Kultchar.

Thomas N. McCauley of New York, who a few days ago gave eight trust deeds to the Federal Trust and Savings bank securing loans aggregating $134,000, has for a consideration of $1 conveyed to Emma A. McCauley, also of New York, the property at the northeast corner of Jackson boulevard and Oakley avenue, with 18¾x150 feet of ground.

There was filed for record yesterday a warranty deed from the Chicago and Pacific railway company to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, conveying in fee simple its line of road, which was leased by the St. Paul road in 1880 for 999 years. The road extends westerly from Chicago to the Mississippi river. The deed states that the St. Paul company has acquired all except 311 shares of the capital stock of the grantor road. In further consideration of the $1 named it is stated that the holder of the 311 shares are to receive $5 a share.

PAY TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON.

British Delegates to Interparliamentary Union Lay a Wreath on Tomb at Mount Vernon.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—The delegates to the Interparliamentary union today visited Mount Vernon, and while standing bareheaded around the entrance to the tomb of Washington Philip Stanhope, president of the British parliamentary group, entered the tomb and placed on the sarcophagus containing the remains of Gen. Washington a superb ivy wreath, decorated with cut flowers. A card attached to the wreath bore the following words:

"Placed by the British group of the Interparliamentary union upon the tomb of George Washington, a son of their own race, in respectful admiration of his noble life and illustrious services to his country and to the world."

A representative of the Belgian group followed by depositing a sheaf of wheat wrought in metal on the tomb.

NEWS OF THE INSURANCE WORLD.

EDITED BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Eastern News Telegraphed from New York Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin.

NEWS NOTES FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—In the report prepared by the Canadian Fire Underwriters' association for the Montreal board of trade the following observation is made:

"The efficiency of the fire protection of a city cannot be gauged by the amount expended thereon for one or two years, particularly when the requirements of a growing city like Montreal have to be met, with due consideration to be given to the additional expenditure incurred in any one year in order to remedy the defects arising out of insufficient appropriations and expenditure in previous years. An increase in the number of firemen has been required, and notwithstanding the noted additions to the force the number still falls considerably short of requirements. The number per capita to the population is much less than the average of the cities of the United States while owing to the climatic and other conditions more are required.

"It is not desired to enter upon criticisms as to the personnel of the department, but it is questioned whether the brigade is to be congratulated on the handling of some of the larger fires which occurred during the current year. The station on Youville square when completed, equipped, and occupied will supply a long needed improvement. The proposed erection of a small station in the vicinity of Mill street, if carried out, will remedy to some extent the isolation of this district from the department when both canal bridges are open for the passage of shipping. A new and fully equipped station is much needed to replace the present No. 5 at St. Catherine street, near Bleury.

"The province fire insurance companies are to provide indemnity against damage by or directly resulting from fires in return for premiums based upon past experience in conjunction with the protection afforded, the furnishing of which or payment or cost of which is not a part of their duty; such pertains entirely to assured individually or collectively as represented by the city authorities or the salvage corps, which is a most necessary part of the city's fire protection equipment, and is effective in service and an important factor in determining the rate of insurance.

"It may, however, be remarked that the inference from the mayor's remark that the companies do not contribute towards the maintenance of the salvage corps of this city is incorrect. As apart from the companies paying the usual civic taxes and assessments they contribute in a special taxation some $12,000 per annum, in determination of which special tax it was understood that 50 per cent thereof was for the maintenance of a salvage corps."

The comment on "defective boilers" reviews the incidents that have led up to the purchase of three new ones, and adds with an "if": "The mayor, while attempting to deprecate the report as 'somewhat alarmist' is unable to controvert the facts as stated by the city's responsible expert officials. If new boilers are secured for this winter undoubtedly it will be due to the publication of the superintendent's report."

Long comments are adduced on a proposed new pump and water supply, ending with a comparison between the fire brigades of Montreal and Buffalo. Under the head "Recent Fires" the report includes the following comment:

"While underwriters have, during the last years, repeatedly urged upon the attention of the city council the great importance of improving the city's fire protection and always will be ready to offer their views or the advice of their experts as to the necessary equipment, the solving of the whole question and the responsibility thereof devolves upon the city council, the rightful custodian of the protection of the city."

The report concludes: "Apart from the existing conditions in this city, rendering it unduly possible for companies to be called upon to pay enormous sums in conflagration losses, and justifying the increased rates, the result to business, particularly in the congested district, affords a good and sufficient reason for the same. The computation has been made from the statements of premiums and losses for ten and one-half years ending June 30, 1904, furnished by twenty-one companies. Owing to retirements and changes in the management and agencies, etc., more could not conveniently be obtained, but as these twenty-one companies transact nearly three-fourths of the total business of all the companies in Montreal, the result fairly may be taken as that of the whole. These twenty-one companies have, during the period named, paid out for losses in the congested district $1.22½ for every dollar of premium received, or a total sum nearly $900,000 over the premiums, and this exclusive of the expenses incurred in conducting their business. Applying the same rate to all companies the excess of losses over premium receipts is $1,140,000, or a dead loss of over $100,000 per annum, to which, of course, must be added the annual expenses of the business."

A movement is on foot among the casualty insurance companies to form an organization of national scope on lines similar to the national board of fire underwriters. The proposed association or national board of casualty companies will hold an informal meeting in the offices of the United States Casualty company on Tuesday next, and nearly all the prominent companies have signified their sympathy with the movement. John A. Stone, president of the Maryland Casualty company of Baltimore, is a leading spirit in the movement. The scheme has for its objects the promotion of harmony and the correction of practices and principles of underwriting, the adoption of uniform and correct policy forms and clauses, and the active suppression of fraud casualty claims.

Alfred Rowell, general agent of the Ætna Insurance company of Hartford for New Jersey and its special agent for the metropolitan district and Westchester county, died suddenly yesterday morning at Jefferson, N. H. Prior to going with the Ætna he was with the Imperial. He left one son, who was associated with him in field work for the Ætna.

Pate & Robb are sending to the companies notice of the proposed amalgamation of the American Tobacco company and the Continental Tobacco company, and asking that the necessary indorsement be placed on policies covering property of either company, and binders to be held for all policies in force at the time of or after the merger.

It is understood that Second Vice President Griffin will be made first vice president of the National Surety company to succeed Thomas F. Goodrich, and that Ballard McCall will be made second vice president, succeeding Griffin, and that Samuel Shriver, ex-vice president of the American Bonding company, will be made secretary to succeed McCall.

The situation at Halifax, N. S., is thus reviewed by one of its citizens, who has given the subject careful investigation on the spot:

"One of the first things which we need and which we have needed for years is a first class fireboat as a protection to our enormous water front. This conclusion has been forced upon the people, and the city council should lose no time in making a temporary arrangement with the owners of tugs, awaiting more definite action regarding the construction or purchase of a first class fire boat. The boat could be built here and the engines installed, which latter would be the most costly portion of the boat.

"We need another new steam fire engine. This is becoming an absolute necessity, as of those in use only two are modern, the others having been kept in order by constant patching and having stood the test nearly a quarter of a century.

"Now is the time for the civic authorities to see that the law is strictly observed in the construction of new buildings on sites of those recently destroyed by fire. All wooden buildings in certain districts in which the law permits such to be erected should be sheathed with metal and brick buildings should all have metal cornices.

"The water supply is something which we will have to consider seriously soon, as the manner in which water is wasted in this city is deplorable. If a fire should occur when the lakes are nearly dry and a heavy wind should be blowing, and the location of the fire should be in a district similar to those which recently have been destroyed I am afraid that providence would not be as good to us as it has been in the past.

"We are supposed to have laws regarding the storage of oil, gunpowder, dynamite, and other dangerous and inflammable substances, which law distinctly state that no person shall store articles of this nature except in small quantities in any building in the congested area. Is this law ever observed? Whose duty is it to see that the law is observed?

"Another important thing is that the fire board should see that reserve apparatus always is left in the engine houses to cope with any fire which should occur in another district while a large fire is raging elsewhere.

"The city of Halifax largely is constructed of wood, which makes the danger of fire ever present. It is our duty as citizens to do what we can to prevent such terrible destruction as has occurred elsewhere."

Receiver for Marion Company.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Hugh Dougherty was today appointed temporary receiver of the Marion Brokerage company, composed of A. H. Nordyke, Charles E. Dark, and M. A. Woolen, officers of the American Central Life Insurance company, and which controlled a large interest in the life company. It is agreed that this proceeding shall in no way affect the American Central, but is a personal matter between the three members of the brokerage company.

Crusade on Unauthorized Companies.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Insurance Commissioner Wolf has caused the arrest of Charles M. Oakley and Charles F. Blanden as agents of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Insurance company of New York, which company is not authorized to do business in California. Agents of the International Registry company and the Pennsylvania Life and Accident company likewise have been arrested. These men are charged with misdemeanor.

GLOOM OVER WESTERN UNION.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Frontenac, N. Y., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—The tragic death of H. M. Magill at the banquet of the Western union has cast a gloom over the association and what would otherwise have been the most satisfactory meeting of that organization ever held. Mr. Magill's body was accompanied to Cincinnati today by J. M. De Camp, George M. Lovejoy, and J. W. G. Cofran.

Mr. Magill, in responding to the toast, "The Union, Our Predecessors," had arranged in rhyme an eight line stanza in tribute to each ex-president. He had made his reference to Charles H. Case, and then spoke the following lines, when he referred to himself:

"Another name might here be given,
Of one who filled the chair,
Not now upon the active list,
But out in the open air,
A champion of the union,
Its welfare glad to serve,
He wishes all assembled here
The pleasure they deserve."

As applause was being given to this sentiment the speaker fell forward on the table, and it is supposed life left his body at once.

Just six months ago to the exact hour Judge Cary died under similar circumstances at the St. Louis exposition banquet to insurance men. In each case the speaker sat to the right of the toastmaster. At St. Louis I. S. Blackwelder spoke just previous to Judge Cary. At last night's banquet Mr. Blackwelder had been followed by Mr. Magill. Other coincidences are so striking as to elicit much comment. Union members are agreed that no more banquets will be given by their body.

Mr. Magill had memorized his verses. The strain in recalling them was too taxing, and the excitement of the day had been a drain on his resources. Most of the members left today either for Chicago or the east.

CONVENTION OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

Large Attendance Booked for Annual Meeting of Association of Local Fire Agents at St. Louis.

Secretary Frank F. Holmes of the National Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents has received advices from St. Louis that the annual convention gives promise of being largely attended from all parts of the United States. This conclusion is reached from the inquiries about quarters. The program committee practically has finished its work and probably will give out the program next week. It is understood that several fine speakers have been secured. The decision to hold only morning sessions has created considerable interest, being a decided innovation. Heretofore two or even three sessions a day have been held.

The one subject of absorbing interest among the fire underwriters in Chicago yesterday was the tragic death of H. M. Magill at the banquet of the Union at Frontenac Thursday night. "Gen." Magill, as he quite commonly was known, having been in the business in Cincinnati for forty-seven years previous to his retirement in 1901, during more than forty of which he was general agent of the Phœnix of Hartford for the south and west, had an extended acquaintance among fire insurance men in Chicago. For some years he was a prominent figure in the Western union and his presence made itself felt. He was a man of strong will, a strict disciplinarian in his department, diplomatic in his dealings with agents, and a famous letter writer, his ability in this line being given no mean amount of credit for his success. He is generally spoken of as a unique figure in western fire underwriting.

Louis Windmueller of New York, a director of the German-American Insurance company, and F. M. Griswold, general inspector of the Home of New York, were in the city yesterday.

Whitlock, Cummings, & Co. have been appointed managers of the burglary department of the General Accident of Scotland for the state of Illinois.

The Missouri Fire Prevention association at its meeting in Kansas City elected the following officers: President, A. A. Maloney, Continental; vice president, C. H. Anderson, Northern; secretary, Edwin Fulton, Springfield; executive committee, J. D. Fleming, Connecticut; D. C. Zercher, New Hampshire; Madison Nelson, Concordia; H. D. Minty, Queen.

C. D. Rushmore has been appointed assistant to Special Agent Atkinson of the Connecticut Fire of Kansas, Indian Territory, and Oklahoma. He will make his headquarters at Cherryvale, Kas.

The pink slip which has been in effect at Paducah, Ky., for some months has been removed.

Joseph M. Rogers, inspector of the Kentucky and Tennessee board at Frankfort, Ky., has been promoted to the position of rating commissioner. Frank M. Drake of Chattanooga succeeds him at Frankfort.

The Northern of New York has applied for admission to Missouri in order to do reinsurance business in the state.

The American Bonding company of Baltimore has decided to go into the burglary insurance business. Gerald Hart, formerly with the New Amsterdam Casualty and later with the National Surety, has been appointed general manager of the burglary department.

The following changes in the executive staff of the National Surety have been made, owing to the resignation of Vice President Goodrich: Second Vice President W. J. Griffith becomes vice president and general counsel; Secretary Ballard McCall, second vice president; Samuel H. Shriver, late vice president of the American Bonding, secretary.

EARNINGS SHOW DECREASE

AUGUST FIGURES OF BALTIMORE AND OHIO RAILROAD.

Soo Line Annual Also Shows Loss in Gross—Bank Statement Forecast Indicates Further Falling Off in Cash—Ontario and Western Controversy Likely to Be Settled—Sidney C. Love Says Big Interests in Wall Street Are Favorable to Stock Market.

Baltimore and Ohio figures for August show small decreases in the three principal items. The gross decreased 2 per cent and net the same. Operating expenses were within a fraction of the corresponding month last year. The statement would indicate a simple falling off in gross earnings. Since July 1 the road shows a decrease of 6 per cent in gross and 10.7 in net.

The preliminary statement of earnings of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie for its fiscal year shows a moderate decrease in gross and between 8 and 9 per cent in net. Operating expenses differed a little from the previous year. The decrease in surplus for the year was 22.3 per cent.

Bank Statement Forecast.

Known movements of money for the week indicate a loss in cash by the New York banks of $4,065,200. Of this amount $1,853,200 was lost to the interior and $2,212,000 to the subtreasury. The interior drain is, apparently relatively light. Exchange on New York at Chicago has been at a discount, but the movement outward from New York has been small.

To Settle Ontario and Western Dispute.

It is asserted in New York that the controversy which arose between different factions of the New York, Ontario and Western stockholders is in a fair way to be settled. This, it is said, will be accomplished through the dissolution of the voting trust.

The directors have decided to declare a dividend on the common stock, which will terminate the trust. It is understood this will be one of the provisions contained in the financial plan that will be submitted to stockholders for approval next Wednesday. A further provision will be made for raising several million dollars.

Bullish View of Market.

Sidney C. Love returned yesterday from New York. Speaking of Wall street conditions, he said among other things:

"The big people, including the Standard Oil interests, are favorable to the market. The public has not yet become a large buyer, and in consequence the market position is stable. There has been but a moderate expansion in loans, the buying of securities having been by large interests. Many stocks have been taken out of the market by the corporations. Railroad companies, in order to strengthen their relation with competitors and for other reasons, have been buyers of stocks.

"The buying of United States Steel has been by rich people. The theory is that the low prices of the shares discounted the dull business of this year. As money continues to remain easy, the belief is that banks, trust companies, and other financial institutions will be forced by the money situation to invest in railroad and other bonds. With the proceeds of these bonds the railroads will begin buying rails and equipment. It is in anticipation of this outcome that rich people have taken on Steel shares."

Alfred L. Baker & Co. predict higher prices the coming week.

St. Paul Stock Rumor.

It was again rumored in New York yesterday that the St. Paul would issue $25,000,000 new stock.

Chicago Stocks.

American Can common was again actively traded in, the price advancing on the local exchange to 6. The buying was largely credited to Tracy & Co. The sellers were those who had been the largest buyers the previous day.

It is believed that some of the large orders in the stock have been for the account of important interests in the United States Steel corporation, who believe in the present Can management. While there has been probably the usual amount of manipulation, accompanying the rise in any security, there has also been the actual accumulation of the shares by those who took the stock out of the market. The important buying is based on the earnings and character of the management.

City Railway sold at 184, the lowest price since the advance was started in the stock on New York gossip.

WEATHER HURTS FRUIT MARKET

Buyers Do Not Take Hold Because It Is Too Cool—Peaches Are Plentiful.

Cool weather has lessened the demand for fruits and dealers yesterday complained of a slow trade, particularly in peaches. Offerings of this fruit are now of splendid quality. Grapes are coming in more freely and the quality is better.

MILLERS AFTER THE CASH WHEAT

Better Demand Here, with Sales About a Quarter of a Million Bushels.

FUTURES ON THE JUMP.

Prices Up Two to Three Cents; Sales of Corn Are Heavy.

Wheat prices covered a wide range yesterday and closed on the up grade, practically at the top, with net advances of 2¼@3⅜c after declines of 1c in the May and a small fraction in the December had been scored earlier in the session. The December showed the best gain in this market and in others, the spread between December and May narrowing to ⅝@⅜c, against 1⅜c on Thursday. At the close May was at $1.14½ and December at $1.13⅝-¼, the former 2⅛@2½c up, the latter 3¼@3⅝c up. September gained 3¼c, closing at $1.11.

Cash strength and improved milling demand for wheat here and elsewhere, an advance of 3⅝c in December wheat at St. Louis, and scattered rains in the northwest, suggesting delay to movement, were the chief buying incentives early in the session. December shorts became nervous over this and reports of buying by Waterman, the Albany miller, and forced prices up at a pace which the May was slow to follow. After the December had advanced to $1.11⅞ and the May to $1.12⅞ weakness in corn and renewed claims from the northwest of increasing country offerings discouraged early buyers, and declines of 1⅝@1⅜c from top resulted.

At this point the Broomhall cable that the French duty on wheat might be reduced was added to earlier reports that France was still buying cargoes of wheat at the Pacific coast. Most of the local longs were out of wheat, there had been a good deal of short selling on the decline, and this news started a general rush to cover. When the May broke through $1.13 and December through $1.12 stop loss buying orders were reached in goodly number, and the advance was more rapid the higher the price got.

Cash Markets Strong.

Cash demand, both in the northwest and southwest, was reported good, and prices at Duluth showed a gain of 3¼c and at Minneapolis of 2¼c. St. Louis was 3½c higher and Kansas City 1c higher for the milling grades. In the local market prices were higher and a good milling demand was reported, with sales about 250,000 bu, but prices lagged a little behind the futures, especially for the low grades. There were claims that the southwest movement would show a sharp decrease in the near future, but receipts there still are larger than last year—299,000 bu at the two points, against 200,000 bu last year.

At Minneapolis there was a decrease of 75,000 bu public stocks, in spite of the larger receipts this week, but Duluth stocks increased 900,000 bu, which lent plausibility to the theory advanced by bulls that there is considerable duplication in the northwest receipts, Minneapolis shipping to Duluth, where cash prices are 2¼c higher. Northwest receipts were 911 cars, against 572 last year, and the total at primary points, 1,244,000 bu, against 951,000 bu last year. There were clearances of 123,000 bu and 40,000 bu sold for export. Weekly clearances were 864,000 bu. Cables showed some response to our advance.

The best early buying was by Love and Ware-Leland of May, while Pringle, Wells, McDougal, and commission houses took the December. On the last upturn Kneeland was a heavy buyer of May and Dagget of December. On the early advance Wrenn sold December and Spencer, Comstock, and Champlin May. Valentine sold December and bought May at 1c difference, Harris-Scotten doing the opposite.

Big Shipping Sales of Corn.

Warmer temperatures in the corn belt and favorable reports from the country as to the condition of the crop induced liberal selling by tired longs and renewed pressure from local bears. May sold off ⅞c to 1c and December ⅜c, and held around bottom prices most of the session, but the final strength in wheat and liberal shipping sales on the decline caused a recovery of early losses, and ⅛c to ⅜c more. May closing at 49⅛@49¼c and December at 50⅛@50⅜c. Prices in the sample market were 1c to 1½c lower, and shipping demand on the decline was the best for months. Sales over 500,000 bu. Receipts were 277 cars and 204 are estimated for today. Primary receipts were 644,000 bu, compared with 794,000 bu last year.

The seaboard cleared only 5,000 bu, but there were sales of 256,000 bu for export. Liverpool closed ⅛d to ¼d lower. Bradstreet's reported weekly clearances at 657,000 bu. The fore part of the session there was free selling of May by Howe, Brosseau, Cudahy, and by Logan, Bartlett-Frazier, Knight-Donnelley, and other commission houses, the main support from shorts, and Pringle. Later there was covering by pit shorts and good buying by Kneeland and Wrenn, the latter taking December.

Oats Holders Discouraged.

Oats declined faster than corn and failed to show much rallying power when other markets turned strong. There was the same moderate selling by cash houses early, and when the May price got under 33¼c there was a good deal of discouraged liquidation and stop loss selling. The cash market was 1c to 1½c lower, with shipping sales of 100,000 bu. Receipts were 164 cars, and 139 are estimated for today. The seaboard cleared 29,000 bu. The selling was led by Kidston, supposedly for Howe; by Spencer-Denniston, Walter Comstock, and Peavey.

Provisions opened strong on buying of October stuff by packers and shippers. These demands were soon filled up, however, and the market sagged with corn, but trade picked up toward the close, and final prices were steady to a shade higher. Most of the outside trade was on the selling side. English packers sold January lard, and there was considerable local selling of January ribs. Cash sales of ribs were heavy. Receipts of hogs were 13,000, and prices at the yards 5c higher. Western receipts were 38,900, against 42,900 last year.

Timothy Seed Lower.

Timothy seed was in large supply and easy. Cash lots sold at $2.00@2.75. September sold at $2.75. October at $2.75 in exchange for March at $2.95.

Clover firmer. October, $11.85; country lots, $9.00@11.75.

Flaxseed was unchanged. No. 1 northwestern salable at $1.15½. September held at $1.09. December at $1.11. Local receipts 3 cars. Minneapolis had 80 cars. Duluth 30 cars.

Rye was firm. Demand fair. September sold at 74½c, December at 76c, and May at 78½c. Cash No. 2 sold f. o. b. at 77c.

Barley was dull and heavy, buyers holding off. Screenings quotable at 31@38c. Malting quotable at 38@40c for low grade up to 50@52c for fancy.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

There was an active demand for both wheat and corn yesterday, sales of wheat to millers about 250,000 bu in scattered lots, and of corn over 500,000 bu. Sales of oats were 100,000 bu white clipped. Choice milling wheat in the sample market fell a little short of following the advance in futures and low grades were relatively about 1c lower, compared with the options. The sales to millers were mostly of hard winter wheat, with a few small lots of spring wheat and a lot of 25,000 bu No. 2 red. The corn sales included 400,000 bu No. 3 and over 100,000 bu No. 3 yellow. At St. Louis cash was up 3⅝c, No. 3 red selling at $1.16, and $1.20 asked for No. 2 red. Kansas City was up 1c on milling grades, No. 2 hard selling from $1.02@1.05½. Minneapolis reported mills buying spot and to arrive, with prices up 2¼c, and Duluth gained 3¼c. Baltimore reported sales of 40,000 bu to go to country millers, and St. Louis flour sales of 4,000 bbls to Pittsburg.

A Minneapolis message to Pringle-Fitch-Rankin claimed that 200,000 bu No. 1 northern was being loaded out for Duluth and that 500,000 bu more would go there as soon as delivered. This, with the fact that Duluth cash prices have gone up faster than at Minneapolis, the price being $1.19 at Duluth, against $1.16⅞ at Minneapolis, and the fact that Duluth stocks increased 900,000 bu, compared with a decrease of 75,000 bu at Minneapolis, served as a basis for claims by local bulls that the northwest receipts show some duplication, wheat being first shipped to Minneapolis and then to Duluth.

C. H. Thornton says in the Duluth Commercial-Record: "The three northwestern states have raised 150,000,000 bu of wheat, a shortage of 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 bu, compared with the crop of 1903 in milling value. Exhaustive mill tests have demonstrated that 5 to 5¼ bu of the average mixture are required to make a barrel of flour, making the milling value short of any like quantity ever raised in this country." Using the estimate of this authority of the distribution of wheat in the northwest in 1903, 178,000,000 bu, the crop this year is 22,000,000 bu less and the quality equals only 143,000,000 to 145,000,000 bu of milling value, or about the requirements of millers.

Toledo receivers followed the lead of Chicago receivers in declaring their independence of grain dealers' associations. The directors of the Toledo produce exchange indorsed the following resolution: "That members hereafter refrain from trading with or recognizing 'scoop shovelers,' and it is the sense of this board that when any grain dealer has an elevator equipped for the proper handling of grain that he be recognized as a legitimate dealer, whether belonging to an association or not."

John Inglis writes from Vincennes, Ind.: "Vincennes, 150 miles southeast from Springfield, with the exception of a few short stretches of good corn, condition is the worst I have seen since leaving Kansas. The great majority of the fields will run from nothing to 15 bu. Along the Wabash bottoms here it will run from 10 to 30, where formerly they made 40 to 75. Much of it is green. Some will take from two weeks to a month."

The following cable from Broomhall, circulated near the close, was a factor in the final wheat advance: "The probability of a reduction of the French import duty on wheat is mentioned. This now amounts to about 26c per bu. The near positions in the Paris market are worth $1.26 per bu and the distant $1.32. These prices admit of imports of Indian wheat paying the full or present duty."

Strength in December wheat was a feature of all markets, although less noticeable in the northwest. Here it was partly explained by claims that Waterman, the Albany miller who usually buys wheat, holds it, and takes it on delivery, was a buyer of December here and in New York. December at St. Louis showed the greatest strength, up 3⅝c, but no theories were offered to account for it.

A local house had a Minneapolis wire claiming they would get 1,000 cars a day if cars could be secured and that country shippers are asking Minneapolis houses to assist them in securing cars, one country shipper wanting thirty cars at one station.

. heavy cash trade in short ribs was reported, a continuation of buying by Armour, which has been going on for several days. That interest bought 1,000,000 lbs ribs yesterday, making purchases of about 3,500,000 lbs this week.

Bartlett-Frazierr had a report from a farm at Covington, N. D., where two weeks ago they were talking of a six to eight bushel yield per acre, saying it was turning cut thirteen bushels an acre.

The New York produce exchange Argentine cable said advices are generally of a favorable tenor, except that locusts are reported in portions of Santa Fé.

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 119 cars; corn, 204 cars; oats, 139 cars; rye, 5 cars; barley, 128 cars; hogs, 10,000.

There were charters for 80,000 bu wheat and 250,000 bu corn to Buffalo. The wheat rate was 1⅜c and corn 1¼c.

Deliveries on September contracts were 20,000 bu wheat, 10,000 bu corn, 40,000 bu oats, and 500 tierces lard.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The cotton goods end of the dry goods market has shown a decidedly stronger tone, with a fair demand for goods for immediate delivery. SALES OF NEW YORK STOCKS LESS THAN 500,000 SHARES.

Last Week's Average Was More than 1,000,000 Shares Daily—Pacifics Are Prominent Feature of Listless Market and Absence of Rumors Regarding Them Incited Some Confidence—Cotton Carriers Advance in Spite of Crop News That Caused Strength.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Sept. 23.—[Special.]—Transactions on the stock market today fell below half a million shares. Last week's daily average was over a million shares. The sentiment was listless and the market drifted.

The Pacifics continued the most prominent features in the market. The circulation of rumors regarding them, which has been incessant through the week, was not in evidence today. Perhaps for that reason the strength of Union Pacific seemed to impart some strength to others in its group by sympathy. The day's news was favorable to corn, but cotton was strong.

But the strength of cotton did not prevent a number of the cotton carriers from making conspicuous advances, notably Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic coast line.

The eastern railroads were not conspicuous, but they overcame the early slight depression which affected them and which was partly due to selling attributed to London account.

The currency movement shows a decrease of over $4,000,000 in cash up to Thursday night. There is some probability of a contraction in the loan item, as it is said that the trust companies have been placing loans during the week.

The lack of pressure on the market during the day prompted a brisk bidding up of stocks late in the day to the best prices. The closing was steady near the top. The bond market was firm. Total sales, par value, $3,335,000. United States 2s, the 3s, and the old 4s advanced ¼ per cent.

Money on call firm; highest, 2; lowest, 1¾; ruling rate, 2; last loan, 2; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 2. Time loans steady; 60 days, 3@3¼ per cent; 90 days, 3¼@3½; six months, 3¾@4. IN THE FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Supplies of money were ample in the market today and the demand was small. Discounts steady. Prices on the stock exchange generally were depressed. They closed with an improvement. Consols sagged despite the good position of the Bank of England. Americans opened dull and rallied slightly, but the tendency was undecided, though there was some hardening. Ontario and Western was the feature. At the close trading was rather dull. Foreigners declined on account of lack of Paris support. Japanese suffered from the effects of the check of the turning movement in the far east; imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96¼.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Prices on the boerse had a downward tendency today.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Business on the bourse today opened dull, but subsequently became better. The market closed firm. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 93.40 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 501.

The following table shows London's closing prices of yesterday and Thursday, with their New York equivalents, compared with Thursday's New York closings:

Not clock watchers, eye servants, loafers, incompetents. Nor yet those with exaggerated opinion of their own worth. But those of ambition, determination, willingness to work for success. For such—and they are the truly high class men—we have the best places in Chicago.

There's a reason for this. It's because our system appeals to the best class of men—both employers and employes. It is "different from employment agencies."

We want to tell you wherein it is different, today. Our office is open till six o'clock.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

CLEARANCE OF ALL SPECIAL PIANOS IN LYON & HEALY'S.
Opportunity to buy a Steinway, Weber, or other well known piano at very small cost.
Here and there in our stock are pianos that are not quite of the latest model, or that have had some slight use, or that have been taken in exchange. All these instruments have been placed one side and marked for immediate sale, as we wish to avoid carrying even one of them over into the holiday stock.
Piano seekers would do well to examine these pianos before purchasing an instrument at ordinary valuations. We enumerate a few only.
Steinway small upright, ebonized case, good as new; Steinway Baby Grand, shows hardly any trace of use; Steinway medium size upright, mahogany case, rented short time; Steinway, same as above, in ebony case; Steinway cabinet grand upright, ebony case, in excellent condition; Steinway small upright, in fine playing order; Weber upright, medium size, walnut; Weber cabinet grand, walnut case; Weber Baby Grand, mahogany case, latest pattern; Knabe cabinet grand, mahogany case, used for concert purposes only; Knabe parlor grand, very dainty.
Also a number of Fischer upright and Hazelton uprights at a discount of $50 from former prices.
Very attractive bargains in a carload of latest model uprights from a good maker, bought recently at an extra discount. They are of intrinsically good musical value and will be closed out at $185.
Magnificent new Steinway Vertegrand uprights, $500.
A special lot of new uprights, all woods, greatest value in Chicago, at $145.
Also a room full of new and second hand uprights, your choice at $195, either cash or long time payments. Many of these pianos have been held at $300. Several leading makes are included. A number of very fine pianos from a musical standpoint will be found in the collection. The extreme dullness of the past Summer makes it peremptory upon us to reduce this stock at once.
Pianolas, slightly used, $150. A new special upright and one of these special pianolas, both together, $275.
Visitors are always cordially welcome to our salesrooms. From 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. groups of piano customers will always be found upon our piano floors, but we have such ample facilities and such a large corps of salesmen that we can sell twenty different instruments simultaneously without the least delay.
EASY PAYMENTS—Pianos may be secured by a small first payment. On low priced pianos we are prepared to accept a cash payment of $10, and monthly payments thereafter of $5. No advance in price when easy terms are desired. Pianos of all descriptions included in this offer.
Buyers at a distance should write for special bargain list and also our schedule of freight rates on pianos.
We ship pianos everywhere.
EXCHANGE CERTIFICATES—With every inexpensive piano we include free a certificate which gives the owner the privilege of exchanging said instrument as part pay toward any new piano of higher cost in our stock.
A HANDSOME PIANO BOOK FREE.

AMERICA MUST FEED EUROPE.

Consul General Mason at Berlin Reports Shortage of Grain, Dairy Products, and Fruits.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—According to Consul General Mason at Berlin, the United States will have to help feed central Europe during the coming autumn and winter on account of the drought in Russia, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, and France.

The consul general states that since Aug. 15 a careful official inquiry as to the grain crops has been made, and it shows there was a falling off from the yield of last year in spring wheat, winter rye, spring rye, barley, and oats. Winter wheat furnished the only exception among these six leading cereals.

Mr. Mason says that the effects of the drought on pastures, meadows, and root crops of all kinds, both for forage and for human food, is still more serious.

"All this has reacted disastrously on the dairying industry," says the consul general, "and milk, cheese, and butter are reduced in quantity and advanced in price."

The consul general predicts an increased demand not only for corn, wheat, and rye from the United States, but for fresh and preserved fruits, dried and salted fish, and such meats as the present inspection law of Germany permits to be imported.

125,000 Tons of Coal on Fire.

Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 23.—[Special.]—One hundred and twenty-five thousand tons of coal on the Pittsburg Coal company's dock here is on fire and the crews so far have been unable to check the flames. There is no insurance.

MORE ACTIVITY IN TRADE.

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENTS OF THE WEEK ARE ENCOURAGING.

Wholesale and Retail Dealings for Fall and Winter Continue Satisfactory—Big Market for Cereals—Manufacturing Difficulties Caused by Labor Troubles Are Disappearing—Breadstuffs Exhibit Firmer Tone—Grain Shipments Show Big Increase.

The weekly review of trade in the Chicago district published by R. G. Dun & Co., the mercantile agency, is as follows:

Business developments have been of an encouraging nature. A few industries are yet in a waiting attitude, but aside from these there appears more distinct activity in manufacturing and distribution. Wholesale dealings reached a satisfactory aggregate in fall and winter merchandise, retail sales reflect improved consumption, and there is enlarging demand at better prices for furnace product. Marketing of cereals aggregates unusually high and indicates the extent to which growers are securing the benefit of prevailing profitable returns. Other classes of freight, especially general merchandise, show an advanced movement and railroad tonnage includes a wider variety of commodities.

Interior Buying Well Sustained.

Current buying for interior requirements is well sustained in the staples. Orders obtained come from many different sections throughout the west and southwest, and the gulf trade exhibits gain. Cancellations have formed a slight percentage as compared with a year ago. Dry goods, headwear, woolens, and footwear were freely taken, and clothing, men's furnishings, and cotton goods experienced a strengthened demand, bookings making a normal gain over a year ago. Conditions show steadiness in groceries, drugs, and paints. The jobbing interests maintained firm price lists, and mercantile collections generally showed well, failures being fewer in number.

Labor Troubles Disappearing.

Hindrances in factory work due to labor disputes are gradually disappearing and more production is accomplished, employers readily finding hands when necessary to further operations. New business of fair volume is seen in machinery, electric supplies and furniture, and output in these branches soon will be increased. The demand continued of good volume for heavy and light hardware and wire product.

Other metal lines report more inquiry from large consumers and the pig iron market has assumed decided improvement, much new business being placed for deferred delivery. Increased new building adds to need for all kinds of structural material. Lumber receipts have not maintained the recovery recently noted, and available supplies bring good prices, notwithstanding hardwoods are in lessened use among manufacturers.

Breadstuffs in Good Demand.

Breadstuffs exhibit a more assuring tone and market operations denote stronger domestic demand, particularly for wheat and flour. Production of the latter is less curtailed, millers being influenced by low stocks on hand and reviving export inquiry. Grain shipments, 5,206,690 bu, are 10.1 per cent over those a year ago and thus far the heaviest this year. Compared with the closings last week wheat advanced ⅝c per bu, but oats declined 1¼c and corn ¼c.

Provisions acted under return to ordinary conditions and on firm buying values gained, in pork, 57½c per brl; in ribs, 47½c; and in lard, 22½c. Live stock receipts, 298,918 head, ran slightly over those a year ago. The market ruled favorable to shippers, and values gained, in sheep, 30c a hundredweight; in hogs, 15c; and in choice beeves, 10c.

Slight Increase in Bank Clearings.

Bank clearings, $171,758,255, are .3 per cent over those for same week last year. Merchants borrowed moderately, but other needs increased the supply of commercial paper and money became firmer at 5 per cent for choice names.

Shipments of currency to move crops made further inroad upon deposits, and this business probably will increase as corn advances toward maturity. Local issues of bonds found ready absorption, and sales of local securities exceeded the volume a year ago, but on realizing sales the ten active stocks averaged a decline of 30 cents per share.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 24, against 25 last week and 30 a year ago.

TRADE EXPANSION STEADY.

Weekly Reviews of Dun and Bradstreet Show General Improvement in Nearly All Lines of Business.

New York, Sept. 23.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: Trade expands steadily as confidence increases with the harvesting of the crops, and mercantile collections are less tardily met. Lower temperature stimulates the demand for fall and winter wearing apparel, and there is more disposition to prepare for the future rather than to confine operations within the limit of immediate requirements. This improvement is extending to all departments of manufacture, and in the aggregate there is less idle machinery than at any recent date.

Railway earnings for September were 5.7 per cent larger than a year ago, and foreign commerce at this port for the last week shows a gain of $2,945,687 in exports, as compared with 1903, although imports decreased $713,670.

Moderate gains continue to be made by the textile industries, particularly as to woolens and worsteds. Staple lines are quoted higher, and prompt deliveries are urged by purchasers.

Firmness continues in packer hides, independent tanners making liberal purchases. Large sales of branded and Colorado hides are recorded, and there is the usual concession on hides taken off during the strike by inexperienced men.

Boot and shoe jobbers are seeking to place supplementary orders for fall shoes, stipulating quick delivery, which indicates that their holdings are small.

Failures this week aggregated 225 in the United States, against 232 last year, and 30 in Canada, compared with 19 a year ago.

As Viewed by Bradstreet.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Cool weather, while retarding or injuring some late crops, has been stimulating to fall trade, both wholesale and retail, which shows an apparent increase in volume over a year ago. The improvement is most marked in dry goods, clothing, groceries, shoes, and hardware. Distributive trade is better in the northwest, portions of the east, and generally throughout the south.

Among the industries some improvement is to be noted in the cruder forms of iron; buying of pig iron is better, particularly in portions of the west, but finished products fail to respond liberally to recent price reductions. Some eastern industries, notably the manufacture of jewelry, shoes, silverware, and machine tools, report improvement, but the cotton goods industry still pursues a halting course, price uncertainties breeding conservatism.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending Sept. 22 aggregate 864,373 bushels, against 985,834 last week and 3,050,430 this week last year.

Corn exports for the week aggregate 657,-399 bushels, against 429,158 last week and 779,239 a year ago.

Bank Clearings of the Week.

The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal citites for the week ended Sept. 22, with the percentage of increase as compared with the corresponding week last year:

BAPTIST OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Chicago Association Ends Conference at Austin, While German Branch Continues Sessions Here.

The Chicago Baptist association yesterday concluded its fifty-eighth annual session at the First Baptist church, Austin. Committee reports and addresses were heard in the morning. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

Moderator—E. S. Osgood.
Vice moderator—A. E. Wells.
Clerk—A. H. Nelson.
Treasurer—H. B. Osgood.

Memorial services for the late Rev. Dr. George C. Lorimer were held. The Rev. Chow Leung, Chinese pastor of the Central Baptist church mission, told of work among members of his race. The meeting adjourned after electing the Rev. Dr. C. E. Lapp of Austin to deliver the annual sermon at the next session, which will be held at Wheaton, Ill.

The second day's session of the fourteenth general conference of the German Baptists of North America was held yesterday in the First German Baptist church, Superior and Paulina streets. The Rev. G. Fetzer was reelected editor for a term of three years of the official paper. Karl F. Bickel of Cassel, Germany, was elected business manager of the publication society at Cleveland. Daily sessions of the conference will continue until Tuesday.

SMALLPOX INCREASE EXPECTED

Health Officials Urge Added Precautions Against Danger Threatened by Coming Cold Weather.

An increase in the number of smallpox cases is expected by the health department with the coming of cold weather. It is declared by Chief Medical Inspector Spalding that parents and physicians are neglecting children in the matter of vaccination. The type of disease has become more virulent in the last two weeks. In that time the number of deaths from varioloid was equal to that for the previous eight months. Babies, Dr. Spalding says, should be vaccinated when they are 6 months old or younger. There have been ninety-eight babies in the isolation hospital in the last year, not one of whom was vaccinated.

GIVES UP THIRD RAIL SYSTEM.

New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Decides to Abandon Electric Lines.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 23.—The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is dismantling its third rail electric line between Nantasket Junction and Braintree. The electrical equipment and operation of its suburban lines will not be undertaken until the invention of new appliances or the perfection of those now existing makes such a step more feasible. This dashes the hopes of tens of thousands of Boston's suburbanites who have been expecting electric transit.

SUES FOR STOLEN CASH.

BANK SEEKS TO RECOVER EMBEZZLED FUNDS.

Dundee, Ill., Institution Brings Unique Action Against W. W. Tracy & Co., Brokerage Firm, for Restitution of $41,400 Said to Have Been Misappropriated and Lost in Speculation by Francis B. Wright, Former Cashier, Now in Penitentiary.

A suit to recover $41,400 from the brokerage firm of W. W. Tracy & Co., said to have been lost by Francis B. Wright, now a prisoner at Joliet, formerly cashier of the Dundee (Ill.) National bank, was filed yesterday afternoon. It is alleged in the bill that the brokers could have known "by the exercise of common prudence" that E. Linn, the name used by Wright in all his transactions with the firm, was the bank's cashier.

The bank is back of the legal action. It was stated that Delos Dunton, president of the Dundee bank, would soon start a suit to recover $124,200 from the Tracy firm, basing the action on a provision of the criminal law which entitles any one to sue for three times the amount lost in a gambling transaction.

Serious Charges Against Firm.

The bill which has been filed states that during 1902 and 1903 Tracy & Co. were engaged in dealing in stocks and bonds on margins, with the purpose and intention of settling upon the differences in the market price of the commodities.

A long list of the stock transactions said to have been carried on by Wright or Linn with Tracy & Co. follows, and the bill ends by charging that "Tracy & Co. knew, or by the exercise of ordinary prudence could have ascertained, the money used by Wright was the money of the bank of which he was cashier," and that "Tracy & Co. induced Wright to engage in the transactions and dealings which caused him to sustain the losses for which he paid with the moneys he embezzled from the First National bank of Dundee."

W. W. Tracy, who is the president of the Lincoln park board of commissioners, left New York yesterday for Chicago. Adams W. Goodrich, representing the Chicago banking house, said that it was impossible for his clients to have known E. Linn was not the man he represented himself to be. The contemplated action of Mr. Dunton, he said, would hardly be brought.

Seeks Payment of Big Loan.

CHEMISTS SEE CHICAGO SIGHTS.

Party of 200 Europeans Arrives from St. Louis and Is Taken About the City.

Two hundred chemists of Europe, members of the Society of Chemical Industry of Great Britain, arrived in Chicago yesterday from St. Louis. The party, which includes twenty-five women, was driven to the Auditorium Annex upon its arrival here, where the reception committee was waiting. Guides then conducted the visitors through the various industries of the city. One group left at noon to visit the Illinois Steel company and the cement works. At 1 o'clock a third group went to visit the First National bank and the Illinois Trust and Savings bank.

After visiting the banks the last party went to the board of trade, and from there to the stockyards, where luncheon was served at Swift & Co.'s restaurant.

Today other manufacturing plants will be visited and tomorrow an excursion to Milwaukee is planned. A reception and banquet will take place at the Auditorium hotel this evening.

JAIL HOSPITAL ILLEGAL FOR PRISONERS OF POLICE.

Judge Tuthill Rules That None Can Be Held in It Without a Regular Mittimus and Releases a Woman Prisoner.

The placing of wounded prisoners in the county jail hospital without any mittimus or other proper authorization was declared illegal by Judge Tuthill yesterday. The court released Mrs. Josephine Johnson on habeas corpus proceedings.

Mrs. Johnson was arrested recently in a State street store charged with taking goods from a counter. Overcome with mortification, she leaped through an open window to the street and was painfully but not dangerously injured. She was taken to the jail hospital, as has been the custom in all such cases.

Judge Tuthill, in deciding the case, ruled that all prisoners in the custody of the police, whose cases have not reached the jurisdiction of the Criminal court, must be cared for at the county hospital when in need of treatment. He decided that the county jail is designated by law for certain purposes, and that nobody can be held in that institution without due process of law.

For years the jail hospital has been almost indispensable to the police department. Its value has been recognized by the city officials and for eight years the city has paid Dr. Emil Broecken, who has had charge of the hospital. Dr. Broecken was also sworn in as a policeman, and in that capacity was responsible for the patients in his charge. The legality of taking prisoners to the jail hospital has never before been questioned.

REFUSE TO REDUCE RATES TO ST. LOUIS ON CHICAGO DAY

Railway Officials Tell Committee They Will Have All the Business They Can Handle Without Making Cut.

The Chicago day committee's appeal for especially low rates to St. Louis for the day has been made in vain to the executive officers of the Chicago-St. Louis lines. They unanimously declared that with the assurance of having all the passengers they could handle comfortably it would be simply throwing away money to make a further reduction in rates. As a result the rates adopted by the passenger officials will be maintained—$6 for the round trip for passengers traveling in day coaches and $8 for persons using sleeping or chair cars, on trains leaving here Oct. 6 and Oct. 7.

As Oct. 8 is registration day the committee has arranged for the registration of all Chicago voters on that day at the exposition in order to remind them to register again at home on Oct. 18. The latter registration is the only one that counts.

Notices were sent out during the day to all the clubs that had not previously displayed an interest in Chicago day.
